

LOWER HOUSE PASSES FREE TEXTBOOK BILL

SALEM, Feb. 12, (AP)—The house of the Oregon legislature placed its approval upon the measure providing free text books to all pupils of public elementary schools in the state. The act, known as the free text book bill, now goes to the senate. After more than two hours of debate the amended bill, eliminating high schools from its benefits, was passed by a 45 to 15 vote late yesterday.

Prior to this special order, the lower house also ended the legislative controversy over the manner of selecting the Port of Portland commission, by approving the senate amendments to the act with but one vote in opposition, that of P. O. De Lap of Klamath. The measure which now goes to the governor names Harry L. Corbett, Kenneth D. Dawson, Rufus C. Holman and Hellman Luuddeman members to fill vacancies occurring this June. All nine members will be elected after 1932 as their terms expire.

Mrs. Dorothy Lee, chairman of the house education committee, opened discussion in favor of the free text-book bill, declaring the principle of providing all equipment for schools was not carried out unless textbooks likewise were provided. She stated the books were an integral part of the school system, and should be provided by the state. Two amendments to the bill eliminating the high schools from its benefits and limits the cost per pupil to $1.50 to the state. Not all of the books will be secured the first year, the measure providing purchase by degrees, and is estimated it will require three years time to supply all required.

Opposition, led by Ralph Hamilton of Bend, was based upon the need for relief to taxpayers which was characterized as the greatest problem facing Oregon at this time. Hamilton did not oppose the principle of the measure, but said this was not the time for its enactment. Those who hit the hardest by taxes, are inconstant, he stated, by asking the legislature to reduce taxes while at the same time asking endorsement of this measure.

The fact that the bill applies only to public school children, and does not include denominational and private schools, was the reason for the negative vote by Representative John A. Thornburgh of Washington county. The fifteen members voting against the measure were representatives Fisher, Glass, Gouley, Hamilton, Helberg, McPhillips, Nash, Nichols, Oxman, Proctor, Mrs. Smith, Stewart, Thornburgh, Tompkins and Weatherford. All members were present to vote.

Anchor Hotel Seeks to Oust Slayer's Wife

Echoes of the murder of Sydney E. Darling on November 11, 1929, in the Anchor hotel kitchen, and the subsequent conviction of John G. Wright for first degree murder and his sentence to life imprisonment were heard yesterday when a suit was filed in circuit court. Anchor Hotel company, a corporation, vs. Emma Wright, charging violation of a contract entered into May 16, 1929, by the late Sydney E. Darling and Mrs. Wright, is charged. The suit seeks to evict her from the premises and collect rent and funds allegedly due.

Following his arrest after Darling was killed, John Wright said that Darling had accused his wife of misappropriation of funds and that he had threatened to eject them. He gave that as a reason for his act. The suit yesterday for ejection charges that the hotel is not run on a strictly cash basis, accurate books are not kept, not all monies collected are deposited in the bank, furniture and fixtures have not been kept in good condition, a monthly accounting has not been made, 15 per cent of the receipts have not been turned over to the corporation, the defendant has failed to pay her three-fourth's share of the improvements made, and further alleging that the lease is null and void. W. C. Van Emon is attorney for the hotel company.

New Barley Seed Available Here

Recent barley trials conducted at the Harney Experiment Station indicate that O. A. C. No. 7 barley is one of the outstanding barleys for that district, as this variety outyielded all other varieties. Arrangements have been made by the local county agent's office to secure some of this seed. Any grower wishing to try out a few acres should communicate with the county agent's office at once.

CANNOT TAKE FOODSTUFFS FOR RELIEF

Relative to the requests of a number of chapters to accept articles of food for shipment to the drought stricken areas, R. E. Arne, acting manager of the Pacific branch of the American Red Cross, advised the Klamath county chapter as follows:

"A number of chapters have requested that the Red Cross accept all or part of their quotas in foodstuffs instead of cash. It has always been contrary to Red Cross policy to do this and the reason will be evident after a moment's thought. "In the first place, each community offers the particular type of foodstuffs of which it happens to have a surplus, regardless of what the needs of the sufferers may be. If one chapter's shipment were to be accepted, it would be hard not to accept all."

