MORE SNOW IS IN PROSPECT SUNDAY

Little change in barometric pressure was reported Saturday, with the same low level of the past few days steadily maintained. Unsettled conditions will prevail until the barometer starts on the upgrade. The forecast for the next 24 hours includes occasional snow flurries, with chances for generally fair weather. The minimum temperature recorded this morning was 18 degrees above zero, according to the official thermometer at the U. S. weather bureau. Underwood's recording thermometer, however, registered 22 degrees as the day's low mark. One and a half inches of snow fell Friday night, and snow which fell up until 5 o'clock Friday evening plied .81 inch of moisture, the weather man stated.

FIRE STATION MOVED TO NEW CITY QUARTERS

Six pieces of equipment may be kept on the first floor and five pieces may be taken from the station through the three doors on Broad and two on Spring street at the same time. As soon as the door latches are touched the doors open automatically.

An office for the chief, with telephone connections to all parts of the station and to the fire and conversation telephones; and a desk for the man on watch with the three telephones provide the business offices on the first floor.

An automatic natural hot water heating system and a ventilating system have been installed.

The hose tower is situated so that hose, which can be washed inside the building, can be picked up and hung in the hose tower to dry without difficulty and without bending the hose. The tower rises the hose and will house 8000 feet. The tower is one of the most modern on the coast, the chief says.

The battery and signal room on the first floor is enclosed and will protect the system and make the station cleaner and more slightly.

The upstairs of the station has a natural wood finish. A large lounge room and library, kitchen, dining room, large lavatory with showers, tub, and laundry tray; individual lockers in two locker rooms; a clothes dryer so that wet clothes may be dried when the firemen return from a fire; linen closet; and a large bunk room, comprise the upstairs. The clothes dryer is the first Chief Taylor has seen in a station and the large individual lockers are the best he has seen.

All rooms upstairs except the linen closet, are outside rooms and are automatically ventilated and heated.

The first test call over the fire alarm telephone from the new station was received at the city hall station Friday morning at 8:26 o'clock.

The new fire equipment which has been on display at the Balzinger motor company will be moved to the new station Sunday or Monday, Chief Taylor said. He stated that some nozzles and other minor attachments and equipment will have to be received before the trucks can be placed in use.

Chief Taylor stated that all millie will be notified and a general published announcement will be made when the signal system is being moved and the only way a fire can be turned in is by telephone.
