Oregon, Oregon State Close Series Friday and Saturday. Both Teams Stand Evenly in Conference. Al Karasick Turns Referee. Praise for Frankie Monroe.

Oregon and Oregon State, tumbling over themselves for a position second only to the Washington Huskies, and Idaho and Washington State, entrenched in the lower bracket, bring the northern division basketball season to a close Friday and Saturday nights.

Idaho and Washington State are immediately eliminated from interest in this section. Whatever the outcome of their series divided between the cities of Moscow and Pullman, it can have no result on the final position of either the Beavers or the Webfoots.

Oregon State, unseated champion of the 1933 season, and Oregon, a darkhorse ever since the 1934 play got underway, check each other before the start of this week's encounters. Both teams have won seven games and lost seven.

To go ahead of the other in the last accounting of the year, one team must win two games.

The record of meetings between the Beavers and the Webfoots promise pretty definitely that the Friday and Saturday games will be divided. The combinations of Billy Reinhart and Slat Gill already have won one and lost one when they met earlier in the season.

The momentary advantage, perhaps, is thrown in favor of Oregon, for the first game will be played on McArthur court at Eugene. Let it be remembered, however, that Oregon State has taken more victories from the Reinhart coached teams at McArthur court than it has at the Corvallis gymnasium. Oregon, until a few years ago, blessed Billy Reinhart for an unbroken string of victories on the Beavers' floor.

Comparative scores, it is always well to mention, mean very little when Oregon and Oregon State meet in any kind of athletic contest. The Webfoots won the first game from the Beavers, 30 to 26. That was the game Slat Gill was forced to abandon his usually effective zone defense in an attempt to halt the Webfoot offensive. The plan was successful in the second half, but Oregon had established too strong a lead in the first.

The second game was one of the most interesting fights of the year. Oregon State won, 18 to 9, and came near marking up a new low-scoring record for the conference.

The Beavers were held to four points in the first half, and then turned around and held the Webfoots to a couple of free throws in the second.

Al Karasick, who meets big Al Schnell here Friday night, turned referee Wednesday night at Portland. Karasick, who resigned recently because he refused to take any more punishment from the participants.

The Russian Lion certainly is no gentleman in the ring, but apparently he made an excellent referee. He cuffed his old rival, Ted Thye, when Thye got too rough with the very rough Ted Cox, also known as King Kong. Al's usually on the receiving end of abuse from the referee. It would have been something new to see him dealing out official blows.

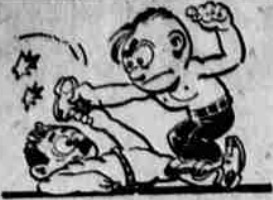

L. H. Gregory, sporting editor of The Oregonian, had this to say about Frankie Monroe, Klamath fighter: "The bluest little fighter in this section of America, or probably in the wide world just now, is Frankie Monroe.

PRIMO STAKES TITLE TONIGHT

Giant Carnera Faces Wee Challenger at Miami; Weather Fair.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1, (AP)—Fair weather prevailing after a three-day rain, the much-debated Carnera-Loughran world heavyweight title bout will be offered up to the entertainment of a few thousand fight faithfuls tonight, despite two conflicting attractions—a flower show and a tea dance.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1, (AP)—With one decision already to his credit over a flistic affair that not even the elements seem to want, Old Man Weather blustered around again today in a belligerent mood, threatening to force another postponement of the 15-round heavyweight championship bout between Primo Carnera and Tommy Loughran.

Called off yesterday by a renewed outbreak of tropical storms, the fight was re-scheduled tentatively for tonight, but only the most optimistic expected the weather to clear and the arena to dry out sufficiently for the show to go on.

Fighters Ready Today's forecast was for continued winds and rain, with a similar outlook for Friday.

Decision was expected to be reached this morning to set the fight back to Friday night in the hopes that the sun would cooperate in drying out the arena. "The fighters want to go on, despite the delay, and we have a substantial investment to protect by producing the show," said Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden corporation. "I believe the delay will help rather than hurt the sales of tickets."

Sale at Minimum The understanding is that the Garden will break even if the fight draws as much as $50,000 in net receipts, owing to the fact the rival gladiators are working strictly on a percentage basis. Up to last night the actual cash advance sale was less than $30,000, with tentative reservations for perhaps $15,000 more.

"Since last July 1 this lively thrower of fists has fought 36 bouts, and his appearance on Tex Salkeld's St. Johns show will be his 37th—all in eight months. That's an average of 4 1/2 bouts per month, or a little better than one every week. And at that Monroe had one lay-off of two weeks to rest up from the wars. Few fighters have better than this willful youngster. His 36 bouts include several ten-rounders and a flock of six-round battles, and he never fails to please.

He fought Johnny Higgins twice in ten-rounders. Alan Black in another at Butte, Pa. O'Day in one. Ah Wing Lee at Klamath Falls—and though Lee won, he couldn't stop Monroe, nor even get him groggy—and among his six-round opponents have been Doc Snell, Roy Ockley, Ernie Cavelli, Louis Nelson and many others.

