

WOLFE DENIES ANY PART IN BANK ROBBERY

where he hoped to open a gasoline receiving station.

Wolfe accounted for his movements at all times during the day of November 12, and declared that he attended a theatre in the evening, at the time he was alleged to have met Nordstrom, Bradley and Slim and to have secured his cut of the bank loot.

The defendant stated that he did not use his automobile any time that evening.

A great quantity of testimony was introduced by Wolfe, and the defendant was brought up sharply by the presiding judge, W. M. Duncan, and admonished to relate only pertinent facts.

Wolfe told of his arrest on the night of November 12, and stated that he had retired and was asleep when the officers came for him. He said that Sheriff Low was "very excitable," and that he used a good deal of strong language.

The defendant told of all moneys he had received since September 1, and explained that the money found under his bed at the time of his arrest was part of his and that the rest belonged to other persons.

ALIBI QUOTE ON

Direct questioning of Wolfe occupied over an hour in circuit court Tuesday morning, and cross-examination began shortly before noon.

Deputy Attorney Van Vactor conducted the cross-examination, and was questioning the defendant in regard to his so-called alibi when court adjourned at noon.

Upon the courts ruling that it was inadvisable, Bradley's signed statement to officers was read to the jury by Van Vactor Wednesday morning. In this statement Bradley implicated Wolfe in the robbery, and corroborated Nordstrom's testimony against the defendant. The statement was given to officers after the arrest of the youthful bandits. Bradley testified in court, however, that the George Wolfe on trial was not the same person mentioned in his contention. Nordstrom identified Wolfe as the man who was alleged to have planned the robbery.

Mrs. Leland Oley, M. H. Munsey and a welder employed at the Oley shop were called as defense witnesses before Wolfe took the stand. All testified that they had seen Wolfe on the morning of November 12, and purchased 11 gallons of gasoline. They fixed the time of the purchase at about 11:45 in the morning.

A sensation in the Wolfe trial came Tuesday, when the gun used in the hold-up was exploded in the court room by Robert H. Craddock, Portland ballistics expert, startling jurymen, witnesses, attorneys, the defendant and court room spectators.

The explosion, planned by the expert, caused an uproar and delayed the trial for several minutes while the dignity of the judge, et al, was restored.

Craddock, standing stepped off the stand and fired a shot into the platform to demonstrate the imprint made upon the primer. The shell lodged in the wall back of the witness stand.

None was as startled as W. P. Myers, defense counsel, and Wolfe, the defendant.

Following the exhibition the trial resumed and before Tuesday afternoon's session ended the state rested its case. The statement of Robert Bradley, a signed confession obtained on November 21 in the Klamath county jail, will be admitted into the testimony Wednesday morning, according to a ruling handed down by Judge W. M. Duncan. The statement will validate Bradley's previous testimony in which he failed to identify the George Wolfe on trial as the Wolfe who allegedly planned the bank robbery.

St. Combs, who identified Wolfe as the man he saw in Bonanza November 12 immediately after the bank robbery, John Chastain, Marion Barnes, Klamath county officer who was in Bonanza on the day of the robbery, Theodore Worken, Nate Russell, Jesse Young, James Hall and Sheriff Lloyd Low were other witnesses called by the state's attorneys, T. R. Gillenwaters, district attorney, and D. E. Van Vactor, deputy, Tuesday afternoon.

Year Moratorium Favored by Mead

5 per cent crop value proposed by the districts.

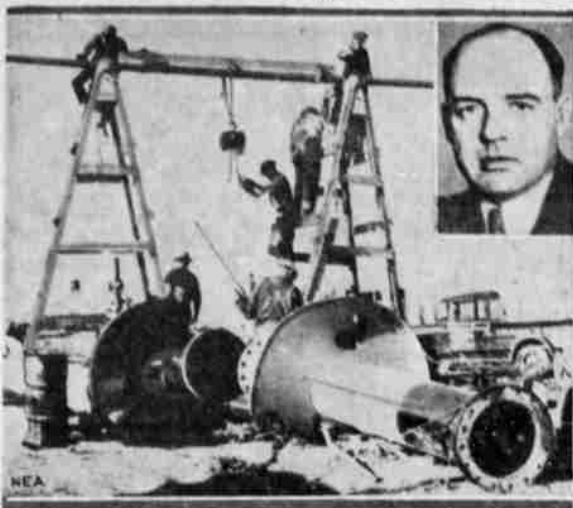

Mead said he believed the committee was turning toward the one-year moratorium idea with 50 per cent reductions for the ensuing two years for those that needed help.

