Today in Klamath's Theatres

AT THE PELICAN

A scene from 'Whoopee' starring Eddie Cantor

One of the great events of the picture years comes to the Pelican theatre today when "Whoopee," the Samuel Goldwyn-Florsberg Ziegfeld musical riot, starring Eddie Cantor, makes its appearance in Klamath Falls.

This famous pair of producers, kings of the screen and the stage respectively, have exhausted every angle of their art to make "Whoopee" memorable already known to the entire United States as one of the most successful Ziegfeld musical shows ever produced in its stage form, the greater freedom of the talking color screen has developed it into a history-making picture.

The entire Goldwyn and Ziegfeld staffs were combined to make "Whoopee" technically perfect, with Thornton Freeland, young and brilliant Hollywood director, in charge of the filming. In "Whoopee" a great stage success becomes one of the pictures that makes history.

Sally Morgan (Eleanor Hunt) has long been in love with Waneis (Paul Gregory), an Indian boy who lives near her father's ranch, but her father is forcing her to marry the sheriff (John Rutherford), while Waneis is away being educated to white man's ways.

Waneis returns just before the wedding, learns of the plans and goes back to his people on the reservation, broken hearted. Sally, desperately unwilling to go through with the marriage, prevails on Henry Williams (Eddie Cantor), an imaginary friend living on the ranch, to take her away in his ramshackle Ford. As soon as her escape is discovered, her father to watch the excitement. When the runaway had been stopped, they returned to see the rest of the show.

But the music-loving Marzes were so puffed because the audience had deserted Mozart for mules that they began making wise cracks at its expense. Instead of resenting such remarks, the Texans laughed, and the act, which had been rather tame until that time, became a hit. The Marxes took the hint and revamped their act forthwith, deserting Schubert for slapstick forever after.

The irresistible Marx Brothers' laugh formulas will be passed out in a second Paramount talking feature for them, "Animal Crackers," from their recent stage success, and the screen headliner at the Pine Tree theatre three days beginning today.

"Hit your cart to a star," is a well-worn slogan for success. The Four Marx Brothers, however, soared to the heavenly sector of the theatrical horizon in the wake and dust of a runaway mule team.

That is one of incidents in their record climb to success as comedians, and a particular chapter written in Marshall, Texas, at a time when the young Marxes and their mother had a musical act, playing classical numbers from Beethoven, Schubert and Mozart.

In the midst of one of their performances in Marshall a great commotion arose outside the theatre as a span of mules decided to go elsewhere in a great hurry. The audience, which apparently had been somewhat bored, immediately deserted their seats

The menacing role of Arlen's love rival is played by Francis McDonald, who played a like role opposite Arlen in "Dangerous Paradise." Tully Marshall, character comedian, provides many of the laughs.
