Contracts, unsigned, are drifting back into baseball of-fices. Undoubtedly it is but a pre-training season gesture of protest, and the same faces

That "spectacular" Shark Schmeling fight, which will Schmeling fight, which will be ballyhooed as warmly as the hettest day in June, will be less sincers than the possibilities of a mir between Klamath Falls' Steamboat Jackson and Colorado's Pete Becker. There is nothing natural about this fight next summer.

And best of all for Klamath Falls, Herb Owen, calling from Eugene Friday night, said he, too was "hot" for this go between Becker and Steamboat, and as soon as the situation.

and as soon as the situation is favorable the fight fans here are going to get it.

"As soon as things are invorable" means this: The next fight card for the Legion hall already has been lined up, automatically barring the opportunity of an early fight between these two residents of Klamath Falls who are out for the full favor of popularity. Young Doc Snell, that whirling little piece of humanity who put away that other furious bit of boxing fleeh, Buddy Ambrose, Salem, will meet a grand battling Fillipine veteran, Young Nationalists, in the main event.

Owen already has signed an opponent for Becker, and then, when this is over, the way will be a little more clear for the Steamboat's ambitions.

the Steamboat's ambitions,

Becker is the sort of athlete in condition day in and day out. Fighting and wrestling are his business and everything he does contributes to his success in the ring and on the mat. Steamboat probably isn't in the ring as often as Becker, and since this fight airendy has claimed the sporting eyes of Kiamah Falls, Jackson must go to work to make it what it should and what it can be.

Becker is convinced, Steam-Becker is convinced, steamboat is convinced, and now Matchmaker Owen is convinced—that makes it unanimous. Owen's conviction, however, carried some reservations. After all, he is the promoter, and be should know what is what when it comes to scheduling boxins programs. His two cards, one wrestling and the other hoxing have turned out sufficient guarantees for the future.
Owen wants Jackson to go to work now in preparation for the possible fight.

has moved up to the six-round limit for the next fight card, February 1. Jackson promo-tion will bring him against Bud McCloud of Vancouver, Wash.

Jack Dempsey, still struggling along the "comeback trail," has announced or rather the city of Rene has announced—a fight for next July. Prime Carnera has been suggested as Dempsey's first major opponent. And somebody said Dempsey was looking for a real test!
