COMMONS HIT DRY PROPOSAL

LONDON, Feb. 13, (AP)—The house of commons, by a vote of 137 to 18, today rejected the bill which would have prohibited the use of alcoholic liquors as beverages throughout the United Kingdom.

Lady Nancy Astor, Virginia's contributin to the British house of commons, had members of that august body alternately laughing and gasping, when she took the floor in debate on the bill.

Lady Astor in a slashing and sometimes vitriolic speech, made it clear that she is against liquor, but did not believe in tackling the problem in the way suggested in the bill.

Numerous interjections were made by Lady Astor while other speakers were on their feet. She protested vigorously when the Conservative, Sir William Wayland, said Americans were drinking more under prohibition than before.

However, when she finally took the floor for her own speech, she said she could not vote for the bill because if she voted for prohibition she would not be doing what she thought was right.

"I believe in a different method, and that is local option and free option," she declared.

What puts the fluff in fluffy muffins?

It's the millions of tiny bubbles in the batter released by the cream of tartar in your Baking Powder. Unfortunately, there are cheap substitutes for cream of tartar. They make bubbles too, but not the tiny, fluffy kind. Ask any domestic science teacher, or any dietitian.

Not every baking powder contains cream of tartar, for the substitutes cost a lot less. Look on your baking powder tin. See if you can find the words "cream of tartar" anywhere. It's important!
