STICKERS
POWKI HULDA HAWAII
 A tribe of Hawaiians used the words, "POWKI HULDA" to designate the islands upon which they lived. The two words are composed of ten different letters. Each letter was used to represent a different figure. "L," for example, might represent 7. Thus "POWKI" and "HULDA" each are numbers of five figures. An explorer added these two numbers together and found that their total spelled HAWAII. Can you discover what figure each letter represents?

Stickler Answer

AT THE PINE TREE

REGINALD DENNY, SANDRA DAVES, PIFI DORSEY and YOLA D'AVRIL in "THOSE THREE FRENCH GIRLS"

Reginald Denny and Pifi Dorsey are giving a dazzling cast in "Those Three French Girls," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's captivating force of life in Gay Paree, which will open Sunday at the Pine Tree Theatre for two days. The plot of this tangle farce, concocted by Dale Van Every and Arthur Freed, is reported to contain a laugh in every reel and a howl in every line of its dialogue, which was written by P. G. Wodehouse, internationally known humorist.

The action centers about the fun-loving nephew of a British earl, played by Denny, who goes to Paris for a good time and finds it in the company of two American ex-doughboys and three charming mademoiselles. Complications occur when the nephew brings the girls to his uncle's home in the attempt to interest his rich relative in backing a modiste's shop. All would have gone well had not the uncle fallen in love with the

AT THE RAINBOW

WILLIAM HAINES and LELLA HYAMS in "WAY OUT WEST"

The adventures of a carnival barker who becomes initiated into the mysteries of cowboy life bring in the laughs in William Haines' latest talking comedy, "Way Out West," which will open Sunday at the Rainbow Theatre with a cast which includes Lella Hyams, Polly Moran, Cliff Edwards, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Vera Marsh, Charles Middleton and others.

The picture which was filmed on an Hopi Indian reservation near Gallup, New Mexico, results in a unique experience for members of the cast, namely that of working before the camera for several days in gauze masks.

The reason for this is that the plot called for the filming of a big scene during a windstorm, and as everyone who is familiar with this desert country knows, when the wind starts blowing here, sand flies through the air at the speed of bullets. Directions in the script required Haines and Miss Hyams to drive an auto out on the desert, step out and run against the wind. While actually before the camera, the players of course discarded the gauze, but the masks were resumed the instant Director Fred Niblo stopped the scene.

The fun in this scene is heightened up with misunderstood intentions, for Haines is trying to

AT THE PELICAN

Barroom brawls, spectacular rescues at sea, pounding breakers, eerie calls of fog, fo'castle bantering, shore frolics and an interesting romance give "Way for a Sailor" a background of swift action, comedy and drama.

John Gilbert plays the lead in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which will open Sunday at the Pelican Theatre and which is seen in the chief character role that of "Tripod," roughneck freighter seaman, whose rivalry with Gilbert in the matter of sweethearts results in free-for-all fights and other diverting occurrences.

The cast also includes Lella Hyams in the feminine lead; Jim Tully, the writer, in his initial screen appearance; and Polly Moran and Doris Lloyd as two of the "sweethearts."

Sam Wood in directing the picture from an adaptation of the well-known novel by Albert Richard Wetten, went after realism in his atmosphere, making most of the scenes aboard four ships chartered for the film. Other sequences are laid in various parts from England to China, and along a beautiful rocky coastline where the love scenes were enacted.

The rescues at sea by breeches buoy were staged with the cooperation of the United States coast guard, two steamers, a freighter and a passenger vessel, being used in the episode. Other scenes took place aboard a whaling ship, on the docks where ocean carriers loaded and unloaded cargoes. All of these scenes, with a few exceptions, were filmed at night and in the chilled night winds coming in from seaward, meeting at the harbor with the warm California desert air, and making the Liverpool moisture effect desired.

Particularly difficult was the recording in the fog, since the strange effect of the density of the atmosphere on sound sometimes produced echoes that distorted dialogue and sound effects beyond recording possibilities. This, however, was overcome by the use of soundboards and special microphone equipment.

Two Oregon Teams Will Clash In a Hoop Game Tonight

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 21 (A P)—Two midwest will attempt to stave off the Oregon State college attack when the Staters and University of Oregon meet on the basketball floor here tonight. Bill Reinhart, Oregon coach, announced he will start Cliff Horner and Kermit Stevens on the defense, unwilling to break up the combination which won two games from Idaho last week.

Horner and Stevens will be badly out-weighted and out-reached by the Beavers, but the two Oregon midwests are expected to make up for that in experience and clever foot-work. Vincent Dolp and Windsor Calkins will go in as forwards, with Eberhart at center. The State team will include Ballard, Fagan and Lyman, and Grayson and Merrill.

ASHLAND DEFEATS PASS GRANTS PASS, Feb. 21, (A P)—Ashland high school defeated the Grants Pass high basketball team 30 to 27 here last night.

Annual expenditures for rural highway construction and maintenance in the United States amount to about $1,500,000,000. Another $500,000,000 is spent by cities for street repairs and construction.
