

20-30 CLUBS TO SPONSOR TRACK MEET

Carrying out a plan suggested by graduate managers of the University of Oregon and Oregon State college to encourage sectional track meets in various parts of the state, members of the Twenty-Three club of Klamath Falls met Sunday morning with Principal Jackson and others of the high school to make plans for a northern California and southern Oregon meet, to be held in Klamath Falls.

The track and field meet will be sponsored by the Twenty-Three club in this district and all towns in northern California, as far south as Redding, Bluff and Susanville, and in southern Oregon as far north as Burns, will be invited to participate.

The date has been tentatively set for the second Saturday in May, a week advance of the state track meet.

The student body of the local high school will contribute $50 toward the expenses of the track meet, which will take place on the Modoc athletic field. Each 25-30 club in the district will donate $10.

Ralph Hill, University of Oregon track star and holder of the world's mile-run record, attended Sunday's meeting and assisted in formation of plans. Joe Knudson is chairman of the executive committee for the track meet.

R. E. Bradbury, member of the governor's relief committee, urged assistance of the Twenty-Three club in encouraging continuance of employment relief work when he spoke before the club Monday noon at the Willard hotel.

Bradbury told of methods of state departments in alleviating unemployment, particularly thru the road work program and told of the need to keep the various relief projects going.

The speaker also asked members of the club to get behind the movement of covering the government canal which runs through the residential sections of the city and asked that they form a committee to study the bill by R. E. Patterson and Mrs. Wallace Uerling, accompanied by Ruth May Chilcote.

Dr. F. C. Troutman was chairman of Monday's meeting. Entertainment was offered in the form of a skit by R. E. Patterson and Mrs. Wallace Uerling, accompanied by Ruth May Chilcote.

Plans were outlined for a joint meeting with the Kiwanis club early in February. Announcement of the date to be held in the Willard Hotel ballroom Feb. 6 to purchase trophies for the annual Crater Lake ski races was made.

Leslie Wright, Alois Miller and E. N. Hannan were guests of the club.

that district were open, however, and in good shape.

The snowplow crew worked all night Saturday clearing snow. The highway through the high pass at Sun creek was open and in good shape, and the road to the ski jump opened Sunday morning, Castel reported. Motorists are advised to use chains.

CASCADE SUMMIT, Ore., Jan. 18. (Special).—Cascade Summit, which has an elevation of nearly 5,000 feet, is buried in 92 inches of snow. Snow fell almost continually all week, leaving over 35 inches of new snow.

The Southern Pacific company has used its rotary snow plow to keep the main line open for traffic. The rotary is a large engine with a big fan in front which scoops up the snow and throws it far as 200 feet. It has not been necessary for the S. P. Co. to use the rotary the last two winters.

Cascade Summit is located in the northwestern part of Klamath county. In the Deschutes forest reserve.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 18. (P).—Increasing downpours in northwestern Oregon, and less violent storms over other sections of the state sent streams boiling through their channels and vanished much of the snow that had fallen in the western part within the past week.

The driving, persistent rains brought the week-end total in Portland to 1.56 inches. Showers were predicted for today and Tuesday, with no material change in temperatures.

The storm was not confined to Oregon and was general from northern California to British Columbia in various degrees.

The accompanying wind whipped up a choppy sea off coast last night but the storm had moderated today.

Officials of the Southern Pacific railroad said that although they had reports of torrential rains over the Portland division, all trains are on time. Other railroads had no reports of washouts.

Airways reports showed a general rain up and down the coast route, and freezing rain between Hood River and Pasco on the Columbia Gorge route. Light to moderate snow was falling between Meacham and Weiser.

Several slides were reported on Multnomah county highways today. None was serious.

Two feet of water covered East 82nd Street at the railroad crossing south of the Multnomah-Clackamas county line.

The Willamette was reported rising above Portland.

WEATHER

The Cyclopedia of Weather at Underwood's Pharmacy, after reaching a high of 30 yesterday now shows the barometric pressure upon the down-grade again. If the trend continues, more rain, or snow, will follow.

The Cyclopedia recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures today as follows:

High 42, low 33.

