

MEDFORD TEAM SET TO CRUSH KLAMATH HIGH

Tomorrow morning Coach Mayfield and his aggregation of players comprising the Klamath Union high school team, will leave for Medford, where they meet the Tigers of that city in the second game of the season. In the first game the Medford team secured a decisive victory, and reports floating over the Cascades from that point indicate that Coach Burgher has developed a veritable steam roller, which will be directed at the Pelicans tomorrow.

Although all first string members of the Pelicans are in excellent physical condition, the team as a whole is handicapped by a lack of practice. The local field has been covered with snow the past week, making team practice almost impossible.

Of the plans made by the Medford team to crush the Pelicans the sports writer of the Medford Daily News says:

"Coach Darwin K. Burgher drove his first Medford high school eleven through a hard scrimmage practice last night, in getting the team in condition to battle the Klamath Falls Pelicans here Saturday, and the mighty Ashland high school Grizzlies on Thanksgiving day.

"In the mimic battle the reserves faced the hardest first team assaults and allowed themselves to be pushed up and down the muddy gridiron only after the most savage opposition. The Tigers found plenty of worthy foes right in their own back yard.

"The practice was mostly first team offense, with few aerial attempts being made, the first stringers being satisfied to resort to crushing power plays.

"The entire squad appeared to be in excellent condition, and the spirit was good.

"It is reported that the Klamath Falls authorities attempted to cancel the game, but that local school authorities held the Lumber City to its agreement. The Pelicans are said to have pleaded that snow is so deep across the mountains that the footballists there are unable to turn out for practice."

Weather Is Favorable To Oregon State

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21, (AP)—Making its second bow here this season, a much improved Oregon State football team fresh from a triumph over the traditional foe from Oregon University tonight clashes with an equally rejuvenated University of California at Los Angeles aggregation.

On the first visit at the start of the season Coach Paul Schuler's Beavers lost to the University of Southern California. They will entrain for Chicago tomorrow morning where on Thanksgiving Day they play West Virginia.

The playing conditions will be more to Oregon State's liking than the first visit with the weather near freezing to icy winds sweeping down from snow clad mountain peaks in the vicinity.

Both teams worked out under the Coliseum light last night in order to acquaint themselves with the playing conditions. Coach Bill Spaulding has shifted his lineup adding weight to his line in an effort to cope with the heavy state forwards.

It will be the second time a conference game has been played under the stars. The Bruins entertained Stanford here in the first night contest between Pacific Coast conference teams. Except for minor injuries both eleven will be able to present their best lineup:

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21, (AP)—The Portland Buckaroos today were at the head of the Pacific Coast hockey league standings as the result of their 3 to 1 victory over Tacoma here last night. Portland ran up a three point lead in the first period. They were unable to get past Goalie Robertson again but that was enough. The Tigers made their lone tally early in the second period.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21, (AP)—There has come from Gene Tunney revelation of the forestalling of a suit for damages against him. A twenty-dollar bill did it. Addressing the Hotchkiss school alumni association he said in his early days of boxing he fought in an exhibition at the school, and was forthwith threatened with a suit because of his opponent's loss of teeth. Cash from a friend of Tunney's satisfied his opponent.

90 ENTERED IN OREGON'S OPEN

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21, (AP)—Ninety golfers, including internationally known professionals and amateurs, were ready here today for the opening of the annual Oregon open tournament.

Prizes at stake in the three day tournament are $2500 for the professionals and valuable trophies for the amateurs.

The program will include 18 holes today and Saturday and the 36 hole final round Sunday. Low scores on the 72 holes will determine the winners.

Horton Smith is here to defend the Oregon title which he won last year. Leo Diegel, 1929 champion of the professional golfers' association, and Leo Gene Sarazen, former national champion, are among the other players of international experience.

This will be the first appearance of Diegel and Sarazen in Portland. The amateur division is led by Dr. O. F. Whiting, Frank Dolp, and Eddie Hogan.

