

Praise Given to Dairy Industry of This County

Marshal Dana Hails Industry as Basis of Prosperity in This District. Trophies Awarded to Winners.

Klamath's million dollar industry, dairying, which has grown from a dream to its present stupendous proportions in a few short years, was given added impetus at the fourth annual dairy banquet held in the Willard Hotel Friday evening under joint auspices of the Kiwanis club and the chamber of commerce. The affair has grown in importance each year and last night's dinner was one of the most successful events of its kind ever held in southern Oregon.

Records of the industry in Klamath and of the individual herds and animals were highly praised by Marshall Dana, associate editor of the Oregon Journal, principal speaker of the evening. Professor F. M. Brandt, chief of dairy husbandry, Oregon State college, toastmaster of the banquet, and Roger W. Morse, dairy extension specialist of Oregon State college, who presented awards to outstanding dairymen for records made by their herds and cows the past year.

Klamath Praised
Good humor and optimism over the future of the industry prevailed during the evening. Most of the dairy managers Klamath's million dollar industry were present as well as business men of Klamath Falls.

Percy Murray, past president of the Kiwanis club, presided and introduced Professor Brandt and the dairy business in Klamath county and remarked that a survey completed the past year shows that buttermilk can be produced in Klamath at 12 cents a pound less than in the Willamette valley. The fine hay and pasture of Klamath were cited as the reasons for the low production costs here.

Records Given
Roger Morse praised the work of dairy herd improvement associations (cow testing associations) which keep cost accounts on cows, allowing the dairyman to know "which pays and which does not pay." The National Dairy association awards diplomas to owners of herds averaging over 300 pounds of butterfat per cow a year, Mr. Morse said.

In the Klamath association last year 840 cows completed the year's test, producing 41,315,646 pounds of milk and 1,669,930 pounds of butterfat; an average of 205.9 pounds per cow for the year. Two hundred and thirty-seven cows produced more than 300 pounds of fat and 181 were sold for beef after being found unprofitable to keep.

Honor Dairymen
Dairymen honored with awards by the national association with their records the past year were introduced and complimented: M. L. Ferguson, 13 cows over 300 pounds, average 353.1; Charles Drew, 30 cows over 300 pounds, average 350.2; H. Hundy, 15 cows over 300 pounds, average 305.4; J. C. Wright, eight cows over 300 pounds, all two-year-old Holsteins, average 379.2; J. E. Storm, 12 cows over 300 pounds, average 367.4; E. F. Lemming, seven cows over 300 pounds, average 336.1; U. E. Reeder, 10 cows over 300 pounds, average 331.1; Clapp, 15 cows over 300 pounds, average 310.1; H. J. Tichnor, 11 cows over 300 pounds, average 333.5; William Williams, six cows over 300 pounds, average 301.2; C. W. Lewis, 30 cows over 300 pounds, and 55 cows milked during year, average 324.4; M. J. Loosley, five cows over 300 pounds, average 352.2; E. T. McLaughlin, nine cows over 300 pounds, average 388.3; Ray Loosley, 11 cows over 300 pounds, average 339.6.

Present Awards
Bruce Dennis, publisher of The Klamath News and The Evening Herald, presented an electric mantle clock to Charles Drew, whose herd was highest in production in the entire association during the past year. Bruce presented 9,748 pounds of fat and 390.2 pounds of fat per cow average. Mr. Drew responded by saying that he considered it a great honor particularly because of the fact that he won by such a narrow margin, reflecting great honor on the entire community.

Ernie Bubbling, president of the chamber of commerce, presented a similar award to C. W. Lewis, whose grade Holstein cow produced the greatest amount of any cow in the association the past year, 16,754 pounds of milk and 577.4 pounds of fat. Mr. Lewis thanked the chamber of commerce for the award.

Merle Loosley, whose lowest cow produced more than the lowest cow in any other herd was presented by Percy Murray in behalf of the Kiwanis club with an electric mantle clock. The grade Holstein produced 6,993 pounds of milk and 280.8 pounds of fat.

Dana Gives Address
Professor Brandt then introduced Mr. Dana, whom he stated, "unlike most editors is more familiar with the female of the bovine species than the male."

Mr. Dana in a scholarly address praised the dairy industry and pointed to the important place it occupies in Oregon and in Klamath. The railroads and highways, he said, will give arteries for the marketing of products; the timber industry he praised, but dairying is a fundamental business that builds communities.

"If you measure the values, a railroad can serve you but cannot build you beyond their service; forests can industrialize you, but cannot establish you; but out of the soil by the firmness of your hands and the staunchness of your hearts is established your fortune." Mr. Dana said.

OUTDOOR ADV. BILL LOST IN SENATE VOTE

SALEM, Feb. 21. (AP)—Although he made a determined fight for his bill against a unanimous adverse committee report, Senator R. W. Johnson was unable to convert the senate to favor his bill to prohibit advertising along public highways and the measure was indefinitely postponed in the senate.