"However, a much more important reason is the following: It is one of the bedrock principles of Red Cross disaster relief to purchase food in the stricken area insofar as it is possible to do so. Thus local merchants, often themselves disaster sufferers, are put on their feet and local economic conditions stabilized, instead of a bad matter being made worse by importing carloads of foodstuffs from the outside and paralyzing local trade."

"Unlike a Red Cross Roll Call, a disaster relief campaign lends itself to the raising of money through benefits, entertainments, dances, athletic events, etc. "In all cases of this kind where the Red Cross name is used, the entire proceeds must be turned over to the Red Cross. It is contrary to our policy to participate on a percentage basis. It is understood, however, that the legitimate expenses of the event may be deducted."

Local clubs or groups may desire to contribute in this way and their co-operation will be appreciated. Cash subscriptions will be received by Geo. J. Walton, 835 Main St., and Leslie Rogers, First National Bank.

Seventeen Aliens File Applications For Final Papers

Seventeen applications for final citizenship papers in the United States were filed Tuesday with the clerk of the circuit court and will come up for final hearing in September, 1931. Clerk Lloyd DeLap states that this is the largest list of applicants to file in one time that has ever come before the court here. He stated that Examiner W. Blackman of the bureau of naturalization in Portland, during his visit here, gave out the fact that Klamath Falls leads the state, outside of Portland, for the number of new citizens.

Those who filed for final papers Tuesday are: Antonio Manera, Italian, and Edward Pianta, Italian, both of whom served with the United States forces during the World War; John Quibell, English; Bertha L. A. Berg, Sweden; Annie Luderman, England; Erik Edward Berg, Sweden; Michael John O'Sullivan, Ireland; Magnus William Lundgren, Sweden; Alma Maria Fagerstrom, Finland; Carl Adolf Fagerstrom, Finland; Denis McAniff, Ireland; Victor Bark, Sweden; Teddy Edwin Shoop, Canadian; Edith Smith, England; Emanuel Emilie Mochlitz, France; Otto William Clawson, Sweden; Tekla Clawson, Sweden.

For Hard Coughs That Call For Super-Help

Creomulsion is made for coughs from colds that hang on. For coughs deep and difficult—coughs where you dare not risk a less effective help. But careful people use it for coughs which seem milder—use it to the utmost and be safe. For nobody knows where a cough may lead. Creomulsion combines seven major helps in one. Some coughs yield help to one help, some to another. Doctors often differ on the best help, for coughs are not alike. So here we combine all the best—be sure Creosote stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and made palatable. For soothing membranes and combating germs, it is considered the supreme help in this type of cough. See other helps are sometimes needed—pine tar, wild cherry, menthol, ipecac and others. Nobody can tell which help your cough will soonest yield. So experts have combined in Creomulsion all best helps in one. No narcotic, nothing harmful to a child, but a seven-way help to deal with all conditions. The price is $1.25—a little higher than a lesser help. But your drug-gist guarantees it. Your money is returned if it fails to bring the quick, complete help you desire. Don't you think it worth the little extra to be sure that you are doing the utmost for a cough? THE CALIFORNIA OREGON POWER COMPANY "Year Partners in Progress" MEDFORD, OREGON

STATEMENT OF ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DENIED

SALEM, Feb. 12, (AP)—Re-putation of the statement made during a recent prohibition hearing before an Oregon legislative committee that "when you attack the anti-saloon league, you are going up against the churches of Oregon," insofar as it applies to the churches of the Oregon Pastoral conference of the Missouri synod of the Lutheran church, is contained in a formal statement issued by the conference in session here Wednesday.

The statement signed by P. H. Schaus and Martin P. Simon, president and secretary of the conference, respectively, asserts that "as a church we take no stand either for or against prohibition, although we hold that the laws of the state are to be obeyed by all. "As citizens and as church we cherish very highly the great American principle of the separation of church and state. "We regard the agitation for prohibition laws on the part of the church bodies as a deplorable departure from this principle. "As pastors we believe that our one and only commission is the preaching of the gospel of Jesus Christ. We regard the agitation of a question of laws and statutes by the church as an unwarranted departure from its divine commission. "The church, in our opinion, ought to improve the morals of men by preaching the gospel. We hold that the making and enforcing of laws lie in the province of the state and not of the church."

