Head Of Chicago Man Is Crushed; Another Man Is Beheaded

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 13, (AP)—Three hundred foreign refugees from the Andean mining fields, jammed like cattle into a three-car railroad train, reached here today from Malpaso, where two Americans were killed in a labor riot yesterday.

They came into a city whose transportation facilities were paralyzed by a general strike, bringing a vivid story of armed clashes in which at least a dozen workmen were killed and more than a score injured.

Tell Gruesome Tale The engineer of their train told how the rioters, having wounded John W. Chapman of Chicago, a mine employee, crushed his head with rocks, of how, having killed E. L. Tripp, an American stoker, they beheaded his body.

Another American, Mrs. Albert Diamond, was among the wounded, the engineer said. Other Americans who were injured were Mr. Diamond, a man named Kelley, another named Morger and an employee of the Frederick Share Corporation, whose name is withheld.

Refugees in Frenzy At some points a police guard had a hard time controlling the crowds which tried to board the train in a frenzy to flee from danger. At the Casapala station it seemed that the whole town was at the railroad tracks trying to climb aboard and mounted policemen had to drive them away.

The engineer, a cup of coffee in one hand and his mouth full of the first food he had eaten in many hours, told a story of the disorders which agreed with fragments of accounts previously received here.

Strikes Start Trouble The day before yesterday, he said, 1,500 workmen, including the crew of the Malpaso hydro-electric station, threw down their tools. This station furnished power to nearly all smelting plants owned by the Cerro de Pasco corporation. They struck after learning workmen at La Oroya, important Andean mining center, had stopped work.

Immediately the local police posted an armed guard at the bridge on the Oroya road and prevented workmen crossing the bridge to join forces with those at La Oroya.

Many Wounded The result was a battle in which guns are brought into play. Twelve workmen were killed and about 25 were wounded. Chapman and Tripp were struck by stray bullets.

"I don't know how long this went on," the engineer said, "but it was a serious battle while it lasted."

The rioters, driven back upon the town, surged toward stores and company offices bent on attacking all foreigners they met.

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 13, (AP)—Are you building a nice rock garden? "Please send me a rock," pleaded a woman from Alamo, Georgia, in a letter to the geology department of University of Oregon. She is building a lily pool and needs a rock from every state in the union.

NAME REFEREES IN DISBARMENT

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13, (AP)—Five referees were yesterday appointed by the supreme court to take testimony in disbarment proceedings filed by Fred C. Worrell of Tillamook against eight Oregon attorneys. The referees are Nicholas Jaurugy, John B. Cleland, John M. Pipes, and Earl Bernard, all of Portland, and George R. Wilbur of Hood River.

The accused attorneys are George P. Winslow, George T. Bots, A. A. Hall and Claude Harkick, all of Tillamook; E. B. Tongue of Hillsboro; J. F. Kavanaugh, Jay Bowerman and James Conley, all of Portland. Worrell's accusations grow out of the settlement of an estate in connection with which some of the attorneys were employed. Other of the attorneys were involved only in an associate capacity.

The supreme court refused to give out the names of the defendant attorneys, although they had previously been published when the complaint was filed, and it was necessary for newspapermen to get them from other sources. The Worrell complaint was filed with the supreme court and referred by the court to the grievance committee of the state bar association. The findings of the referees will be submitted to the court.

The court yesterday afternoon handed down the following opinion: H. D. Brown and Nita Brown vs. Charles A. Briggs et al. appealants; appeal from Klamath county suit for reformation of contract and deed. Opinion by Justice Brown, Judge W. M. Duncan affirmed.

American Planes Ordered To Aid Search in Canada

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13, (AP)—Two navy airplanes today were ordered to Seattle to be used in a search for six fliers missing in Northern British Columbia.

The orders were issued after a recommendation to that effect by Captain Zeno E. Briggs, commandant of the Seattle naval district. Captain Briggs said when the planes reached Seattle guide pilots would be provided by the Alaskan Airways.

