NURSES WILL HEAR SADIE ORR DUNBAR

Plans are nearing completion for the regional meeting of southern Oregon nurses to be conducted in Klamath Falls Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17. More than 25 nurses from adjoining counties and representatives from the state bureau of nursing in Portland will attend. The public is invited to the discussions.

Sadie Orr Dunbar, executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, Ann Raymond, field representative of the cleanliness institute and Louise Cottrell, chairman of the Oregon state child welfare commission, will be principal speakers.

Other speakers will be Mrs. Minnette C. Twist, state field nurse; Miss Janet Moffat, Deschutes county nurse; Miss Gertrude Breyer, Jackson county nurse; Miss L. Grace Holmes, director of surveys and clinics, Oregon Tuberculosis association, and Mrs. Isabelle Brinker, rural school supervisor of Klamath county.

IDENTITY OF INJURED VAGRANT IS LACKING

Although his identity is not yet established, the huge vagrant who was brought into the Hillsdale hospital early Saturday morning with severe cranial fractures after a drunken brawl, is believed to be recovering. He has periods of semi-consciousness, according to hospital authorities, and his general condition is said to be good.

Because he has muttered the name "Victor Inghall" several times, doctors and nurses believe it to be his own, although they have no proof of this. John McDonald, who is alleged

Ask:— any teacher of cooking

Ask her this:— Which do you prefer—a cream of tartar baking powder or one of the substitutes? The substitutes are cheap in price. But many pure food departments—most dietitians—and most domestic science teachers, definitely prefer cream of tartar. Whether the difference be slight or great—there IS a difference, and Schilling prefers the kind that is beyond question. So would you, if you knew the facts.