He said some sort of relief is necessary, objecting to a three-year moratorium on the ground it is not required and would arouse hostility outside the districts.

Proof of Fine Beef Grown In Klamath Country Given; Packing Plant Trip is Told

Proof that Klamath raises some of the finest beef in the nation was shown a Herald and News reporter Wednesday when the Sanitary Packing company was visited and the doors of the large refrigerator were opened. Among the exhibits was a steer purchased from D. E. Alexander. The animal, only a little over two years old, dressed out $28 pounds, 71 per cent of its live weight, and the reporter was informed by Carl Steinsieffer, owner of the packing company, that 84 per cent is a good percentage for a beef to "dress out." The beef was still fed from the time it was a calf and in its first year was "show beef" at fairs and exhibitions.

The two large halves of the beef were hanging in the first refrigerator room, not as cold as the second. The halves were blanketed or "shrouded" as the butchers say. A canvas which just fit the side of beef was pinned on the outside. When the blanket is put on it is dampened and the meat allowed to steam, making the outer surface, where the hide has been removed, smooth and bringing out the natural colors of the meat, white, red or whatever color it naturally is, because all blood is drawn from the meat.

Announcement of the purchase of 330 head of yearling Herefords from William Kittredge of Tule Lake was made by Steinsieffer Wednesday. This is the largest lot of Klamath grown beef ever purchased for local consumption and they were bought in competition with buyers for Bay City packing houses and meat companies. They were grain fed and fattened for market and the grower sacrificed some in price.

SNOW HITS OREGON BUT HIGHWAYS OPEN

planes were forced down here by weather.

Twelve inches of new snow fell last night on Sun mountain on the Dallas-California highway, according to reports from the local office of the state highway department. Nine inches was reported at Hayden mountain on the Greensprings highway, seven inches at Chemult on the Dallas-California highway, and several inches on Quartz mountain on the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway.

Three quarters of an inch of fresh snow fell in Klamath Falls and vicinity Tuesday night, and was whipped into shallow drifts by a howling wind.

All highways are open, and reported to be in good condition. Careful driving is urged upon all motorists, and chains are necessary in some localities, according to the daily road report issued by the chamber of commerce.

The local weatherman forecasts generally fair and cooler weather for the next 24 hours, while predictions from the state weather bureau in Portland are for unsettled weather tonight and Thursday, with temperatures below normal.

The minimum temperature recorded for today was 17 degrees above zero.

ILLNESS OF JUROR HALTS JUDD TRIAL

ter, in frock coat and clerical collar, brought a look of warmth into the accused woman's countenance for the first time in the eight days of her trial for the slaying of Agnes Anne Laro.

She blinked her eyes rapidly to keep back tears when her father beamed at her from the witness chair.

Mr. McKinnell testified to a strain of insanity in the McKinnell line, and named five of its victims.

"My father's mother, living in Scotland," he said, "lost her mind—became insane."

"My father's brother Joseph, at about 18 or 19, lost his mind and remained insane 'till death."

"My sister's son seemed at times queer. He would run off from school—what he called 'play hockey'."

"Is he," asked Paul Schenck of defense counsel, "living or dead?"

"He is dead."

"Where did he die?"

"He died at Bisbee, Ariz."

"At what age?"

"He was 27 years old."

"Do you know the cause?"

"It was reported to us he died a suicide."

"What was the common report in the family regarding him?"

"It was generally considered by the family that he died insane."

He named, as had his wife, who testified before him, two second cousins of Winnie Ruth, one of whom had died in an insane asylum at Peoria, Ill., and the other of whom, not now confined, was considered by the family to be "queer."

The elderly, grey-haired mother of Mrs. Judd laid the foundation for the insanity plea yesterday afternoon.

