WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Submission by the American government of proposals to the Chinese government for the gradual relinquishment of American extraterritorial rights in China was announced today by Secretary Stimson.

The proposals are in line with the state department's policy announced last year that the United States was prepared to negotiate on a method for relinquishment of the treaty rights.

At that time, the United States said relinquishment would apply to designated territorial areas in China or to particular kinds of jurisdiction, such as civil or criminal rights held under the treaty. Under these rights, Americans are not subject to Chinese courts.

The condition attached by the United States to its policy was that it must proceed along with the enactment and effective enforcement of laws by China "based on modern concepts of jurisprudence."

The proposals of the American government are similar to but not identical with proposals by the British government to the Chinese in September.

Lindy "Passes" Test for His New Pilot's License

Aeronautics inspectors for the department of commerce are extremely strict in their examinations of all who apply for issuance or renewal of pilot's licenses. But Stanford L. Willis, left, supervising inspector at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, didn't ask any questions when the applicant shown seated in the cockpit swooped down and announced that he might do a little flying next year and would like to renew his license. All Willis said was: "Here you are, Colonel Lindbergh."

Committee Will Study Liability Auto Insurance

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13. (AP)—The legislative interim committee appointed to study the question of compulsory liability insurance on automobiles and report to the 1931 session will meet in Portland this afternoon, Clara A. Lee, state insurance commissioner, said today. Members of the legislature on the committee are Senators Joe E. Dunne and Gus. C. Moser, and Representatives Wilber Henderson, Harvey Wells and Earl Snell. Other members are Carl D. Gabrielson, superintendent of the state motor vehicle division; Clara A. Lee, insurance commissioner; I. H. Van Winkle, attorney general; and J. M. Deyers, attorney for the state highway commission.

SALEM MOVES TO AID UNEMPLOYED

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13. (AP)—Sewer construction work estimated to cost $100,000 will be carried on during the winter by the city of Salem to help relieve unemployment. It is said 60 to 100 men will be employed.

State Board May Hear Goodman's Charges Friday

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13. (AP)—While it appeared probable today that Irvin Goodman, Portland attorney who has made charges of brutality by officers and guards at the state penitentiary, would be given opportunity tomorrow to appear before the state board of control, the date had not been officially fixed today, and Goodman had not yet been notified to appear.

Henry W. Meyers, superintendent of the prison, makes a general denial of the charges. Some of these date back prior to Meyers' incumbency as superintendent.

John M. Gearin, Well Known Man of Oregon, Dies

PORTLAND, Nov. 13. (AP)—John M. Gearin, 79, former United States senator from Oregon and member of the law firm of Simon, Gearin, Humphreys & Freed, died at a hospital here yesterday.

Senator Gearin was born in Umatilla county, and up to twenty years ago when he retired from political life, he was one of the best known citizens of Oregon. He graduated from Notre Dame, and practiced law in Portland 57 years. Two sons and one daughter, all Portland residents, survive.

Blind Students Are Favored in Recent Ruling

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13. (AP)—Attorney General Van Winkle has written an opinion holding that blind students, qualified under the law and regularly matriculated and attending the extension department of the University of Oregon, are entitled to state financial aid provided by law for the furnishing of readers.

The legislature of 1922 provided an appropriation of $500 a year for the purchase of readers for blind students attending state institutions of higher learning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moffat of Klamath Agency were Tuesday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Engle.

Fete O'Connor motored to Klamath Falls on Tuesday.

Marvin Cross of Bly was a Tuesday visitor in Fort Klamath.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Varnum of Forest camp, spent Armistice day visiting relatives in Fort Klamath

All Pepper is not alike

Not by any means! Schilling's is rich in aromatic oils and full of flavor. Some are merely stinging dust.

Lemon: Schilling's Lemon Extract contains 3 times the amount of lemon oil required by the United States Government Pure Food Department—3 times as much—and more than most any other you can buy. That is why it goes further—why it imparts a richer lemon flavor.

Nutmeg: There are large nutmegs, small nutmegs and "shrivels". The large ones look the best, but they are not so rich in flavor oil as the small ones. The "shrivels" are just that—shrivelled, woody and worthless for flavor, but when they are all ground together you are none the wiser. But this is not the Schilling way. Only the fine, rich small nutmegs are ground by Schilling. Everything else is rejected.

There is a definite reason why every Schilling spice and extract is distinctly better than others you can buy.
