NATION-WIDE DRIVE ON TO HALT HOARDING

The United Press presents here with the first detailed outline of President Hoover's nation-wide anti-hoarding campaign, as explained by the business leaders...

By Frederick C. Othman United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, Feb. 12. (UPI)—President Hoover's anti-hoarding campaign began here today in a newspaper office, headed for $1,500,000,000 action.

In three weeks every city and hamlet in the nation is expected to have its own committee of workers. A whirlwind bond selling drive will take a week more and the job will have been done so quickly, hope the president...

First conference of the key organizers took place in a room high in the Chicago Daily News building of Col. Frank Knox; James Keeley, vice-president of the Pullman company; John N. Van Der Vries, central division manager of the United States chamber of commerce, and Homer McKee, nationally known advertising man. They explained the prosperity drive thus:

The two-fold object is to get hidden money back into circulation and to educate the public in the function of banks and the disastrous consequences to business when credit is restricted by hoarding.

The conferees are creating a nationwide citizens' organization, drafted as in times of war, to meet the crisis. They plan to build up each organization where possible about the local chamber of commerce.

The press and the banks in each community are being asked to cooperate. Many newspapers have agreed to do so, as has the United States chamber of commerce, the American Bankers' association, the American Federation of Labor, and some 40 other national organizations which were represented in a meeting with the president at Washington last Saturday.

The workers will organize their forces for three weeks in preparation for the sale of anti-hoarding securities during the final week. Exact dates will be announced soon. The campaign will take on the character of the liberty loan drives of war times.

That is appropriate, believe the leaders, because they are engaged in a veritable "war of depression." The government, meanwhile, will issue securities which will be used to draw money from its hiding places. The paper will take the form of bonds, bearing interest and issued in denominations as small as $10.

President Hoover will make a radio address on a nation-wide hookup the night before the selling campaign starts, whereupon the secretary of the treasury and Gen. Charles G. Dawes, president of the reconstruction finance corporation, will speak.

"And that just about tells the story," smiled Knox. "If we can get this $1,500,000,000 (B) of hidden money into circulation, credit will be enriched by $15,000,000,000 (B). I'm just an ordinary newspaper salesman, but I honestly believe we shall be successful."

Nation Pauses To Honor 'Abe' Lincoln

(Continued from Page One) er was the greatest, attained the wonderful influence over the people of the land, that has been manifested, and still continues to be manifested, until this day, by the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Abraham Lincoln's memory will be honored tonight in nation-wide observance of his 123rd birthday anniversary by the republican party, led by President Hoover.

The present chief executive will speak on the life of the man who preceded him during the troublous days of the civil war, using the radio to carry his words to the rallies of the party faithful all over the country.

Key men of the party will supplement this address at each dinner gathering, and an entire hour of radio time will be taken on a national hookup by prominent speakers.

Lincoln's memory was recalled today in congress, too, with appropriate speeches by members in each chamber. President Hoover will not attend the principal party dinner here tonight, but will speak at 10:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) from the White House study in which Lincoln transacted the affairs of state of his day—long before modern executive offices were provided.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 11 (AP)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania paid oratorical tribute to Abraham Lincoln here tonight on the eve of the great emancipator's birthday.

Citizens crowded the state armory, not far from Springfield's magnificent monument to Lincoln, to hear Pinchot say that the martyred president "wouldn't get to first base" if he were a presidential candidate this year, simply because he would be too devoted to the interests of the people.

Rape Hoover, Mellon "How many of our national leaders can declare of Lincoln, I have never had a feeling, politically, that did not spring from the sentiments embodied in the Declaration of Independence?" demanded Pinchot.

"Can Mellon? "Can Hoover? "Suppose Abraham Lincoln were a candidate for president this year on his platform of human rights.

"Where would he get with the controlling powers of the republican convention in Chicago? "He wouldn't get to first base!"

The Klamath county court observed Lincoln's birthday Friday, and all offices were closed throughout the day. Banks remained open, however, as it is not a national holiday. The post-office also remained open, and regular delivery of mail was made.

Only national holidays are observed by the post office, Postmaster John McCall explained. Lincoln's birthday was observed in city and county schools with appropriate patriotic assemblies and programs.

Arrangements for the high school program, presented Friday morning in the assembly room, were under the direction of Miss Helen Buysen, dramatic teacher. Participants in the program were Gordon Williams, Ted Hyde, Ruby Potts, Mike Lavonik, Mildred Cullen, Betty Gallagher, Francis Flowers and Arnold Cooper. These students represent the American history class. A trumpet solo was given by Miss Jean Beard.

R. C. Groesbeck gave a talk on the life of Abraham Lincoln at the Fremont school Friday morning. Similar programs marked observance of the day in the other city schools.

K.U.H.S. Enjoys Lincoln Program

The history department and the Masquers club of Klamath Union high school presented a Lincoln's birthday anniversary assembly program Friday morning at the school assembly.

The autobiography of Lincoln was recited and anecdotes of his life were told. Gordon Williams was master of ceremonies and Miss Jean Crawford was chairman of the assembly.

The high school band played a number of patriotic pieces and "America The Beautiful" was sung by the entire assemblage.