Slowly, and with frequent outbursts of tears, the mother revealed the erratic career of her daughter, which was climaxed with the alleged murders of two women who had been Mrs. Judd's closest friends.

Mrs. McKinnell laid bare family secrets—the youthful hallucinations of Mrs. Judd that she was a mother, her daughter's affairs with young men and the fact that there had been insanity in the family.

JOHNSON HURLS WARM CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (P)—Senator Johnson charged before the senate finance committee today that Chilean bonds sold to American investors are in technical default because revenues were diverted to the Comch Nitrate syndicate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (P)—The senate finance committee dug into the financial affairs of Cuba today and learned that a son-in-law of President Machado had a part in a $59,000,000 loan made to that country by the Chase National bank.

Carl J. Schmidlapp, a vice-president of the bank, said $500,000 had gone to Jose Obregon as an official of the Chase company's Cuban branch for distribution to the banks that took part in the loans.

PORTLAND, Jan. 27. (P)—Storage movement of eggs is due to start within the coming week although the early movement into cooler is expected to be of nominal volume.

With the last report of the United States department of agriculture showing a total of but 2,880 cases on the coast compared with 5,807 cases for the same period a year ago, the season for old holdings is practically at an end. Portland holdings are a mere handful as are other holdings along the coast except Seattle and Los Angeles. Of the total supply of 2,880 cases in the leading markets, Seattle and Los Angeles hold 2,753 cases.

There was no change in the trend of the butter market for the day. On the open market cubes are moving out freely at the full list price. Especially strong tone is reflected for undergrades.

Fake Warrant Used In Murder Case

This is a picture of the fake warrant which is alleged to have lured Joseph Kahahawai, young Hawaiian, to his death in Honolulu. The warrant was reported to have been shown to him by persons who induced him to go to an automobile in front of the Hawaiian capital's judiciary building—the last time his friends saw him alive. Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society woman, and three U. S. navy men have been arrested in connection with the murder of Kahahawai.

BATTLE TO QUASH INDICTMENTS ON

Pearl Harbor, who enlisted from New Bedford, Mass.

Separate accusations. In the indictments each was accused of killing Joseph Kahahawai, young Hawaiian who had been one of the defendants in the trial following the attack on Mrs. Massie.

When it was learned that the grand jury had refused to support the police charges of first degree murder, James Gilliland, city and county attorney, Governor Lawrence Judd and Attorney General Harry Hewitt assembled for a private conference to decide whether Lieut. Massie, Lord and Jones should be turned over to the navy department for trial.

Under the original "gentlemen's agreement" between naval and civil authorities, it was agreed the navy should try any of its personnel charged with anything less than a capital offense.

Mrs. Fortescue and the three navy men were arrested on charges of first degree murder, an offense that would have carried the penalty of hanging upon conviction.

The grand jury decided, however, after lengthy consideration of the case, that the indictments should list a crime of lesser degree, and consequently the death penalty cannot be asked at the trial of the four defendants, which is expected to start within a month.

There had been plain indications of dissension among the jurors, 15 of whom are Americans.

Testimony Received. They received testimony of 25 witnesses last Thursday and Friday. Then, after deliberations (Continued on Page Eight) lasting two hours, they agreed

Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist northern drive menaced Shanghai. The British have a similar force. The United States troops began to erect barbed wire entanglements along the boundaries of the settlement during the afternoon. British and American authorities emphasized, however, that the action was "purely precautionary."

Invasion Awaited

The Chinese forces showed a determined attitude to bottle up the city, and began open efforts to meet a possible invasion. They established military patrols outside the city in a long line encircling both the foreign and Chinese areas. The line began on the southwest at the garrison headquarters on the Whangpoo river, some five miles outside the city limits continuing in a northeasterly direction west of the city and terminating at Woosung where the Whangpoo empties into the Yangtze, enveloping Shanghai between the line of troops and the Whangpoo.

The number of troops was not accurately known. Estimates ran from 4,000 to 15,000, but 10,000 was considered more nearly correct.

FIRM STAND LIKELY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (P)—A firmer stand in the far eastern situation than any which has so far been taken by the United States was being considered today by Secretary Stimson.