Just prior to this the committee reported favorably on a resolution, introduced by itself, providing for an interim committee to study the subject. The committee said this was in recognition of Johnson's good intention in introducing the bill. But Johnson wouldn't accept the compliment and urged the senate to kill the resolution which it did by indefinite postponement.

Senator Gus C. Moser stood with Johnson on his bill. Senator Jay H. Upton of the highways committee declared the bill the "rottenest and most vicious" he had ever seen in the legislature. "It will put out of business all outdoor advertising concerns operating in Oregon," he said. "It will put hundreds of men out of work and deprive farmers of $175,000 a year in revenues received for ground rental. Also it prohibits even window signs in towns under 2000 population. Back of it all is a bunch of county newspapers that object to this form of advertising. True, it appears that the garden clubs are back of it, but in all cases they are inspired by newspaper editorials. Senator Johnson is not to blame. The garden clubs of his district urged it upon him, but back of them was Claude Inalls, Corvallis editor who started the movement once before. In my town it was started by the attorney for the newspaper publisher."

Moser attempted to get the bill re-referred, but the motion failed. The bill was adopted and the report indefinitely postponed.

Rubber From Sagebrush Is Calif. Valley Product

Domestic production of crude rubber in commercial quantities — long American scientists' dream—is being realized in Salinas valley, California. At the plant of the American Products Co. the first crop harvested this year will net 400,000 pounds of crude rubber suitable for all of the multitude of uses to which rubber is put. Pictures show scenes near Salinas, where the rubber is raised. Upper, left, the finished product, 200 pounds of rubber ready for shipment. Right, fields of guayule, from which rubber is extracted. Whitman College Takes Close Game From Willamette

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 21. (AP)—Whitman college defeated Willamette, 38 to 35 in the first of their crucial two-game basketball series here last night. Willamette got off to a good start, running up a score of 8 to 1 and maintained a lead of several points through half of the first period. The visitors finally found the basket and soon forged into the lead and at the half the score was 19 to 14 in their favor.

In the second half, Willamette quickly climbed to within three points of the leaders. Then Mantell, Whitman forward, and Mills, sub center, got busy and soon put the Missionaires ten points ahead. With only two minutes of play, Willamette again rallied to move within three points of their opponents. Carpenter, Whitman guard, scored a basket just as the whistle sounded, and the basket was disallowed.

REVIVAL DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

A large enthusiastic crowd attended the revival meeting now in progress at the Klamath Temple church last evening. Evangelist Mack Wyatt of Wichita, Kas., assisted by the Clark Singers, is leading the revival and an old-time Crusade against sin and all that is not righteous is being made. The fiery little preacher has been holding his congregation spell-bound night after night as he lifts up a Christ of mighty love and compassion, and one who can save the villain of sinners.

Tonight's service is one especially for young people. Each Saturday night is set aside as an old-fashioned Hallelujah service. Rev. Wyatt will speak on "How the Victory Was Lost" and invites young and old alike to come and find out all about it. The Clark singers, nationally famous as radio singers, furnish special music each night of the meeting. They quickly won the hearts of their listeners here and often when they sing, tears flow freely all through the audience. Tonight they will sing a medley of gospel choruses.

Sunday night Rev. Wyatt will speak on "The Trail of the Serpent." Extra seats have been needed each Sunday night and the building will be packed before time to start. Mr. Clark, one of the three male sopranos in America, will sing the beautiful composition, "In Love With the Lover of My Soul." Services begin at 7:30 with a fifteen minute concert by the Temple orchestra. Everyone is welcome. The church is located at Eighth and Oak streets.

Originator Finger Print System Dies

LONDON, Feb. 21. (AP)—One of Scotland Yard's greatest chiefs, Sir Edward R. Henry, who brought finger prints to their great importance in criminology, was mourned today by London "bobby" and skilled detective alike. He died during the night at the age of 80.

Sir Henry began his studies of finger prints while a member of the Indian civil service many years ago and continued research during the years he was with Scotland Yard. He established that there was only one chance in 640,000,000 of two fingerprints being identical.

His discoveries have been developed and used by police of nearly every country in the world. He was made a baronet upon his retirement in 1918.

Fire Damp Blast In Germany Proves Fatal to 25 Miners

NOTHBERG, Germany, Feb. 21. (AP)—Twenty five persons were killed and four seriously injured when a fire damp explosion occurred at a depth of 1,880 feet today in the Eschweiler coal pit near Aachen. Two or three others of a crew of eighty in the pit are missing.

Since the mine is a so-called wet-pit the explosion fortunately was localized and affected none of the nearby pits. There was not much material damage. Success of the rescue work, which nearly fifty of those in the pit were extracted safely was laid to four foremen who had just finished their shift but who, upon hearing the explosion, insisted upon descending immediately into the mine to save their comrades. Their knowledge of the pit proved invaluable.
