Today in Klamath's Theatres

AT THE PELICAN

"The Sea God" coming to the Pelican Theatre Sunday, presents a tough situation for any heroine to be in, and an even tougher problem for a film actress to solve. Imagine having a husband you don't love, who is plotting the ruin of the man you do love and who loves you, and then having a ruthless bandit come along to play Cupid, first for himself, then for the lover when the bandit decides to be a Santa Claus! Particularly embarrassing, one might say, when the bandit decides to shoot your husband and give you to the man you love, but haven't confessed to—and who hasn't confessed to you! There are many other things in the plot of the world-famous play by Porter Emerson Browne that embarrasses everyone concerned, but especially, of course,

AT THE PINE TREE

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray in the Paramount Picture, "The Sea God." Battle canoes which a few years ago swarmed out of remote bays in the South Sea Islands, filled with warriors seeking heads and the bodies of enemies to eat, are again making martial voyages. Manned by native crews in full regalia, eleven of these fantastic, shell-decorated craft took part in the filming of Paramount's new talking picture, "The Sea God." This production, featuring Richard Arlen, Fay Wray and Eugene Pallette, and filmed partly on an island in the Pacific, opens a two day engagement Sunday at the Pine Tree Theatre.

The war canoes are from thirty to fifty feet long and have a capacity of twenty to seventy-five warriors. They are made with three planks on each side and two narrow boards forming a flat bottom. All the boards have bevelled edges and are sewn together by cords made from the stems of vines. The seams are calked with a material something like rosin, obtained from a jungle tree.

Pearl shells in weird designs decorate the sides of the canoes. At both stern and stem are high bows ornamented with conch-shells. At the bow, just below the line of shells and close to the water, are heads carved of wood. These are supposed to watch for hidden reefs.

These clumsy appearing boats are said to be remarkably seaworthy and natives have voyaged as far as 150 miles in them. They are propelled by paddles and guided by a steersman who stands in the stern.

In the scenes depicting an attack upon a sailing schooner for which they man their war canoes the natives carry carved spears eight feet long. These are made of palmwood and decorated with bands of colored hemp. Many of them also carry stone war clubs.

We Sell Genuine International Repairs

Made For

By the

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY

REPAIRS made for International implements and other farm equipment by the Harvester Company are the only repairs made from the original patterns. All others are copied from copies, and in this roundabout reproduction they may lose in correctness of shape, sharpness of detail, closeness in fitting, and quality of material. These repairs are made for Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee, Titan and other International-made machines.

Genuine Repairs

Are Better in Quality
Fit Better and Wear Longer

The Harvester Company stands back of its machines. Be fair in the matter. Do not substitute imitation repairs for the genuine and expect best service. Repairs made by other concerns and marked "Made for" or "Will fit" are not genuine IHC repairs. They often lack weight, are not always correct in shape, are imperfectly finished, do not fit properly, or are made of inferior material. Buy Genuine International Repairs for your International Farm Equipment.
