

REACTION PRECEDES STABILITY

Industrial Heads Meet In Chicago Discuss Problems

LACK OF CONFIDENCE IS NOTED BY SPEAKER

Too Much Regulation Is Declared To Be Detrimental

CHICAGO, Oct. 22. (AP)—A belief that the reactions and reverses now manifesting themselves merely foreshadow stability as a permanent characteristic of American business, was the consensus of eight leaders of American industry, who addressed the seventh conference on major industries today.

The conference, under the auspices of the University of Chicago and the Institute of American Meat Packers, was attended by two score industrial, commercial, railroad and educational chiefs.

R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas company, speaking on the problems in the petroleum industry, said the principal problem lay in the difficulties of adjustment and reconciliation to conservation.

"And," he added, "to some extent in a lack of confidence that the industry is embarking upon a permanent, definite policy of conservation which a few think inconsistent, in that it should come into fullest effect when oil has become plentiful temporarily."

Legitimate business desired stability rather than waves of prosperity depression, he said, and to this end fuller co-operation in industry was needed, plus such coordination with the government as could be helpful.

Approves State Regulation

Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison company, said, "while the greatest development of electric utilities has come about in a period of state regulation, regulation, federal or state, if carried to extremes, is likely to retard not only proper utility expansion, but all other lines of industry and business."

"Now we are told that state regulation has broken down and must be supplanted by federal regulation. State regulation has not broken down or failed. On the contrary, in my opinion, it has proved to be one of the best examples in our entire governmental structure of how capably a public agency, as free as is humanly possible from politics and can deal with important, complicated and highly technical matters."

Some Policy Must Rule
He said continued state regulation would insure a steady, progressive movement in the utility field, but "the demand for government ownership and operation, the demand for fanciful and complicated regulation will throttle it."

Harvey Firestone of Akron, Ohio, said the greatest problem of the rubber industry today was "the readjustment taking place in the field of merchandising and distribution."

In place of 100,000 dealers two years ago there are 75,000 at present, he said. With improvement of the product, tire sales have dropped off, and it has been necessary for dealers who formerly sold tires exclusively to add sidelines of motor accessories.

ing session was delivered by Mrs. B. H. Bryant of Medford, who explained the work that the Medford associations have accomplished toward the education of children of migratory families. She urged that this work be emphasized throughout the state.

"Rogue River valley is swarmed with foreigners each year because of the immense milk business in that valley. The Parent-Teachers associations of Medford make an attempt to keep check of each migratory family that comes into the city. The town is divided into sections, and one woman has charge of this work in each section."

"When we find children who should be attending school, a report is made to the city superintendent, who sends some one to call on the families of the children. As a last resort the truant officer is sent," Mrs. Bryant explained.

Following her address a round-table discussion for local members was held, and the program of work for the year was outlined.

Luncheon Served

At noon today a luncheon was served in the basement of the church to which presidents of all local and visiting associations were invited. The dinner was followed by a discussion of presidents' problems, led by Mrs. W. T. Brice, state president. At the same time various other meetings were held, led by the leaders in other divisions.

The afternoon session was taken up with talks and discussions.

Harquet Tonight
At 8 o'clock this evening a banquet will be held in the social rooms of the church. The first appearance of the grade school band, under the direction of Miss Lillie Darby, will be made. Other musical entertainment and an interesting program of speakers is being planned.

One of the principal things on Thursday's program is to be a talk on the state-owned text-book measure, which will be given by Mrs. William Kietzer of Portland. All mothers and fathers interested are asked to attend. The talk will be given at the church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Ladies Hear A Discussion Of Measures

Women voters of Klamath Falls, and not a few interested men gathered Tuesday evening in the circuit court rooms to hear discussions of the 13 measures which will appear upon the ballot at the coming election.

Perry O. DeLap, and Arthur Schupp candidates for state representatives, and Harry W. Poole, a member of the state game commission, addressed the Klamath chapter of the National League of Women Voters, giving interesting and unbiased discussions of each measure.

Mrs. William Kietzer, fourth vice president of the Oregon Parent Teachers association, appeared before the league, giving a most interesting and convincing talk in favor of publicly owned text books. Mrs. Kietzer stated that the maximum efficiency was not being attained under the present system, and strongly advocated support of the measure for publicly owned books when it comes before the legislature in the near future.