California Picks Allison To Assist "Navy" Bill Ingram

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 12, (AP)—Speculation over who would assist "Navy" Bill Ingram in coaching football at the University of California was ended last night by the students' executive committee with the announcement that Leonard B. Allison, of the University of Wisconsin, and Frank Wickhorst, of the University of Iowa, had been named.

Allison, who is backfield coach at Wisconsin and assistant director of athletics, will be Ingram's first assistant. Wickhorst, line coach at Iowa, will hold a similar position under Ingram. The More Moores The More Trouble

CHICAGO, Feb. 12, (AP)—The more Moores able to stick with major league baseball clubs next season the more moaning by baseball scribes.

Seven Moores are under contract. And that's not the worst of it—three of them are James Stanford Moore of the Chicago White Sox, outfielder James William Moore of the Athletics, and outfielder James Greg Moore of the New York Giants. More Moores are: Pitcher Wilsey William Moore, Boston Red Sox; pitcher William Austin Moore, Brooklyn; outfielder Randolph Moore, Boston Braves, and outfielder John Moore of the Cubs.

If the White Sox had held on to their Moores, they would have James William and Randolph, in addition to James Stanford, the two former having worked for Charles Comiskey at one time or another. Thirty Marooned on Train in Ice Jam SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Feb. 11, (AP)—Thirty-three persons on a passenger train were marooned in the Straits of Mackinac today aboard the car ferry Chief Wawatam which became jammed in the ice last night. The ferry was southbound from St. Ignace when it became wedged in the ice of the straits three miles from Mackinaw City. Railroad officials said that the ferry Saint Marie would be sent to the vessel's aid today if it failed to free itself.

ORATORS OF K. U. HIGH WILL ENTER CONTEST

The Klamath Union high school will enter the national oratorical contest on the constitution, it was announced yesterday by Paul T. Jackson, principal. The contest is sponsored yearly in Oregon by the Oregonian, the Oregon Bar association, the University of Oregon and the schools.

No date has been set for the local contest, but it will probably be some time during the middle of March, Jackson said. Following it, will be the district contest in which winners from each county in the 12th district, embracing Klamath, Deschutes, Lake, Crook and Jefferson counties, will compete. The first year of the contest in Oregon, 1929, Wilbur Thibault of Jefferson won first place and was good enough to go on and win the coast championship at Los Angeles. The Oregonian pays the expense of all district winners in going to Portland for the state finals, the expenses of chaperons where girls are the district winners, arrangements for the state event and will pay expenses of the state victor in going to Los Angeles for the Pacific coast finals.

In case of victory at Los Angeles the Oregonian will send the Oregon representative on to Washington, D. C., and will pay the expenses to and from the east coast for the tour of Europe. All seven of the sectional winners in the country will receive the tour of Europe as the grand prize. The Klamath high school was successful in 1929 in capturing the district title when Miss Mabel Moore's talk on the constitution was judged superior to other competitors in the district. Miss Moore competed in the state contest and was given honorable mention.

Ladak Alfalfa Seed Is Secured For Use Of Valley Farmers

Upon request of several growers, a few hundred pounds of Ladak alfalfa seed was secured by the county agent's office for a few trials in Klamath county. Ladak is a particularly hardy variety of alfalfa, now being grown quite extensively in the district around Havre, Montana. It is particularly resistant to cold winters and dry summers. Trials carried on by various county agents of Oregon indicate that it might be of considerable value in Eastern Oregon in those districts where there is danger of winter killing of other varieties, and where moisture is not too plentiful.

Two trials were carried on in Klamath county in 1929 and results were quite satisfactory. A small amount of seed is still available and anyone wishing to try out a few acres can get sufficient seed from the county agent's office for this purpose.
