

DEMOCRATIC PARTY RULES REGISTRATION

want to see the mayor go places have to transfer their registration to vote for him. Those who would like to see his ears knocked down also have to transfer to get a chance to contribute their part toward that end. Of course, if the mayor should win the nomination, republicans at the fall general election will have full opportunity to express their sentiments on the skyrocketing Klamath executive.

Reports Held Encouraging

As to the possibility of Mahoney's winning the nomination over Martin, there are frequent reports that seem to be encouraging to his supporters. One Klamath Falls man who was present at the Willamette society meeting in Portland when Mahoney announced, came back with the news that the Mahoney candidacy was received with remarkable enthusiasm, especially among younger democrats. Many local people who have little use for the mayor concede he has a chance to push General Martin out of the picture, particularly if the latter gentleman chooses to remain in Washington during the campaign.

The "old heads" of the democratic party aren't particularly pleased over the Mahoney situation. Most of them are republicans. But the young democrats are reported to be strongly taken with the dynamic candidate from Southern Oregon. He is to speak at two young democratic meetings in the next couple of weeks.

Press Says Little

There has been little editorial comment in the state press on the Mahoney candidacy. The Oregonian has had nothing complimentary to say about the local aspirant, and the Oregon Journal is discreetly silent.

The Journal is a democratic newspaper, and its apparent intention of giving at least its silent support elsewhere doesn't sound too good for the Mahoney hopes. The Oregonian gave the mayor a Page One break on his announcement last week. The Journal had a front page story about the smelt running, and a

Page Five story about Mahoney running.

Both the Journal and the Salem Capital-Journal have thrown out in news stories hints that Mahoney may have been encouraged to run by republicans interested in seeing a break in the democratic ranks.

Mayor Gets Publicity

The Capital Journal, a strong Martin supporter, offered this well-charged remark in a news story:

"The liquor plank in Mahoney's platform, and reports that his candidacy is backed by a fat war chest, has given rise to some speculation as to what interest the distillers, wine makers and others interested in more liberal liquor laws may have in his candidacy."

Mahoney's strategy in departing from the usual method of sending out advance announcements had good results from the publicity standpoint. He made his story a news break on the state's telegraph wires, and most papers played it in a good spot on the front page.

Locally, there is some feeling that Mahoney is claiming too much credit for what has been accomplished during his administration here. The budget figures he quoted in his Portland talk have given rise to considerable controversy.

Mahoney has indicated that power and liquor will be the main planks in his platform. A general appeal for a "new deal" will probably make the working ring wherever he speaks.

Broadcast Scheduled

The mayor will speak over KEX Thursday night in a broadcast that will be unique because it will originate here. Spoken into a microphone in this city, his words will be carried by wire to Portland and there released on the air. The address is scheduled at 9:15 o'clock.

The other important local event in the Mahoney campaign here is scheduled for Saturday afternoon when a Mahoney dance will be held at the exhibit building.

The county political situation was sizzling again Tuesday, with prospects for additional announcements on Wednesday. The commissioner race is getting particular attention again. R. H. Anderson, prominent resident of the Merrill country, is giving serious thought to throwing his hat into the republican ring for commissioner. W. H. Hawkins is about ready to go on the democratic side. Jack Almeter is a strong democratic possibility.

There are increasingly strong indications W. T. (Bill) Lee will run again for the assessorship. Bill has been holding back, but chances are that when the ballots are distributed, his name will be there. It is understood A. G. Morrison, talked for assessor some time ago, has definitely given up any idea of running. Alva Lewis is in as a republican candidate. Sam Miller, a republican, has been mentioned as a new possibility.

THURSDAY FINAL Day for Payment

March 15 is the official deadline for payment of first quarter taxes under the new law, and the county tax collection office was busy Tuesday with the last-minute rush.

Heretofore, the first taxes were paid by May, with the division on a half-year basis. The new law calls for quarterly payment in March, and gives special inducements in the way of discounts for payment of half or all of current taxes at this time.

He asked it especially to consider "such flying instruments as are deemed necessary for efficient navigation and flight, beacon, and radio, controlled flights and landings," and in consideration personnel to weigh "their training and experience in cross country flying, in night flying, blind flying and in instrument flying, and their understanding and employment of the instruments referred to above."

Major General Hugh A. Drum, deputy chief of staff, was named chairman.

CLASSIFICATION DISPUTE RISES AT GAME MEET

PORTLAND, March 13, (AP)—The old controversy whether a steelhead is a salmon or a trout broke out here Monday at a meeting of the state game commission, and Matt Ryckman, superintendent of hatcheries, apparently won a decision over Chairman M. P. Corrigan.

A briefly considered proposal to close tide-water streams to winter fishing for trout of any length went down to defeat on the basis of the trout-salmon determination.