"All told, Monroe in six years of boxing has had 156 fights. Of these 156, 142 have been right here in Oregon, which makes him a home boy in boxing if ever there was one. It goes to emphasize his popularity and crowd-pleasing ability that he can fight so often in this territory and still have his following.

"Monroe is 25 years old and Lakeview is his home town. He never fought as an amateur—just got interested in boxing, put on the gloves and stepped in as a professional the first time out. Being from Lakeview, it goes without saying that Monroe can "fork" a horse and that he was brought up pretty much on the open range.

"P. S. Since writing these friendly words about Monroe I find the lad has blossomed out in spats! My, what's the boxing game coming to? Take 'em off, Monroe. Spats for the spatulate, if they insist, but never for a real far-western young gentleman like Monroe with a Lakeview background."

Giants Ready for Big Swim

"They can't even tie us" is the new war cry of Blondy Ryan, center, world series hero of 1933 and shortstop of the New York Giants. Blondy and two of his pitching pals, Hal Schumacher, left, and Roy Barneche, are getting the jump on the rest of the Giants, having started training at Miami Beach, Fla.

AP All-Star Basketball Five Includes Oregon, O. S. C. Men

SEATTLE, March 1 (AP)—Fortified by the greatest of all northern division Pacific Coast conference scorers—Bobby "Goose" Galer—and two other unanimous choices, the Associated Press all-star northwest basketball team this season is one of the most outstanding ever selected.

The quintet is a consensus of selections by coaches, officials and sports writers who have seen all the players in action, and every list sent to the "AP" for compilation included the names of Howard Grenier of Idaho, and Capt. Harold Lee and Galer of the championship Washington team.

Oregon Man Wins Jack Robertson, flashy Oregon star, became Galer's running mate at forward, and Bill MacDonald, rugged Oregon State checker, gained the fifth spot at guard by close margins. Robertson beat out George Hibbard, Oregon State forward, by two votes, while MacDonald had one more than his teammate Julius Lenchitsky, and Capt. Gib Olinberg of Oregon, who were tied. Washington State failed to land on the first five.

Galer, the 155-pound Husky sharpshooter who amassed a total of 176 points in 16 conference tilts for a new record will be the only member of the all-star team to return to the college courts next year. He has one more year of competition while the other four will be graduated this summer. Galer's record is three points better than the mark hung up last season by Ed Lewis, Oregon State center.

All High Scorers All except MacDonald top the northern division scoring race at the present time with 100 or more points. Lee is riding in second place with 110 but he likely will give way to Grenier, Robertson, and Huntley McPhee of Washington State when the schedule is completed this week. Grenier has 101 and Robertson and McPhee 100 each, and two more games to play. Washington has wound up its season with 14 victories and 2 defeats and is preparing for the Pacific Coast conference playoff with Southern California at Los Angeles next week.

Sporting Briefs

PENDLETON, Ore., March 1, (AP)—Mark Temple, ex-University of Oregon grid flash and Pendleton high school's next year football coach and athletic director, will utilize his spring vacation, April 19 to 24, inclusive, on the gridiron here, it was announced today.

About 55 budding football heroes will be on hand to work out under Temple's tutelage, when he arrives, Clarence Hines, present coach, said.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1, (AP)—"Big Dave" Meek, lanky, sharp-shooting center, and the only veteran left from this season's University of California basketball quintet, has been elected captain of the 1935 team, Coach Clarence "Nibs" Price announced today.

Lung Congestion Troubles Rolph MARYSVILLE, Cal., March 1, (AP)—Governor James Rolph was confined to a room at the Marysville hotel today with a slight lung congestion. He was believed to have taken cold while addressing a gathering during a rainstorm at Lakeport yesterday. Dr. June B. Harris of Sacramento, the governor's personal physician, hurried here and ordered the chief executive to take a complete rest for 24 hours.

HUNTING

Chiloquin, Klamath Open Three-Game Series Friday Night

Chiloquin high school, strong and confident, completed four days of drill Thursday in preparation for the first game with the Klamath Falls Pelicans in the Chiloquin high school gymnasium Friday night. The contest will start at 8:30.

Friday's game marks the first of a three-game series to determine the basketball champion of the southern end of this district. A second game will be played in Klamath Falls Saturday night.

Should the two teams break even, the third and deciding fight will be moved down to Malin, neutral location.

The next step en route to the state tournament will send the winner of this series to Bend to meet the northern half champion March 9 and 10. It is not yet known whether Bend or Redmond will be the northern representative.

This will mark Chiloquin's second successive attempt to unseat the Pelicans as champions in this district. The strong "B" team sailed through sturdy opposition at the annual county tournament last week and emerged champion for the second year. Chiloquin defeated Malin in the second round to give the Malin combination its first and only reversal of the season.

G. T. Campbell, Chiloquin coach, has not yet definitely announced the lineup he will send against the Pelicans. The combination, however, probably will be selected from the men who competed against the Klamath Wildcats in the tournament finals.

This included Gossett and Skeen, forwards; Cramblett and Hughes, forwards; Johnson and McCain, centers; Knauss and Kauble, guards.