D. E. Van Vector, first lieutenant in Battery "D", 349th Coast Artillery, spoke in favor of the county tax levy and the city bond issue for the proposed armory.

Harry W. Poole, of the state game commission, advocated the passage of the Rogue river fishing constitutional amendment.

Mrs. Nelson Reed, president of the Klamath branch of the league presided at the meeting.

At the next meeting of the league, to be held on October 30, all the candidates for city and county offices will speak to the women voters. All women in Klamath county are urged to be present, and any men who are interested are cordially invited.

properties. Additional Kiukiang advices originating from other sources said nationalist authorities were experiencing difficulties in forcing the few remaining nationalist soldiers in Kiangsi to fight the red soldiers. The advices said the armed men were adopting the slogan "soldiers don't fight soldiers."

Nanking Faces Big Task
This development was unexpected, and is considered the result of communist propaganda among Nanking forces, the scope of the results not yet been ascertainable.

That Nanking is facing a herculean task in its efforts to uproot the communists of central and southern China is agreed in all circles.

$10,000,000 Demanded
While Lazarist headquarters here were reticent concerning the wholesale kidnaping of their missionaries at Kian, various members of the mission indicated the reds' huge demand for $10,000,000 Mexican was absurd. Even a fraction of this amount is not likely to be paid, it was indicated.

New Grief Engulfs Mining Town as Dead Toll Grows

ALSODORF, Rhenish Prussia, Oct. 22. (AP)—This mining town of 10,000 inhabitants was plunged into new grief today when the realization struck home that there was no hope for 61 miners still under ground in the Anna II coal mine. With a certain dead toll of 231 and the bodies of 170 victims of yesterday's mysterious explosion already recovered, there seemed every likelihood this afternoon that further increases in the death list must be made.

Ninety nine persons remained in hospitals, many of them were in critical condition. When rescue crews, wearing gas masks, penetrated to a pit

1,500 feet below the surface, a ghastly sight met their eyes. All about them the victims lay, apparently asphyxiated. From this pit not one person had emerged alive. It was only then that the would-be rescuers realized hope must be given up for any others in that area.

There were heartbreaking scenes as the dead were taken from the shaft and their families identified them. Many persons came from surrounding towns, some even motoring over the nearby Belgian and Dutch borders. These thronged the town today but a strong force of mounted and foot police kept the crowds at a distance from the mine.

Rebel Forces Cut Railroad Line Leading to Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 22. (AP)—Federal authorities today asserted government air forces were dominating the situation over rebel territory and were making constant flights into the interior of the state of Panama to map the insurgent positions.

A communique said the insurgents made two attempts to cross the Sengres river near Ipiranga, Parana, but had been repulsed each time. Federal airplanes aided in the fighting, and helped to drive back the rebels.

Government troops from several points were slated to have joined forces at Itajuba in the southern part of the state of Minas Geraes, constituting a strong army, which is advancing on the insurgents.

Under the terms of a presidential decree extending the business holiday until November 30, all banks opened today, doing usual business for the first time in several weeks. The bank of Brazil alone was permitted to deal in exportation.

CURITYBA, Parana, Brazil, Oct. 22. (AP)—Insurgent light horse, trooping down from the hills of Minas Geraes, for the second time have cut the railroad and other communications between Sao Paulo and Rio De Janeiro.

A small force yesterday attacked and occupied Cruzeiro, junction city about 135 miles from Rio De Janeiro. Advice received here said the city was defended by a strong federal force under Captain Newton Cavalcanti, but did not indicate extent of fighting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—At the request of the Brazilian government President Hoover today placed an embargo on the shipment of munitions and equipment to Brazil except under licenses granted by the department of state.

CANDIDATES FOR MAYOR AT FORUM-LUNCHEON

Three out of five candidates for mayor in the coming election addressed one of the largest audiences ever assembled at a chamber of commerce forum this noon at the Willard Hotel.

"Bill" Ferguson was the first candidate called upon. Mr. Ferguson outlined his platform in a few well chosen words, stating that he was the working man's candidate. The chief plank in Mr. Ferguson's platform is the covering of the government canal.