Forecast for next 24 hours: Unsettled, with conditions favorable for rain or snow. Not much change in temperatures.

GOLDEN RULE HELP FOR NEEDY LAUDED

Ensign C. Ford of the Salvation Army on Monday issued a statement thanking the Golden Rule store and the general public for the assistance given the army through the Golden Rule's charity sale week, during which 15 per cent of the store's income was given to relief work.

The statement follows: "We wish to sincerely thank Ed Vannice, owner and the local Golden Rule store, for his generous offer of 15 per cent of the total sales over a week's period of time, to some charity organization for their work among the needy of our community. To our remembrance or knowledge no such plan of giving has before been tried.

Conditions have been such that the Salvation Army relief work would have come to a close February 1, or before, because of supplies being exhausted, had not the patronage of the Golden Rule store, and friends of the Salvation Army come to the rescue of our local work. We estimate that the check for more than $200 from the Golden Rule store will enable us to continue our relief work on the 15 unemployed families of Klamath county for a 30-day period or more, and for their sake we are more than thankful for the confidence vote in the work of the Salvation Army, thankful to Ed Vannice, owner of the Golden Rule store, who thought of the idea, to the patrons and friends who cast their votes in favor of the Salvation Army. We shall be faithful to the trust and confidence shown in us, and hope to meet the needs of the families of the people of Klamath Falls in the future; for only as the people respond to our needs, just to that extent will we be able to help and care for the poor and needy around us, in giving the relief work on the 15 unemployed families of Klamath county for their dependents. Again we say thank you to all concerned."

Dr. F. C. Troutman was chairman of Monday's meeting. Entertainment was offered in the form of a skit by R. E. Patterson and Mrs. Wallace Uerling, accompanied by Ruth May Chilcote.

MARIJUANA'S PART IN LAW BREAKING TOLD

tigation that an effort is being made by marihuana vendors to induce youngsters to become addicts. This is usually done around public dance halls and other places where young people gather and lounge about.

"This narcotic can be and has been cultivated and grown locally, the largest operation in the state having been located at St. Helens, Ore., during the fall of 1931. Growing marihuana from 150 acres was seized and destroyed by the state police at this time, and the grower arrested and convicted under a state law that makes it a felony to cultivate, possess or sell marihuana or any of its derivatives.

"Fifty pounds of the narcotic have been found and destroyed in Klamath county during the past two years," Gillenwaters stated.

Marihuana is the Mexican term for Cannabis Indica, according to Gillenwaters' discussion of the narcotic. It is also known as Cannabis Americana, Cannabis Mexicana, and in the east it is known as Charras, Gunga, Hasheesh, Bhango or Siddi, and is known by a variety of names in Continental Europe. It is an annual herb, from the hemp plant, and the drug is derived from the flowering tops of the female plant.

Its use as a narcotic has been known since 1000 A. D., according to Gillenwaters' historical explanation. It was known in ancient times to the Egyptians, and is at present in wide use in that country, filling the place that opium does in China, and alcohol in America and Europe.

Smoked as Cigarette The popular way to use marihuana is to gather the flowering tip of the hemp plant and roll them into a cigarette. The smoke of these cigarettes is inhaled, and a favorite method is for the user to draw the smoke into the mouth, then blow it out against the cupped hands and inhale it.

"In many respects, action of marihuana is similar to that of alcohol or morphine," Gillenwaters continued. "Its toxic effect are ecstasy, merriment, uncontrollable laughter, self-satisfaction, bizarre ideas lacking in continuity, and its results are extreme hyperactivity with occasional attacks of nausea and vomiting."

"It has also been described as producing, in moderate doses, anything from a mild intoxication to a dead drunk, a drowsy and semi-comatose condition, lapsing into a dreamy state, with a rapid flow of ideas of a sexual nature, ending in deep sleep, interrupted by dreams. It is commonly used as an aphrodisiac, and is an ideal drug to cut off inhibitions quickly."