Dwight French's Pelicans stand out as the favorites. The team has moved through the season with but one defeat, and then avenged that defeat by scoring three successive victories over the team that marred the season's record.

Miller, center; Giovanini and Scroggin, guards; Wakeman, Pastega and Engelhof, forwards, probably will fit into the Klamath lineup.

Helen Jacobs Wins Trophies

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 1, (AP)—Helen Jacobs, United States women's champion, defeated Dorothy Round, England's No. 1 player, 6-4, 6-1, in the final of the Jamaica tennis championships.

A crowd of 6000 watched the match. This victory augured well for America's chances this year in Wightman Cup play against England. Last year Miss Jacobs and the English girl met three times. Miss Round won at Wimbledon, but the California player won in the Wightman Cup matches and in the National championships at Forest Hills.

Book by Lindy's Father Published

PHILADELPHIA, March 1, (AP)—A book written by the late Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, Sr., the plates of which were destroyed by the United States secret service during the world war because of its liberal tendencies, will be published tomorrow.

Announcement of its publication was made today by Gordon Dorrance, of Dorrance & Company, Philadelphia publishing house.

The Minnesota congressman, whose son gained fame by his trans-Atlantic flight, predicted many of the economic innovations which have since been enacted into law by the Roosevelt administration.

John McGraw's Remains Placed in Church Vault BALTIMORE, March 1 (AP)—John Joseph McGraw is home. His body lay today in a granite vault at Bonnie Brae, new cathedral cemetery where it awaits burial in the spring.

The body was brought to Baltimore late yesterday after funeral services were held in New York. Two hundred admirers met the casket at the station. They escorted it, with relatives and friends, to the cemetery, where Rev. Timothy B. Kenney read the service.

It was Father Kenney who assisted at the famous baseball figure's marriage here in 1902 to Blanche Sindall. McGraw, who broke into the major league ranks here 42 years ago and went on to become manager of the New York Giants, died Sunday in New Rochelle, N. Y.

FOOTBALL

Chicago Stars Heading Toward Training Camp

CHICAGO, March 1, (AP)—Three members of the Chicago White Sox, accompanied by President J. Louis Comiskey, departed for Pasadena, Calif., training camp to join the squad which started workouts last Monday.

The players were George Earnshaw, former Philadelphia Athletics' pitching star, Sam Sams Jones, veteran pitcher, and outfielder Evar Swanson. The first squad of Chicago Cubs will leave today for their Catalina Island, Calif., training camp. Manager Charlie Grimm and line players, Chuck Klein, Kiki Cuyler, Lou Warneke, Gordon Phelps, Billy Jurges, Gabby Hartnett, Woody English, Benny Tate, and Doc Conrads, rookie southpaw, will be in the party. Four other players will join the party at Kansas City. The rest of the squad will report direct to Catalina Island for workouts beginning Monday.

Australian Outweighs Al Karasick for Main Event

The superior weight of Al Schnell, Australia, will be the strongest point in his favor Friday night, when he meets Al Karasick of Portland in the Legion hall main event. Wrestler Schnell will enter the ring considerably over 300 pounds, while the Russian's weight will hover around the 150-pound mark.

Beyond this difference in weight, Karasick ruled as the outstanding favorite. The stocky, bull-necked Lion still finds himself listed as the leading heavyweight in this district. He has not been defeated at the Legion hall, and certainly doesn't count on the Australian to turn the trick.

Headlocks and the Boston crab hold will be Karasick's chief offensive weapons. Schnell is expected to depend largely on the headlock for victory. Both men are rough, and Mack Lillard, promoter, expects an active encounter.

Four other wrestlers appearing on the card were reported in condition Thursday afternoon. Roland Warren of Klamath Falls will open the program when he steps into the ring against Henry Hill of North Dakota. The men, 160 pounds, will wrestle the half-hour curtain raiser.

Les Grimes, New Zealand, and Bob Stone, Chicago, will oppose each other in the 45-minute semi-windup. Stone is noted particularly for his science and sportsmanship. Grimes, making his first appearance here, has a reputation for questionable tactics.

Californians Meet Klamath Boxers Friday

Undismayed by the reported strength and ability of a troupe of invading fighters from the south, the boxers of Klamath county bricked through their final training period Thursday in preparation for the Merrill Community hall program Friday night.

Russell Howard, fast and a clever boxer, will lead off the card when he squares off with Jimmy Best, negro from Oakland. Both men are experienced, and the ten round clash should contain an abundance of action.

Jack Hibbard of Klamath Falls and Spider Fields of Medford and Klamath Falls, will feature in two six round bouts. Hibbard meets Indian Joe Corbett of Santa Ana and Fields will try his luck against Carl Butler of Santa Rosa.

Three more Klamath youths will be presented in two four-round preliminaries. Ernie Enders, promising youngster from Keno, will fight Jimmy Bullard of Oklahoma. Young Jonas of Dairy will open the card in the curtain raiser against Bonanza Tom.

The matches are sponsored by the Merrill post of the American Legion.
