Distinguished Committee of 17 Reveals New Discovery

MME. ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK
America's most widely known and best loved prima donna. One of the celebrated women whose interest was captured by this new form of soap.

A COMMITTEE of 17 of America's most distinguished women were honored guests recently at the dramatic demonstration of a new soap for washing fine fabrics.

At the close, the consensus of opinion was that for the first time in many years a totally new kind of soap had been invented which would revolutionize the laundering of delicate things.

The other revolutionary feature, according to its discoverer, is the fact that the new soap is in the form of tiny hollow beads. The instant these beads touch water they dissolve. This not only saves time, but it protects fabrics from the harmful action of undissolved soap particles which usually remain after the most thorough rinsing where ordinary chips or flakes are used. As these bits of soap are ironed into stockings, lingerie, etc., "soap rot" results, with stains and faded spots.

The above manufacturers analyzed Palmolive Beads in their own laboratories. They tested them again and again in washing tests on the silks which they manufacture. And now all of them recommend Palmolive Beads for safe washing of silks.

greatest silk manufacturers, who had previously tested the new soap, stressed the tremendous advantage of these two factors in washing delicate silks. "The name of the new soap, 'Palmolive Beads,' reveals the secret of why this new soap gives such vastly better results," said chemists who had helped create this discovery.

Large box 10c

Palmolive Beads are the first soap for fine silks ever made in the form of tiny, hollow, instantly dissolving "beads." The only fine fabric soap ever to be made of olive and palm oils.

Palmolive Beads are for sale at your dealer's at 10 cents the box—no more than you pay for ordinary flakes and chips. Get a box today.

Dr. McGowan, Antoinette Donnelly, Suzanne Pollard, Lillian Edgerton and Nellie Taylor Ross watch the new soap dissolve in interesting tests.

Who's Who on the Committee of 17

These famous women—leaders representing every phase of feminine activity, from all over the United States—approved and sponsored Palmolive Beads.