Admiral Frank H. Schofield, commandant of the battle fleet, will select planes and pilots.

DRY ISSUE PUT UP BY DR. BUTLER

Warns Republicans Must Accept Gauntlet Or Meet Defeat

HYPOCRISY CHARGED TO PUBLIC OFFICERS

Statement Made in Answer To That of Senator Simeon D. Fess

NEW YORK, Nov. 13, (AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Columbia University and prominent republican, is on record with the prediction that unless the republican party declares for repeal of the 18th amendment in 1932, there will result "the biggest political smash-up in the history of any American now living."

Hypocrisy Charged "The intelligence and the moral purpose of the American people," he said in a statement, "are unflinchingly determined to repair the dreadful damage done to our government and to our public life by the ratification of the eighteenth amendment, as well as to bring to a quick end the shocking conditions which cowardice and hypocrisy on the part of the office-holding and office-seeking class, together with an uncontrolled and untaxed nation-wide liquor traffic, have brought upon the nation."

Referring to the declaration of Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the republican national committee, which said, "if the republican party stands for repeal it might as well say good-bye," Dr. Butler countered, "if the republican party does not stand for repeal, it might as well say good-night."

Dr. Butler termed the recent elections "the handwriting on the wall" and predicted defeat for the next republican convention would have an opportunity of voting on a repeal plank.

Klamath Man Is Interviewed By The Oregonian

An article appeared in this morning's Oregonian in the "Those Who Come and Go" column in which T. R. Gillenwaters, Klamath county's new district attorney, gives the following interview:

"I believe in using every bit of science and machinery available in combating crime," said District Attorney Gillenwaters of Klamath county, at the Imperial.

"The law says that every sheriff shall have a record bureau. That is what the law says, but try to get one allowed in the annual budget. Well, we have a record bureau, and it is a dandy, for it is kept up to date. One reason I am in Portland is to see Chief Jenkins about his broadcasting station. That station will be of immense benefit to us, and it will save us money, as well. As the situation now exists it costs us about $25 to cover our county by putting through calls. If we wish to send out an alarm in the future we need only put in one call to Portland and have the information broadcast back in our county within five minutes, and covering the county far better than we can do by means of the telephone. So, you see, we are quite interested in Chief Jenkins' broadcasting station. Automobiles are now the principal means of escape used by criminals, and these are generally stolen cars. The broadcast station will enable police officers all over Oregon to know of stolen cars (Continued on Page Eight)

Unemployed Men Have Disposed of 3,000,000 Apples

NEW YORK, Nov. 13, (AP)—In the name of unemployment, 5,000 jobless men have sold some 2,000,000 apples on the street corners of New York, keeping alive both the wolf and the doctor.

LATITUDE DRY LAWS STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13, (AP)—Just how much latitude the prohibition laws give those who make winking at home in being studied anew by the justice department.

Its attitude on fruit juices in the home has not changed since 1926, Attorney General Mitchell said today, but a new factor has arisen not covered by previous statements of policy. This is the sale of grape concentrate, which becomes wine after fermentation.

Colonel Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of prohibition enforcement, returned to Washington yesterday for conferences on the grape concentrate and other questions.

Mitchell referred to a supreme court decision, handed down in January, 1926, as representing his attitude. The ruling was: "A person who manufactures fruit juices may lawfully possess the product in his home for exclusive home use, notwithstanding that it has, by process of fermentation, acquired an alcoholic content of one half of one per cent. or more by volume, providing that it has not become intoxicating in fact."

The Attorney General also mentioned instructions about a year ago to prohibition agents, telling them not to interfere with the sale of fruit juices intended only for home use.

Chinese Loot Steamer And Hold Officers

HONGKONG, Nov. 13, (AP)—The Norwegian steamer Hirundo today radioed that she had been attacked by Pirates between Swatow and Hongkong. One of her crew was wounded and two Chinese compradors were carried off. The Hirundo was expected here today.

