TODAY IN KLAMATH'S THEATRES

AT THE PELICAN

Clara Bow, Sheets Gallagher
in the Paramount Picture
"Her Wedding Night"

Sizzling! Whirlwind! Action!
Fant! Clara Bow and Sheets Gallagher in "Her Wedding Night", a deliciously romantic farce-comedy, written by Avery Hopwood, king of farce.
"Her Wedding Night" opened a two day run at the Pelican theatre last night and wowed the house. It's laughs at the start, the middle and love at the end.
It's a Bow knock-out.
Imagine Clara Bow as a red-headed film star in France, where, because she doesn't understand the language, she unwittingly becomes the bride in a wedding ceremony in which the groom is masquerading under an assumed name. Thus she becomes the wife, by proxy, of a man she has never seen. And when they meet, and when Charles Ruggles, and when Skeets Gallagher, the bridegroom's proxy, gets through explaining, there's a diverting love story with Clara falling hard for her strangely acquired husband, Ralph Forbes.

"Her Wedding Night" slips in Paris, whizzes through France, and winds up in a merry matrimonial tangle in Venice. The cast is superb.

AT THE PINE TREE

Kisses, Kane and Kolorful adventure with a savory twist of seasons and all the heart stimulus of Charles Rogers in the uniform of the U. S. Coast Guard, is served up in tinsel style this week at the Pine Tree theatre, where Paramount's talking-singing success, "Heads Up", is "on the make".

Rogers is his usual young and handsome self as a navy lieutenant forced to decide between love and duty when the yacht belonging to his fiancée's family is surreptitiously seized by smugglers. And the interest is keen when it looks for a spell that Margaret Green, his blonde
"clinging vine", is going to say
"Yes" to the proposal of the nefarious trade's master mind, Gene Bowling. Helen Carrigan, as the mother, eager to promote a fortunate marriage for her daughter, also gets herself thoroughly thrilled.

The original Rogers-Hart musical score includes a two surefire hits: "Ship With a Sail", and "My Man on the Make". And you know what a melo like Helen Kane can do to melody-hearts, armed with nothing but a capboud mouth and a couple of clefts.
She's Margaret's "imp" sister, who lives and loves, and gets all "set up about shipwreck" Dugan's inventive, especially his automatic kitchen and water-proof radio.
Oh—and the sacrifice the "Buddha of Hoop" makes for a white signal banner in the shipwreck climax—abandon (business of gasping).

And Victor Moore does his original New York role as "Skipto"; we're not going to give away a single one of his tricks—and everyone of them is quite worth seeing—you'll be convinced—more broken ribs!

The direction is by Victor Scheringer, and this accomplishment of ideal portions of suspense, love and humor, won't hurt his reputation a whit.
