Anniversary of P.-T. A. is Commemorated in Nation

Thousands of Parent-Teacher associations are planning a commemoration service for Founders' Day, February 17, which marks the thirty-fifth anniversary of the National Congress of Mothers.

Mrs. Theodore Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Hurst called the first National Congress of Mothers to meet in Washington, February 17, 1897, and they were in hopes that twenty-five or even fifty mothers might attend. Newspapers and women's organizations throughout the country gave excellent publicity, and pastors and teachers did their part so well that the attendance exceeded many hundreds. Hotel accommodations which were arranged for were far too small.

The hall chosen for the meeting was altogether inadequate. The occasion was so great that President and Mrs. Cleveland opened the White House to welcome the mothers attending.

The object of the organization formed was to promote conferences among parents upon questions vital to the welfare of their children; to further develop manifold interest in the home; to cooperate with educators and legislators to secure the best methods in physical, moral and mental training of the young; to enlighten motherhood on the problems of race developments; to uplift and improve the conditions of mothers in all walks of life, and to promote the formation of Mothers' clubs and Home-Makers clubs in all states and territories of the United States.

This object was written into the first chapter of the National Congress of Mothers which was granted under the laws of the District of Columbia.

The department of Parent-Teacher association was created in 1917, to promote systematic organization of these units. They are now organized in forty-seven states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii. They have held thirty-five national conventions. This alone is sufficient proof that the objects written in their first charter were carried out by the leadership of those two great women. Many other great leaders have carried on the work and developed an association of over a million members.

Elaborate plans have been made by the Fremont Parent-Teachers association for the celebration of Founders' Day and the bicentennial of George Washington's birthday, Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock, at the Fremont school auditorium. This marks the thirty-fifth year of the founding of the association.

After a short business meeting the following program will be presented:

Chorus—Fifth grade pupils.
The History of the Parent-Teachers movement—Mrs. C. K. Kelly.
Chorus—Seventh and Eighth grade pupils.
The Father's Place in P.-T. A.—Mr. Roy Fouch.
Playlet on Frans Schubert—Sixth grade pupils.

Address—"The Challenge to the Community"—F. O. E. W. Child a Community that is Safe, Physically and Morally"—Ven. J. Henry Thomas.
Trio—Mrs. O. G. Crawford, Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds, Miss Lillie Darby.

Refreshments will be served after the program. All mothers, fathers and friends are invited to attend.
