SUPERIOR, Ariz., March 9. (AP)—This little mining settlement was recovering today from the effects of an 84-mile wind and sand storm which unroofed 30 homes, hurled one intact 50 yards and wrecked several business buildings yesterday.

Not a single casualty was listed. Damage was estimated at several thousand dollars. NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—William J. Duffy, American manager of Primo Carnera, was sentenced to the federal house of detention for four months today, for failure to file an income tax return for 1930.

ers ought to "take us into their confidence." Asked what the republicans were going to do on the vote Monday on the Patman bill to pay the soldiers' bonus in cash, Shell said he thought a majority of them would vote against it because "it provides for the payment of the bonus in greenbacks."

Mahoney Action Claims Central Political View

Mahoney's immediate governorship hopes, failed to have that effect.

While there are varying views as to how strong Mahoney may run, and nobody really has any definite knowledge as to that, it is pretty generally agreed by those who have seen Mahoney in action that he will make a fight out of the democratic governorship race. There are many free to predict he will win the nomination.

Threat to Martin

At his rate, General Martin and his supporters will do well to take Mahoney seriously. The Klamath Falls mayor is an effective vote-getter, and the people of the state will know he is in the field from the moment he enters it. If Martin expects to remain in Washington and attend to his duties at congress, during the campaign, he will be plenty worried by the noise that goes on here at home.

This newspaper, immediately upon announcement of Martin's candidacy, forecast that the general's "military figure," which necessarily gives him a conservative impression, would provoke such progressive opposition as is now manifest in the Mahoney candidacy.

Whether Martin will or not, Mahoney will place him in the conservative role, either directly or by intimation in his speeches, and Mahoney's type of campaign, necessarily will brand the mayor as a progressive if not a radical.

Mayor Has Confidence. Mahoney, as is known here, is not a radical when he is in office. He maintained a pretty even keel as mayor of Klamath Falls. But there is considerable difference between the way he campaigned and the way he ran the office.

Mahoney is of the spell-binder type, and his appeal is to the masses. He is an opportunist, and opportunity lies in that direction. It lay there in 1932, and he made the most of it. He has personality and supreme self-confidence. He is a past master at crowd psychology.

provided it is a crowd susceptible to his type of speech-making. He won't elicit at Rotary luncheons, but he doesn't care if at the mass meetings he can carry the crowd with a sweep of old-fashioned oratory. He is a white on the radio, although what he has to say doesn't always go so well when put to the test of cold type.

Versatility Noted

The mayor has uncanny political intuition. The coming campaign will probably see him fitting his appeal to the prejudices of each group to which he speaks. Precise timing of his movement is an essential part of his technique. The consistency bugaboo bothers him no more than it does the average politician.

He is adept at coining catch-phrases. "Black horse cavalry," "smoke screen," and "smelling committee" are reminiscent of the mayoralty campaign here. "Brazen carnival of political racketeering" was the way he referred to Governor Meier's promotion of the Knox liquor law.

He has a way of changing front to meet the necessities of new situations. When he was drumming for the gross sales tax here he got his foot in it when he argued, in his first statement, that all who enjoy the benefits of the municipality should help pay its bills.

through a tax on purchases. The labor union jumped on his back immediately, and in a day or two he was talking about the merchants absorbing the tax and getting the money back in the saving on real property taxes.

Platform a Question

Incidentally, that brings up the matter of what the mayor's platform might have to say about the state sales tax. It will be an issue also at the May primary. The local ordinance which he sponsored, while designed as a gross sales tax with a distinct anti-chain motive, was nevertheless somewhat of a sales tax.

The Knox law, of course, will be used for all that it is worth as a target of attack in the Mahoney campaign. The power issue is also scheduled in the platform. While that is a well-riden horse, Bonneville gives it a new lease on life. Other possible issues haven't shown themselves as yet.

Observers here look for a sensitive impression, filled with old-time political oratory set to the tempo of a demand for a "new deal" for Oregon.

Corp Loan Blanks to Be Distributed

Application blanks for crop loans for farmers are being prepared by the department of agriculture, according to information received by Ida Momyer Odell, in charge of the local bureau. All loans for northern California and southern Oregon are being handled through the Salt Lake City offices this year, instead of through the Minneapolis offices as heretofore, greatly facilitating the handling of far western loans.

When blanks have been received here, and preliminary applications may be made, announcements will be made in the columns of this paper, according to Mrs. Odell, and ample time will be given to send the applications to headquarters offices.

Greenland has only two newspapers; these are circulated at government expense as necessary to keep the people informed.

Ranger to Attend Stockmen's Meet

Hugh A. Ritter, ranger in charge of the Klamath and Dead Indian districts of the Rogue National forest, will go to Ashland Monday to attend the annual meeting and election of officers in the Klamath stockmen's association.

Early next week, Karl Jangsch, supervisor of the Rogue National forest, will arrive in Klamath Falls to look over and approve applications for the grazing of 4,000 cattle and 7,800 sheep on the Klamath and Dead Indian ranger districts of the Rogue forest.

Counties in which this grazing is permitted by the United States forest service, will receive 25 per cent of the fees collected.

Numerous Arrests Made by Officers

Helen Daugherty, arrested by police officers Thursday, is being held in the city jail pending an investigation.

Patrick Marley, Orville Wright, Bob Edwards, and Henry Wilhuff, all arrested on charges of drunkenness, were fined $10 each in police court Friday morning.

Ben Watab, Indian, charged with drunkenness, was fined $15, because of the number of arrests charged against him.

Preston Moore, forfeited $5 bail for failure to appear in answer to a charge of driving with four in a coupe.

Pictures to Aid Eliminating Fire

Panoramic pictures to be used in work of locating forest fires will be taken this weekend by John S. Gribble, of Medford, forester for the Rogue National forest.

Gribble arrived in Klamath Falls Friday, and spent a short time in conference with Hugh A. Ritter, ranger in charge of the Klamath and Dead Indian districts of the Rogue forest.

He then left for the Pelican ranger lookout where he will make the panoramic pictures.

Red Bluff Mishap Kills Two Persons

RED BLUFF, Calif., March 9. (AP)—Two persons were injured fatally and two others were hurt as their automobile crashed into a tree on the Pacific highway four miles north of her last night.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Isabel Wither, 30, of Redding, and Lieut. Hartley H. Hector, 30, of Harrison Gulch CCC camp.

More than 7000 people were burned to death in 1932.

One Coffee can't serve Two Masters Percolator method or Drip method. Take your choice, but whichever method you prefer, be sure to buy the proper coffee for it. The methods are so different that a different coffee is required for each. In a drip coffee maker, boiling water drips ONLY ONCE through a coffee specially prepared to yield its flavor QUICKLY. In a percolator, water passes many times through a coffee prepared to yield its flavor SLOWLY. The same coffee can be used for both methods, but like a "Jack-of-all-trades" it is "master of none"—neither drip nor percolator. In one or the other, little things happen. It's a little weak, or a little strong, or a little cloudy, or it has a little less flavor. It's these little things that make or mar good coffee. Be sure to use the correct coffee for each method.
