By FRANK JENKINS CROWDS riot in Paris in protest against pay cuts of government employees. It's all right, you see, for the French government to refuse to pay its debts to the taxpayers of the United States, but when it reduces the wages of its own employees, that's another matter entirely.

IT'S NICE, of course, to have fifty million dollars, but in these days when criminals are turning from the old rackets and developing new ones to take their place ownership of so much money has its troubles along with its satisfactions.

ANOTHER heiress, Barbara Hutton, whose fortune comes from 5-10-15 cent stores, marries a down-at-the-heel prince from one of the little countries of the Near East, but a few days after the marriage he skips out in a hurry to escape a process server who was looking for him with papers connected with a more or less shady oil deal.

GREAT fortunes which pass down from generation to generation create a hereditary leisure class, and there are many who insist that a hereditary leisure class, with money to spend

WILL ROGERS says: BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 22—Editor The Evening Herald: Plenty of headlines but not much news. "Congress votes on the 60-cent dollar Saturday." Wonder if they will have one in there as an exhibit. "Government undecided about what they can do with Japanese taking pictures of fortification." Make 'em agree to send us some of the pictures if they turn out O. K.

LEGION PROPOSES REFORM FOR CWA

OREGON DEPARTMENT SEEKS Elimination of Favoritisms.

PORTLAND, Jan. 22. (AP)—Suggestions for strengthening the civil works administration program, for the elimination of alleged favoritism and inefficiency in relief work, and for the eradication of duplication of authority and effort were contained in a resolution unanimously adopted here last night by the executive committee of the Oregon department of the American Legion.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. (AP)—Professor James H. Rogers, a presidential monetary advisor, told the senate banking committee today the administration bill to devalue the dollar would permit an "inflation" of credit of from $7,000,000,000 to $17,500,000,000 which would boost business but could be restricted when desired.

HE GAVE this testimony after Professor George E. Warren of Cornell, another leading money adviser, had praised the monetary legislation and Senator Wheeler, demo, Mont., had notified the senate he would offer a silver amendment. Earlier he conferred with President Roosevelt on the silver problem.