Earl Hamaker, the second candidate called upon to speak, stated that he was opposed to all lavish expenditures in the coming years, but that if he were elected mayor, that he hoped to see adequate playgrounds for Klamath Falls children, the city police in uniform, the fire department keeping pace with the city's growth and the erection of the proposed armory.

Walter Waggoner, the third and last candidate to appear at today's luncheon, opened his talk with the statement that more interest in city politics had been manifest in the coming election than at any in the past 10 years. Mr. Waggoner stated that all candidates met upon the common ground that the city should meet the necessary improvements, and that the town should be kept clean. He urged cooperation of all branches of city politics, and added that the covering of the canal, to his mind, was of paramount importance, the government, Mr. Waggoner stated, could be forced to stand the expense of this move. Mr. Waggoner also advocated a new bridge over Link river, and the abolishment of the dangerous East Main street railroad crossing.

William Butler and Fred Cofar, the other candidates in the race for mayor, were unable to appear at today's luncheon.

T. B. Watters, present mayor of Klamath Falls, acted as chairman and introduced the candidates. Luncheon was served to 110 interested citizens of Klamath Falls.

Official Of P. T. A. Here For Meeting

Mrs. William Kietzer, vice-president of the Oregon State Parent-Teachers association, who is attending the Southern Oregon regional conference here, Mrs.

Kietzer is to give an address on "Legislation" Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the Methodist church, to which all citizens of the city are invited. Her discussion will be on free text books for the state of Oregon. Everyone interested in the subject is invited to the meeting.

BUTLER MAKES MAIN ADDRESS AT CEREMONIES

The corner stone of Klamath's new federal building being erected at Seventh and Walnut streets was laid yesterday, with government, county, city and civic officials and workers participating. District Attorney Wilson S. Wiley and Congressman Robert R. Butler made the principal addresses, after being introduced by Lem L. Gaghagen, master of ceremonies.

"The construction of the building marks the successful end to a movement started in Klamath over 19 years ago," Judge Gaghagen, chairman of the federal building committee of the chamber of commerce, said in opening the exercises.

Band Takes Part
Rev. Melville T. Wire offered a blessing previous to the official ceremonies in connection with the laying of an iron box filled with a variety of papers, trinkets and other articles, under the cornerstones which was placed at the conclusion of the addresses.

The high school band and a verse of "America" was sung by the large audience, led by John Houston.

Wiley Gives Address
Wilson S. Wiley in making the dedicatory address reviewed the efforts made by the citizens of the community in securing the erection of the edifice dedicated not to financial gain or profit, but a building dedicated to public service.

Particularly, Mr. Wiley praised the work of Elmer Balsiger, John

McCall, Roy Darbin, Bert Thomas and H. D. Newell, who with Judge Gaghagen composed the federal building committee. Andrew W. Collier, Captain O. C. Applegate and others also gave of their time and efforts in the work, he said, along with the chamber of commerce, the American Legion and other civic and fraternal groups.

Butler Makes Speech
"I feel it is my duty to be here today as the representative of this people at the capitol of our country," Congressman Robert R. Butler said in opening his address.

The congressman paid many high compliments to the growth of the Klamath Empire that, he said, has helped to bring about the construction of the building here today examining a woman's skull found beneath planking of the Clark Wilson Lumber company mill at Linnton. Henry Hofstra, employe of the company, discovered the skull last night after several boards of the planking became loose. The planking was laid over a fill four years ago.

here. He called the erection of the building the "beginning of the realization of the dreams of the pioneers who came here long years ago and started the building of the community."

GRAFF BROTHERS

Why are Camels welcomed with cheers in any company—a twosome or a crowd? Because they're mild—not flat or tasteless but naturally mild. They have the marvelous aroma that only choice tobaccos, mellowed by golden sunshine, then expertly cured and superbly blended, can give a cigarette. There's nothing artificial about this delightful fragrance. No doctoring, no over-processing can produce it. Camel's refreshing mildness is there from the start.

Swing with the crowd to Camels. Learn the happy difference between true mildness and insipid flatness. Smoke without fear of throat-discomfort or after-taste—just for pleasure!
