DOBELESS EARS ARE SIGNS OF MINIMUM GENEROSITY

Will Change Name—
A map showing the route in Lake county of the Lakeview-Burns road is in the hands of Engineer Crowley but a change will soon be made on the map in that Poison Creek will resume its former name of Fort Creek. Poison Creek is about five miles from the Metchieks ranch. It was the only route by which Crook's army could descend from the Abert rim and it is said to have received its name because the army mules ate poisoned meat there and died. At the time the army was stationed there it was called Fort Creek.—Lakeview Tribune.
