AT THE PELICAN

with lyrics by Harold Harford. In "Song of My Heart," his first audible picture for the screen, John McCormack, the world's greatest lyric tenor, sings eleven numbers, logically introduced in the action of the delightful lyrical romance, which comes to the Pelican Theatre Sunday.

Through the medium of Fox movietone, the voice that has always been proclaimed great is considered to be made greater by the singing screen. Of the entire repertoire, "I Hear You Calling Me," "Rose of Tralee" and "Little Boy Blue," are perhaps the most appreciated numbers. "Little Boy Blue" is based on the poem by Eugene Field and set to music by Ethelbert Nevin. In singing "Little Boy Blue," Frank Borzage, who directed the concert tour, goes back to Ireland and sees that the daughter of the woman he had always loved is happily married to the young man of her choice.

In addition to Miss Joyce, the supporting company includes such favorites as Margaret O'Sullivan, J. M. Kerrigan, John Garrick, Farrell Macdonald, Effie Ellsler and Tommy Clifford.

"I Hear You Calling Me," which is so identified with the great tenor that he rarely fails to include it as an encore during his concert programs, is a composition of Charles Marshall.

occasion, and always understandable. The performance of Barbara Stanwyck is one of the most brilliant since the coming of the talking picture. She is so wholesomely feminine, so frankly bewildered by her "theories" and so appealing in appearance and manner that she unwittingly dominates every scene whether present or absent.

"AT THE RAINBOW" "Hollywood's most perfect legs" make their bow in "The Golden Call," Fox Movietone comedy with music, coming Sunday to the Rainbow Theatre.

While Sue Carol, possessor of the famous limbs, has been featured in a dozen outstanding productions, this is the first time that her shapely limbs have been exploited.

As a model for Jack Mulhall, Greenwich Village advertising artist, Miss Carol displays her perfect legs in posing for a hosiery ad.

"The Golden Call" is a gay story of bohemian life among artists and their models in New York's famous Greenwich Village, and the staging of the Illustrators' Ball gives opportunity to introduce several spectacular musical numbers.

El Brendel, Marjorie White, Richard Keene and Paul Page also are prominently cast.

MEXICO GOLD RUSH MEXICO CITY—Mexico is experiencing a gold rush near San Ignacio, in the state of Sinaloa. A landslide, caused by earthquakes and heavy rains, unearthed a quantity of gold nuggets near the town. Hundreds of people rushed to the scene and have started placer mining.
