

REVISION OF CITY RULINGS IS UNDER WAY

Police Judge Roy Fouch, informed the council in his annual report that he has been doing work on suggested revisions of present city ordinances and will soon offer the changes to the city council.

In speaking of the work of the past year he stated that the city administration has saved the people $1,505.04 over the amount budgeted in the handling of the current expense funds. The chief saving is in the street fund and the worst overdraft is in the general fund.

The police judge has collected during the past year my office has handled 1435 cases compared with 1789 during 1930. We have ten cases pending and one pending on appeal. One appeal was made to the Circuit Court with this result that the decision of the Police Court was upheld. We have had five jury trials during the year. There was a noticeable falling off in collection of fines during the year. During 1931 traffic cases were carried on regular complaints, which was not done during 1930, Fouch said.

"In the accounting department there was less routine work than was expected and we have been able to install and bring up to date an improvement ledger and complete city property records and finish a property index to lien dockets. We have refunded to the credit of property holders the sum of $66,858.34 from excess assessments on paving and sewer units.

"Lien collections were satisfactory for 1931 there being a delinquency of 80 per cent of the accounts now due on the dockets. I wish to call the attention of the Council to the necessity of constant following up of collections during the ensuing year and propose that about March 15th someone be employed to undertake about a three months program of collections on items that will become delinquent at that time. Due to cutting off of help in my department we will not be able to give this the proper attention and it requires special knowledge to handle this work in order that good rather than bad results may be obtained. We will be able to cover all routine collections but there are 17,000 items to handle and over 4,000 receipts to issue as routine work which will not leave any help available for extra work.

Examination of titles to allow in the city is also needed and should be done by a competent and qualified man and could be done by the same man who collects delinquent liens, Fouch believes.

Statements of expenditures and balances in the various funds, of funds received and other data are included in Fouch's report which is on file in his office in the city hall.

He concludes his report with four blue print graphs showing comparisons between total arrests and arrests for liquor violations; the monthly income in fines from 1927 to date; the comparative increase in expense funds from 1915 to 1931 inclusive; and cash balances by quarters from 1925 to 1932.

Protests Against Dailey Are Filed With Police Judge

The protest of Wallace Stitch, brick contractor, and R. W. Smith, brick yard merchant, against Harry Dailey, city building inspector, was filed with Police Judge Roy Fouch at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon by E. L. Elliott, attorney for Stitch and Smith.

No date has been set for the hearing of charges against Dailey as Mayor Cofer is absent from the city.

RELIEF WORK GETS BOOST FROM SALES

A unique drive to secure funds for relief work will be started Saturday by the Golden Rule Store. For one week, 15 per cent of all the store's earnings will be given to relieve distress in the county.

Each purchaser who spends $1 at the Golden Rule relief sale is entitled to one vote for his favorite charitable organization, either the Governor's Relief Committee, Parent Teachers Association or the Salvation Army. Votes will be counted, and the organization receiving the largest vote will be presented with the entire contribution donated by the Golden Rule.

J. W. GOSS WINS COMPENSATION SUIT

A verdict favoring James W. Goss in his trial against the State Industrial Accident commission, was returned by the jury late Thursday afternoon. Goss sued the commission for compensation for permanent disability as the result of injury to his leg and hip sustained in a fall while he was in the employ of the Ewauna Box company.

The jury returned a special verdict in which they asked and answered four questions. Oscar A. Smith, foreman, reported that the jury decided that Goss was entitled to compensation. The plaintiff was represented by A. W. Schupp, local attorney, while Attorney Jackson of the State Industrial commission and Miles McKey, assistant attorney general for the state of Oregon, conducted the defense. Circuit Judge Duncan presided.

Court Considering Freedom of Press

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 8, (UP)—The Kentucky appellate court tonight took under advisement a dramatic case involving questions of freedom of the press and a judge's power to punish for contempt. In a court room packed to suffocation, Kentucky's highest tribunal listened to debate between Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, representing the Knoxville (Tenn.) News-Sentinel, and Allen Prewitt of Frankfort, Ky., representing Judge Henry R. Prewitt, who recently barred a News-Sentinel reporter from his court.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS
A short meeting of the county school board was held in County Superintendent Fred Peterson's office Thursday afternoon. Claims were paid against the district, bills passed for payment and other routine business taken care of. The next meeting will be held in January.