"At the present time, the underworld has been quick to realize the value of the drug in subverting the will of human beings, and its use as a narcotic is sweeping away all restraint, and to its influence may be attributed many present day crimes. It has been the experience of the police and prosecuting officials in this county that immediately before the commission of many crimes the use of marihuana cigarettes has been indulged in by criminals, as to relieve themselves from the natural restraint which might deter them from the commission of criminal acts, and to give the false courage necessary to commit the contemplated crime."

As a final admonition to people generally, District Attorney Gillenwaters stated that the practice of allowing youngsters to attend public dances and other illicit gathering places with supervision was making the problem for law enforcement officers much more difficult.

Mortgage Delivery Order Is Prayed

Suit has been filed in circuit court by Frank J. Mayfield and wife against Earl S. Standlee and wife. The plaintiff alleges that he entered into an agreement with the defendants by which the defendants were to purchase a certain piece of land paying $5,000 cash and giving a mortgage for $5,450.

Mayfield further alleges that the defendants have failed to make, execute and deliver said mortgage, and asks a court order compelling them to do so. D. R. Vandenberg, local attorney, represents the plaintiffs.

Mexican Treasure Rivals King Tut's financed by private funds to which the late Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was a contributor, discovered the cemetery within the fortified walls several weeks ago.

The tomb's doorway had been sealed from the inside, and the burial party evidently left thru the ceiling, which had been deftly covered over to prevent discovery. Quick realization of value of the find was followed by greatest secrecy in its removal for safekeeping to the Bank of Mexico vault. It was only then that the discovery was made public.

A move already is under way to keep the discovery intact and house it in a museum which will be opened here in April on the four hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city of Oaxaca.

Case said today that although a treasure worth millions was found, excavation work must be curtailed at once because the find is becoming depleted, and the mission can look for no aid at present from the government treasury.

At Bowling Green Jack Warren, roadside proprietor was accused of the shotgun slaying of Hugh Beckham. Authorities said Warren shot Beckham in an attempt to break up an argument between Beckham and another customer.

Chinese Casualties In Battles Run High

ties. These were only the three most important clashes listed in the announcements.

One Japanese officer was killed and three men wounded in the Yinkow battle.

The largest of yesterday's battles was at Yantai, a coalmining center 25 miles south of here. A Japanese infantry battalion, fighting machine guns, artillery and airplanes clashed with 500 Chinese.

The fighting lasted 40 minutes. The first official report said the Chinese were "almost completely annihilated."

The battalion returned here afterward. A gang of coolies was hired to dispose of the bodies of the dead.

The wounded were taken to Japanese hospitals. Those who recover will be turned over to the Chinese authorities for what probably will be certain execution.

The bodies of 30 Chinese dead were left in a village 10 miles west of Tungliang. Reports were received that 1,000 Chinese were looting the village and an infantry company was sent from Tungliang. Twenty-two prisoners were taken in this battle.

At Yangkow a part of a Japanese infantry regiment stationed there engaged several hundred Chinese. It was here the Japanese officer was killed and the three Japanese soldiers wounded.

The Chinese dead was given as "a considerable number."

A brigade sent to smash the irregulars in the Shihui district Saturday returned to Chinchow and reported its mission completed.

For Coughs Too Deep To Risk A Lesser Help

Cremulsion was made to deal with coughs and colds which hang on. A three-day cough is a danger signal. There the utmost should be done.

But a trifling cough may develop into something deep and difficult. Don't you think it wise to use the utmost help, even a lesser help might do?

Cremulsion combines seven major helps in one. The seven best helps known to medical science. One is best for one type of cough, one for others. Nobody can tell in advance. So the best way seems to be to combine all in one prescription.

Cremulsion stands first. Here it is blended, emulsified and tasty. For soothing membranes and combating cold germs, the world knows nothing better. But some coughs best yield to white pine tar, some to wild cherry bark, some to menthol, some to ipecac, etc. So we combine all these factors at their best in a single formula.

For some coughs Cremulsion is better than you need. One of its factors might do. But don't you feel safer when a minor cough is treated in the utmost way?

If so, get Cremulsion. It costs a little more than lesser helps. But your druggist guarantees it. He returns your money if you are disappointed. You will feel safer in any cough if this master help combats it. Use it promptly.