Interest Centers In Northwestern Notre Dame Game

CHICAGO, Nov. 21, (AP)—That interesting midwestern discussion concerning the comparative strength of good Notre Dame football teams and the Big Ten champions, will be settled among other things—when the Irish and Northwestern meet tomorrow.

There is no reason for doubting Notre Dame's 1930 eleven is not just as good as ever represented the South Bend institution, and Northwestern is at least a co-holder of the Western conference championship.

Coach Knute Rockne yesterday started single in a minor key. Notre Dame is ready mechanically, but he is a little afraid the rigors of the murderous schedule have taken too much out of his men, and they will not have the edge necessary to slice through the bigger Northwestern eleven.

All of which bodes no good at all for Northwestern, for whenever Rockne has sung blues this season, Notre Dame's next opponent took a lacing.

Out at Northwestern the boys continue to believe Rockne has a right to be worried. Coach Dick Hanley says his teams go Saturdays as they go in practice during the week, and he has described this week's drills as immensely better than any others of the year.

"Hard Luck" Hank Brudder Hopes for a Break Tomorrow

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 21, (AP)—No member of the North-western football teams wants a victory over Notre Dame Saturday more than "Hard Luck" Hank Brudder, wildcat captain, who will play his last college game on his twenty-third birthday.

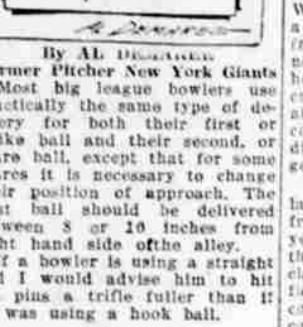

"I've had some bad breaks," Brudder said, "but if we win this one, it won't be hard to forget the tough luck."

Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern, was 25 years old yesterday, but deferred his celebration—if any—until Saturday night.

Linfield College Playing Columbia University Today

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21, (AP)—Columbia University's Irishmen play their last Northwest conference football game of the season here today with the Linfield Wildcats.

The game is an annual battle and for once Gene Murphy's Irish eleven is the favorite. Columbia has lost one and won two conference games this season, defeating Pacific, 13 to 6, and College of Puget Sound, 7 to 6.

College of Idaho, with a fierce aerial attack, broke a 6 all tie in the last quarter and beat Columbia 20 to 6.

Record Crowd To See Whitman And Willamette Play

SALEM, Nov. 21, (AP)—Enthusiasm over the game tomorrow between the Willamette and Whitman College football teams, a game which may eliminate one from a tie for first place in the Northwest conference, is at fever heat in the state capital, and a crowd of 10,000 fans, a record attendance, is expected for the contest. Advance ticket sales indicate this estimate is not exaggerated.

Willamette university, which last year won its first game from Whitman for a period of years, is hopeful of repeating the feat and thus lay a better claim to league leadership. Pacific university, which plays the college of Puget Sound at Tacoma tomorrow, is the third team in tie for conference championship, neither teams being defeated within the league.

Golden Bears and Cardinals Awaiting Their Annual Game

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 21, (AP)—California's Golden Bears and Stanford's Cardinals waited in their retreats today for the call tomorrow which will bring them together for their sixty-sixth "big game."

The Bears pin their hope on their forward wall and the ability to block a passing attack—a defense they have seldom shown this season. If the line can hold the driving Cards, and the secondary defense can function against an aerial barrage, hopesters say the Bears will have an even chance. But if either defense fails, it will be just "too bad."

The weakness of the lines of both teams is expected to turn the game into a battle of the air, which, previous showings indicate, would give Stanford a distinct advantage.

The Cards haven't appeared as a strong team, but their one defeat, 41 to 12 by Southern California, looks like a victory compared to California's 74 to 6 beating by U. S. C. Washington State and Washington have aided in ruining the appearance of the Bear eleven.

Nature is always experimenting, and we often wonder what she was trying to produce when she made spinach.
