CHIEF MERRILL PRESENTS LIST OF ELIGIBLES

Chief of Police Roy Merrill last Tuesday night presented to Roy Fouch, police judge and clerk of the civil service commission, a list of eight policemen which he appointed from the civil service commission submitted list of eligibles for certification of appointment.

The men appointed will be on probation for a period of six months. Fouch stated that all of the men appointed were on the list of eligibles and that the entire eligible list was given to Chief Merrill as two of the first 16 eligibles did not reside in the city and for that reason did not belong on the eligible list.

George McDonald remains a member of the department as a patrolman. Chief Merrill asked the commission in December to certify to his appointment on the police force, but the commission has not yet done so.

Leigh Ackerman, former captain of police, was among the eight policemen named for certification of appointment. The list named is Ray Lyons, Gilbert D. Hayes, Chris Sterland, O. A. MacKinnon, Carl K. Cook, Leigh M. Ackerman, Charles C. Duggan and Paul H. Gravelle.

Chairman J. H. Napier of the commission states that the commission will meet in a few days to set a date for the hearing of the petition of Sam Handley, laid off patrolman, for reinstatement and position on the force, and to certify to the list of appointees in the police department.

Editorials on News

(Continued from Page One) of the atmosphere of tolerance and good will, listen to some good talks; and then go back to our places of business and do whatever seems best for our own private, personal interests.

But don't forget this: We are influenced to SOME extent by these contacts at the service clubs, by the atmosphere of fellowship and good will and by the glimpses we get of the other fellow's viewpoint.

THE service clubs provide exceedingly attractive jobs for international secretaries and regional secretaries and whatnot. These jobs carry traveling expenses, and provide interesting contacts and a very interesting degree of prominence for their holders.

It's nice to go into a strange town and put up at the best hotel and meet the best people and be treated with deference and respect and be introduced flatteringly at luncheons and treated as somebody quite important and finally, when leaving, to pay the bills with money provided by the organization.

AND so it is with the secretariat of the league of nations. These secretaries, and their under-secretaries, and their stenographers, and their pages and their footmen, and the delegations—the entire personnel—are comfortably placed. They have prominent and pleasant jobs.

AND SOMEBODY ELSE pays the bills. So, obviously, they are all FOR the league of nations idea, and lose no opportunity to advance it.

BUT don't let the mild satire involved in these perfectly truthful statements blind you to this: The service clubs really do a lot of good. They help to get us away from the old tooth and claw idea of competition that comes down from the days when the only way the individual could get something for himself was to take it away from the other fellow—beating his brains out ruthlessly, if necessary, to get it. They teach us, rather effectively, in the long run, that even more is to be had for the individual by intelligent co-operation than by bitter and ruthless competition that takes no thought whatever of the other fellow and his rights.

Let's retain it as a world influence toward co-operation and tolerance among nations, just as we retain the service clubs as a similar influence among individuals and communities. From that standpoint, both are eminently worth while.

Wheat Advances And Closes Firm In Chicago Trade

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—All eyes in the grain today were on probable results of new banking legislation at Washington. A bullish construction as to immediate effects was generally placed on the proposed enactment, but what specialists were not unanimous as to ultimate consequences, owing to premiums already existing in this country's wheat prices compared with those at Liverpool and Winnipeg.

Wheat closed firm, 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c above yesterday's finish; corn, 2c to 2 1/2c up; oats 1/2c to 1c advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 5c to 20c.

Cube Butter Price Shows 10 Cent Cut

PORTLAND, Feb. 11. (AP)—Cut of 1c per pound in the price of all cube butter except extra during the late session of the Portland Produce Exchange was by no means surprising. In fact such action was necessary in view of the fact that three different scores of butter were quoted at the same price, and there was a difference of but 1c between top and bottom scores.

The cut in butter naturally caused the trade to show recession in the butterfat buying price.