The Pirates adopted the usual method of joining the ship as passengers. They attacked the bridge and engine room simultaneously at a pre-arranged signal. The loot consisted of a thorough looting of the ship, robbing the passengers of everything they possessed.

They ordered the ship to proceed to Mrs Bay where it arrived last night. They handed the chief and third officers prisoners to be held for ransom.

FOUR ARRESTS REPORTED

Only four arrests were registered upon the police arrest docket at headquarters for Wednesday. Three of the offenders were vagrants and the fourth was arrested for being drunk.

VALUES OF UTILITIES INCREASED

Assessed Valuation Has Been Increased About $6,000,000

COUNTY VALUATION LOWERED $4,000,000

Assessors Hear Debate On Income Tax; Lee Asks For Solution

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13, (AP)—An increase of about $11,000,000 in the full valuation, or about $6,000,000 in the apportioned or assessed valuation of utility companies in Oregon has been made this year by the state tax commission as compared with last year. Earl Fisher, chairman of the commission, told the assessors of the state here today. The full valuation for a total of about 900 concerns in the state will run this year approximately $316,000,000 as against $305,000,000 last year, he said.

The utilities, Fisher said, especially the electric utilities, show a substantial growth in operations and earnings.

Local Values Down Local valuations in the counties, Fisher stated, on which the 1931 assessments will be made, will show a decline of about $4,000,000.

Income Tax Debated The state income tax had vicarious defense from Dr. J. H. Gilbert of the University of Oregon. He held that the 1923 income tax act, which was repealed after a year's operation, was not excessive and not responsible for a curtailment of industrial activity in Oregon. On this statement C. C. Chapman of Portland took issue with Gilbert, declaring that it was more than the traffic would bear, that it did reduce industrial activity and that the strong protests against it led to its repeal. Chapman said he had hopes for the new income tax act, though he contended, also in opposition to a statement by Gilbert, that the individual taxpayer is concerned, as far as the whole volume of tax collections is concerned. Chapman predicted strong opposition to a revamping of the intangibles tax by the legislature. The first thing for the state officials to think about, he said, is the refunding of the money collected under the intangibles act recently held unconstitutional by the supreme court.

Condition Chaotic That the state is in a chaotic condition as far as taxation is concerned was admitted by the speakers today, but no solution was offered.

W. T. Lee, assessor for Klamath county, asked that a solution be worked out between the assessors and the tax commissioners relative to the assessment of cut-over timber lands.

Bodies of Two Recovered From Bay; Eureka's Woman Mayor Raps Life Guards

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 13, (AP)—The bodies of four victims of the Schooner Brooklyn disaster of Saturday had been recovered today. Seventeen men were believed to have perished. Jorgen M. Greve, first mate, was picked up alive.

The three men whose bodies were picked up today by the coast guard boats were Charles Holmon, seaman; H. C. Sandler, seaman; and T. V. Peterson, second officer. The body of George Vigdel, a seaman, was picked up yesterday by a fishing trawler.

EUREKA, Calif., Nov. 13, (AP)—Spurred by criticism of Eureka's woman mayor, coast guardsmen today continued their search for bodies of the crew of the lumber schooner Brooklyn torn to pieces as she steamed out of Humboldt Harbor last Saturday.

The first body, that of George Vigdel, seaman, was recovered yesterday close to the whistling buoy near where the Brooklyn went down. Supported by one of the ship's life preservers, the body was floating upright. Another body, unidentified, was picked up today by a coast guard boat.

Accusing the coast guardsmen here of inefficiency, Mrs. Emily Jones, mayor of Eureka, telegraphed coast guard headquarters in San Francisco requesting an Amphibian plane to carry on an independent search.

"I don't think the coast guard has done everything it can to find these lost sailors," she complained. "At any rate, coast guardsmen haven't found any. It's shameful the way they let men float around for days."

Fishing boats were responsible for rescuing first mate Jorgen M. Greve after he drifted on a piece of wreckage for nearly 12 hours, and finding the body of Vigdel.

