

LIEUT. RILEY STRESSES NEED FOR AN ARMORY

The need of an armory in Klamath Falls is stressed in a letter received by Captain Walter Abbey of Battery D, 24th Coast Artillery, from Thomas E. Riley, Lieut. Col. A. G. D., who is stationed in the office of the commanding general in Salem, and an outstanding remark made by the officer refers to the fact that the wonderful record made by Klamath Falls battery has been "in spite of and not because of its quarters."

The complete letter follows:
Headquarters
Oregon National Guard
Office of the Commanding General, Salem.

October 17, 1930

Dear Captain Abbey:
I have been watching with considerable interest the press accounts of the activities of the citizens of Klamath county and the city of Klamath Falls, toward raising money for the construction of an armory.

It has always seemed a most unfortunate circumstance that Battery D has not had suitable housing facilities. The quarters you now occupy are entirely inadequate in every respect. I have often remarked in talks to other units over the state that the wonderful record that has been achieved by the Klamath Falls battery has been in spite of and not because of its quarters. The housing facilities of your battery have been a source of unfavorable comment from every federal inspector who has visited you. In addition to being a handicap to training activities the inspecting officer is naturally cognizant of the fact that thousands of dollars worth of federal property is constantly in jeopardy.

In the present day the term "armory" is almost a misnomer. Of course, such buildings are erected primarily for a place in which to store military property and garrison troops, but our armories over the state are also constantly in use for many other worthy purposes. In several cities in the state the armory takes the place of a civic auditorium, where large public gatherings may be held, a utility that is most necessary during the present age. Armories afford a meeting place for veterans and patriotic societies; during the winter months they are constantly in demand as a place in which to hold interscholastic athletic tournaments, and indeed in several cities the drill floor of the local armory forms a valuable adjunct to the high school gymnasium. When some prominent speaker is to appear in a city fortunate to have an armory, the armory is invariably chosen as the gathering place. Notwithstanding the vast number of buildings and utilities in the city of Portland, the Multnomah county armory is constantly in demand as a place to exhibit agricultural and horticultural products, to say nothing of countless other exhibitions. I can well imagine that an armory in Klamath Falls would prove a boon to Klamath county farmers in connection with their potato exhibition.

I could go on for some length in describing the advantages of and the necessity for an armory, from a military and civic standpoint, but I believe the whole matter can be effectively summed up in the statement that the armory of today, while primarily the home of the local military troops, is also the community center.

Battery D's splendid record since its formation is indeed an excellent argument and should be a very effective one in the consummation of your plan.

With kindest regards, I am
Sincerely Yours,
Thomas E. Riley,
Lt. Col. A. G. D.,
Executive Officer.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS ARRIVE FOR CEREMONY

Scottish Rite Masons began arriving in Klamath Falls today, for the fall reunion, which begins Wednesday. More will arrive tomorrow and Thursday for the three day ceremonial.

Conferring of degrees will start at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning with the Lodge of Perfection degrees, from the fourth to the fourteenth inclusive. The Rose Croix degree will be conferred Thursday. These degrees will be conferred by the bodies from Medford, directed by D. L. Davidson, venerable master, and Walter H. Jones, wise master. The work in the Council of Kadosh will start Friday morning with Harold J. Wells commander in charge. The thirty-first and thirty-second will start in the afternoon, with C. G. Wiltshire, venerable master of Kadosh, in charge.

The local members of the Rite have been busy for a month past making necessary arrangements and completing details for this occasion. The Odd Fellows Hall has been secured for the three days. Luncheon and dinner will be served each day by the Episcopal Guild in the Odd Fellows dining room.

Every Scottish Rite Mason in Klamath county is requested to be present, as much as possible for the degree work, but particularly for the meals each day. If present expectations are fulfilled the class will be one of the largest ever to receive the Scottish Rite degrees in Southern Oregon.

Letters of acceptance of invitations have been received from Louis G. Clarke, Sovereign Grand Inspector General in Oregon, and Ralph E. Pinney, Deputy of the Sovereign Grand Inspector General, besides many from Eugene, Roseburg and other places.

New Members of K. C. Will Make Their First Debut

At the regular business session of the Mt. Laughtin council of Knights of Columbus, which will be held in the parish hall Wednesday evening, several newly initiated members will make their first appearance. These new members were taken into the council at the district meeting held two weeks ago.

A special musical entertainment is being planned for Wednesday's meeting. Refreshments will be served. Grand Knight Donahue requests a full attendance.

Astoria Man Is Local Manager

W. C. Tau, former manager of the Astoria branch of the Guardian Building and Loan association, arrived in Klamath Falls Monday evening to take charge of the local office of the company. Mr. Tau has been associated with the Guardian interests for the past six months. Previous to that time he was affiliated with the Portland bond house.

T. J. Webb, who has been manager of the Guardian office in Klamath Falls since it opened, will devote his time exclusively to his real estate work.

The hard part will be to unify the united hates of Europe.

PARDON BOARD ASKS RELEASE OF PRISONERS

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 21. (AP)—Governor Norblad has before him a recommendation of the state pardon board that J. V. Burke, ex-president of the Bank of Kenton, Portland, be released from the state penitentiary. Burke was sentenced to serve seven years for misappropriating bank funds, and began serving time 18 months ago.

The recommendation for conditional pardon is signed by three members of the board. One voted for commutation of sentence and the fifth that action be deferred.

All members of the board recommend conditional pardon of Charles A. Murray, sent up from Lane county to serve eight years for running down and fatally injuring a man with his automobile. Murray was said to have been drunk at the time and the charge was involuntary manslaughter. Murray began serving his sentence March 3, 1928.

S. Chibota, sent up from Umatilla county eight years ago to serve life for killing a man in a gambling game, is recommended unanimously for conditional pardon. He has been a trusty for several years.

Commutation from 15 to 10 years is recommended for A. L. Adams, who was convicted in Multnomah county for assault and robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon. He was received October 12, 1924, and if the commutation is granted will be released in July, 1931. Three board members favor conditional pardon and two favor commutation for Leonard T. Boyd, who is doing a 12-year stretch for assault and robbery while armed with a dangerous weapon. He was received in April, 1927.

Ruey Fong, Chinese, was given a life sentence in Multnomah county 12 years ago for a long war killing, when he was 18 years old, will be given a conditional pardon if the governor follows the recommendation of the board.

Pine Tree Theatre Will Show Roundup

As a special attraction at the Pine Tree theatre, starting today, all talking pictures of the 1930 Pendleton Round-up will be shown. Harry Poole, theatre owner, stated that the preview of the film proved excellent and the sound made the wild west cowboy pictures realistic.

The average speed of passenger trains in the United States is about 25 miles an hour.

Class Members To Meet Today

Meetings of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes of the Klamath Union high school were held at the close of the school hours this afternoon. Each class will select their candidates for Prime Minister and May Queen, in preparation for the annual El Rodeo selling campaign. The class which sells the most year books has the privilege of naming the king and queen of the May fete.

The drive will begin today and will last until November 1, according to Paul Jackson's announcement.

ROGUE FARMER WILL MARKET 60,000 TURKEYS

MEDFORD, Oct. 21. (AP)—Plans for marketing the 60,000-pound Rogue river valley turkey crop are being made by the farmers co-operative here. A large part of the crop will be shipped east early in November.