The secretary declined to discuss the Shanghai situation being saying he was devoting serious attention to it.

Predict Definite Move

How far the United States will go in the tense situation there was not indicated, but some officials predicted a move of a very definite character might be taken.

The secretary has consulted Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador. A joint Anglo-American move to protect their interests was considered possible. Japan has given the Chinese until tomorrow at 5 a. m. Washington time, to accede to her demands, that the Chinese cease their boycott of Japanese goods.

Japan's Plans

TOKYO, Jan. 27. (P)—Japan's tentative plans for dealing with China include the possibility of demanding that Nanking dissolve anti-Japanese associations throughout China, it was authoritatively stated today.

Such a step hinges apparently upon the outcome of the Shanghai incident, and it was said the Chinese mayor of that city probably would make a definite reply to Japan's demands by tomorrow night.

Among other measures, an economic blockade of Shanghai harbor has been considered.

SHANGHAI, (Thursday), Jan. 28. (P)—Chinese reports early this morning said the municipal government had ordered the bureau of public safety to close the local branch of the National Salvation society, an anti-Japanese organization whose dissolution has been demanded by Japan.

argument. Dyer allegedly struck his wife three or four times on the face and body when Neely attempted to settle the squabble peacefully. Dyer stabbed him with a pocket knife, the blade penetrating two inches into the right side of his back, officers said. Neely contends Dyer first attempted to hit him with a car pump.

Dr. Peden of Chillicothe was called and attempted to take Neely to a nearby hospital. Neely's condition was so critical the doctor did not expect him to live. Heavy snow impeded the car, and they were forced to re-

SWOLLEN RIVERS FLOOD LOWLANDS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 27. (P)—Swollen tributaries of the Lower Mississippi today rolled over the lowlands of three states.

So far the Mississippi delta has been hardest hit, but sections of Arkansas and Louisiana also have felt the water's force.

Today the fight in the Mississippi delta was concentrated at Helona, in Humphreys county, where 100 convicts worked to build protecting levees against the Yazoo river.

The Red Cross cared for some 2,500 refugees at Charleston, Miss., and relief work went ahead in the Tallahatchie valley in the vicinity of Glendora, Miss., where thousands have been routed from their homes.

Agricultural Fund Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (P)—The house today passed the $175,000,000, making appropriations for the agriculture department and sent it to the senate.

Passage came a few minutes after the house had rejected a proposal to reduce by 5 per cent the personnel of the agricultural department.

As passed by the house the bill carried $175,493,814, over $10,000,000 below the budget estimates and $60,000,000 below last year's appropriation.

Turn to the Neely home. The loss of blood was great and an internal hemorrhage feared.

Dyer was held on an open charge until Deputy District Attorney Hardin C. Blackmer made an investigation Tuesday night and a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was filed. He was lodged in the Chillicothe jail Tuesday night and will be brought to Klamath county Wednesday.

PEG: Imagine it! A nice girl like Anne wearing her underthings a second day.

FRAN: And she's so dainty in other ways...

PEG: Of course, she's awfully busy—

FRAN: But our way is so quick and easy! It just floats out the perspiration acids and odors... why doesn't she

Protect daintiness this simple 4-minute way:

All day long underthings absorb perspiration. To avoid offending, dainty women wash them in Lux after every wearing. Lux is especially made to remove perspiration acids and odors completely, yet to protect colors and fabrics. And it takes only 4 minutes, or less!

Wash this 4-minute way:

1. One tablespoon of Lux does all one day's underthings—stockings, too.
2. Squeeze suds through garment, rinse twice, shake out.

Wash after each wearing for perspiration acids left in silk fade colors and rot the threads. With Lux it takes only a few minutes—less time than it takes to wash your face and hands.

Never rub dainty lingerie with cake soap. Rubbing tends to streak colors and weaken fabrics. Lux removes perspiration acids and odors completely—yet leaves colors like new. If it's safe in water alone, it's as safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water. Lux gives instant suds in lukewarm water, won't fade colors or shrink fabrics.

LUX

Have You Tried LUX for dishes? Its wonderful suds work so fast... and keep hands lovely, too! Costs less than if a day.

LUX for underthings keeps them like new... in spite of frequent washing