"The steelhead is not a trout," Corrigan insisted, but Ryckman countered with the statement that the steelhead is a sea-run Rainbow trout, and that the eggs from an adult steelhead will produce Rainbow trout.

The fly-fishing season for "no limit length" trout will open April 5, ten days earlier than usual, and will close Nov. 15. Trout of any length may be taken to the extent of the legal bag limit except in certain streams specified last year when the no-limit length law was created, in which catches under six inches are prohibited.

The commission decided to close all tributaries of the McKenzie below the junction of the Blue river, with the exception of Mohawk creek. All tributaries of the South Fork of the McKenzie were closed. Short creek was ordered closed, and the Diamond lake bag limit of trout was reduced from 35 fish weekly to a 25 limit.

WEATHER

The Cyclo-Stormograph at Underwood's Pharmacy shows that the barometric pressure is slightly higher today. This is an indication of continued fine weather. Not much change in temperatures.

The Tycos recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures Tuesday as follows:

Forecast for next 24 hours: Fair with moderate temperatures.

ARMORY OFFICIAL BACK FROM NORTH

District Attorney T. R. Gillenwaters, who has been in Portland in connection with the armory situation, said Tuesday he was confident the city's armory bonds will be given a clean bill of health by the government authorities.

The bond question arose over the possibility the $45,000 issue might exceed the city's capacity to bond itself as provided by law. A change in the laws since the bond election was responsible for this situation.

PWA attorneys in Washington and Portland have indicated their approval of the city bonds, Gillenwaters said.

TEMPERATURE HITS NEW RECORD HERE

Monday's high temperature of 77 degrees as recorded by the U. S. weather bureau broke all records for heat in March since the establishment of the bureau in 1884.

Sunday came close to achieving a record with a maximum of 75 degrees, but the archives of the weather bureau revealed that this mark was bested by one degree in March, 1911.

The local weather forecast is for continued early summer weather and high temperatures.

CONTROL GROUPS ORGANIZED HERE

Three community organization meetings under the corn hog production control program were held in Klamath county Monday, and directors and committeemen elected, according to Ralph E. Brooks, assistant county agent who is in charge of the work.

The meetings were held in Klamath Falls, Merrill and Bonanza, and those elected to offices were as follows: Klamath Falls: B. W. Short, chairman and member of the board of directors; B. T. McKimmons, vice chairman; J. C. Wright, committeeman. Merrill: H. S. Boardley, chairman and director; M. M. Bastney, vice chairman; R. F. Beasley, committeeman. Bonanza: Fred Rueck, chairman and director; W. D. Campbell, vice chairman, and J. C. Hunt, committeeman.

The board of directors is composed of the three community chairmen, Short, Rueck and Boardley.

A total of 92 contracts under the corn hog production control program have been completed in Klamath county. The first meeting of the board of directors will be held in the near future, and at this time the executive board will pass on the contracts and adjust averages and allotments for production in 1934.

"Dead" Horse Lives After Whiskey Tonic

ANSONIA, Conn., March 13. (AP)—A pint of whiskey worked where a motor wrecking car derick failed in moving a horse that dropped at a street intersection.

A crowd gathered and offered all kinds of advice. Then a veterinarian suggested the liquor. A pint of the fluid was poured down the horse's throat and the animal revived at once, rose and plodded away.

"I KNEW Which Low-Priced Car to Buy... I helped build ALL THREE!"

READ THIS CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH B. V. FRIEDMAN OF DETROIT, MICHIGAN

"Let the other fellow drive without Hydraulic Brakes and a Safety Steel Body"

WE HEARD THAT Mr. Friedman practically lives in his car... averaging 150 miles a day in his business. We went out to see him.

We asked if he "looked at All Three" before buying Plymouth.

"Looked at them?... Mister, I've helped build All Three! But just to make sure, I drove each of the low-priced cars 100 miles."

This owner says he demands two things in a car—comfort and safety!

So Plymouth's Floating Power engine mountings and Individual Wheel Springing appealed to him. No more engine vibration... and no more bumpy rides to tire him out or injure the delicate radio apparatus he carries in his car.

And, of course, anybody who knows cars as he does is sold on Hydraulic Brakes and Safety-Steel Bodies. "I'll let the other fellow drive without them," he says, "but I'm taking no unnecessary chances."

There's not much we can add to Mr. Friedman's convincing story. But we urge you to do this—"Look at All Three before you buy." This year there's a surprising difference in low-priced cars. And you don't need to be a mechanic to see it!

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will be glad to demonstrate Plymouth without obligation.

1 "I was born in the 'Motor City,' and I've worked in the shops of 'All Three.' You bet I know the low-priced cars inside out!"

2 "But just to make sure—I drove 'All Three' 100 miles each over tough roads. Believe me, Plymouth has 'em all beat on performance!"