Greve continued to recover today from the harrowing three days and three nights during which he clung to his hazardous haven. His feet were swollen and on his knees were great pads of bruises from kneeling on the makeshift raft they let him float around for days.

Greve's miraculous voyage on a broken bit of his ship, carried him over 35 miles, during which he twice approached the shore. He clung to the wreckage, either lying prone or kneeling, still holding on with his will to live even when he had passed into unconsciousness.

CYCLONE TAKES A HEAVY TOLL

LONDON, Nov. 13, (AP)—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Rangoon today reported that hundreds of lives were lost in a cyclone which wiped out the town of Krangk-Pyu on the west coast of Lower Burma.

All buildings were reported destroyed, trees uprooted and vessels in the harbor carried out to sea.

The news agency reported that all communications had been cut.

Kyauk Pyu is visited by vessels of the British India navigation company and reports said one of these had sunk.

Report Is Made On Expenditures During Election

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13, (AP)—The Oregon State Grange, through Ray W. Gill, today reported to the secretary of state a campaign expenditure of $3175 in behalf of the water and power utility district amendment, the lieutenant governor bill, the state income tax, and the bill providing for increased compensation for legislators. The utility bill and the income tax bill were adopted by the people and the other two were defeated.

Russell Hawkins of Portland reported an expenditure of $588.64 in behalf of Phil Metchan, republican candidate for governor. Rosemary Schenck, vice chairman of the state democratic central committee, accounted for an expenditure of 15 in behalf of Edward F. Bailey, candidate for governor; Elton Watkins, candidate for United States senator, and W. A. Deibel, candidate for congress in the first district.

The socialist-independent organization shows that it spent $323.24 for its candidates.

HOMES ARE BURIED IN LANDSLIDE

Tragedy Occurs at Basilica of Notre Dame De Dourviere

FIFTY DEAD TAKEN FROM MUDDY DEBRIS

Incessant Rain Believed To Have Caused Tragedy at Historic Spot

LYONS, France, Nov. 13, (AP)—A catastrophic landslide, taking the lives of between 60 and 100 persons, has thrown the entire city of Lyons into mourning.

In the dead of last night practically the entire Dourviere Hill surmounted by the noble basilica of St. Jean slid in the city proper, bringing 10 houses down in ruins.

Late this afternoon, three bodies, including those of two firemen, were recovered.

The death of 13 firemen and 7 policemen who were trapped by a second collapse at three o'clock this morning, while attempting to rescue the victims of the first landslide, had somewhat disorganized the rescue work.

While it was impossible to gauge the full extent of the tragedy because of the tons of earth that must be removed, late estimates placed the number of dead between sixty and 100.

Included in the death roll were 13 firemen and seven policemen who gave their lives during the night when they struggled desperately to dig out those trapped in the ruins.

Late today 11 persons had been rescued, but three had been so badly crushed they may die.

The authorities estimated upwards of 100 persons had been caught under the houses, not only by the first collapse, but by subsequent ones when a series of new landslides sent many tons of earth, stone and brick (Continued on Page Eight)

U. S. Marines Kill Sons Of Rebel Leader

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13, (AP)—Representatives of the Nicaraguan insurgent chieftain, Augusto Sandino, today said Pedro Jr. and Victoriano Altamirano, sons of Sandino's principal aide, Pedro Altamirano, had been killed in a fight with United States marines.

Another son, Meleto, was said to have been severely wounded in the encounter, which centered about the Altamirano homestead.

Sandino himself was said to have recovered from recent wounds and re-assumed charge of his men.

Session National Grange Hears Plea in Defense of Farm Marketing Act

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 13, (AP)—The federal marketing act, under which government funds are used in buying wheat, received praise today at C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, for its saving to the farmer of ten cents on each bushel of wheat.

Speaking before the 64th annual convention of the National Grange, Huff said the saving was figured on the difference between the cash price received by the farmer and the world price. "This year," he said, "the farmer was 10 cents better off than last year. In other words, he received 10 cents more for his wheat through the aid of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, acting under the federal act."
