

SCHOOL RELIEF LEAGUE BACKS NEW SALES TAX

PORTLAND, March 21—More than 300,000 people, or approximately one-half Oregon's adult population, are contributing no direct property nor income taxes for support of Oregon's municipalities, her schools, counties or the state, according to just compiled figures released today through School Relief and Property Tax Reduction League of Oregon.

The figures closely parallel the McAllenville and Jackson county school surveys which show that 58 per cent of the families having children in city schools are paying no property taxes upon which education in Oregon's 2300 elementary school districts depend.

In releasing the figures, Paul T. Shaw, chairman of the league and head of Portland School District No. 1, characterized the situation as "appallingly unfair to the 154,000 home and farm owners who are paying the bills for the tax free 300,000."

"In all of Oregon's history," said Shaw, "we have never called upon the non-taxpaying majority to come to the aid of either the schools or the taxpayers of the state in general. Now we need their help. Now through the emergency two-year 1 1/2 per cent sales tax we are asking them as neighbors and good citizens, to vote for the tax—whose sole purpose is to keep our schools going and reduce outrageously high property taxes."

"Three hundred thousand new taxpayers, even though they pay as little as 2c a day, can cut $2,100,000 off the taxes that property now pays for school support. Tax free folk can do this bit without sacrifice!"

"As things now stand, property already delinquent by 40 per cent is being called upon to pay $11,576,000 next year. In addition the school districts have $6,000,000 out in interest bearing warrants. Practically half the districts are without any funds whatever, and despite a $3,500,000 cut in operating expenses for the last year, at the ends of their financial ropes. The 154,000 home owners and farmers of Oregon comprise the two groups that must pay the biggest part of these two obligations. To ask 300,000 people who are property tax free to lift a mere 20th part of the burden off the shoulders of the minority for the next two years is certainly fair, particularly when the directly untaxed enjoy all the benefits and free services of our cities, the counties and state, and all from use of schools and other state maintained facilities."

"Demagogues and self-will and reactionary politicians and publicans have misrepresented conditions long enough. Now it's time to face facts, and vote as facts indicate. The assessed value of property in Oregon is less now than it was 20 years ago—but the tax bill it pays is more than $9,000,000 a year larger."

New Union Pacific Train on Test Run

Interested crowds of Klamath Falls citizens are planning to be at the Southern Pacific station Thursday afternoon to watch the arrival of the Union Pacific's colorful and revolutionary stream-line train.

The train will remain in this city overnight, and the coaches will be open for exhibition until 10:00 o'clock in the evening. It will leave here at 7:00 o'clock Friday morning.

If traveling in the future is to be done on similar trains, everyone wants to see what it will be like, and crowds are expected to view the engine, coaches and buffet during the entire evening. Union Pacific railroad officials, who are making the transcontinental trip for testing and exhibition purposes on the new train, will be guests at a public dinner at the Willard hotel Thursday evening, with chamber of commerce acting as host.

F. W. Robinson, vice-president in charge of traffic for the U. P. and J. H. Haugh, vice-president and assistant to the president, both from Omaha, Neb., will be the chief speakers at the dinner which is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

Reservations for this event should be made early through the chamber of commerce.

In addition to Robinson and Haugh, the following officials will accompany the train: W. S. Basinger, passenger traffic manager, Omaha; E. A. Klippel, Jr., assistant general passenger agent, Omaha; W. H. Olin, assistant traffic manager, San Francisco; E. C. Schmidt, director of news service, Omaha; A. S. Edwards, assistant traffic manager, Portland, and Frank A. Fox, general agent from Sacramento.

AMUSEMENTS

PELICAN—Now playing, "It Happened One Night," with Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable.

PINE TREE—Now playing, "Broken Dreams," with Randolph Scott and Martha Sleeper.

RAINBOW—Now playing, "Moonlight and Pretzels."

VOX—Now playing, "You Can't Say Everything," with May Robson. Tomorrow, "Gun Justice," with Ken Maynard.

AT THE PELICAN

Just why San Francisco demanded that "It Happened One Night" be held over three extra weeks will be understood by Klamath Falls audiences today when it is seen at the Pelican theatre. The story offers possibility for a good picture; the Colbert-Gable combination lends probability of a good picture and the direction of Frank Capra makes it inevitable that "It Happened One Night," reach its public 'mid the plaudits of the fans and the furiously excited laudation given it by the press in the few metropolitan centers that have had an opportunity to see it.

AT THE PINE TREE Human interest—the kind that gets right under your skin and clutches at the heart—is the keynote of "Broken Dreams," which plays today at the Pine Tree theatre. Olga Printzlau, author of the story, and Maude Fulton, scenarist, have taken a simple story of real life, and dramatized it for the screen with a sympathetic understanding that makes a powerful appeal to the emotions.

Directed with keen understanding by Robert Vignola, and acted by players of genuine ability, "Broken Dreams" supplies entertainment of a type that every member of the family can enjoy.

AT THE RAINBOW

Composed by four of America's ace songsmiths, the tuneful melodies in "Moonlight and Pretzels," the backstage musical romance, at the Rainbow theatre today, reflects the spirit of the times in a manner unique for screen music.

cal comedy. At least three of the numbers in the score may truly be said to be descriptive of the present American scene. In "Moonlight and Pretzels," more than in any other of the recent screen musicals, the composers have followed the precept of the fellow who said "Let me but write the songs of a nation and I care not who makes its laws."

AT THE VOX

Brace yourself for a new set of thrills!

The management of the Vox theatre has booked the latest picture of the rip-roarin', hard-riding, hard-shooting Ken Maynard, King of Cowboys, called "Gun Justice."

It will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Vox. In "Gun Justice" Ken outdoes his performance in "Strawberry Roan," said to be the best western picture made in the past few years.

Pitted against not one set of plains hoodlums, but two, who want to get control of a ranch willed to him, Ken faces plenty of problems.

He ropes men, shoots more men, stops ranchers from driving herds through his property, does plenty of investigatin', brings the crooks to justice against great odds, and—

Last, but not least, he wins the beautiful Cecilia Parker for his own—to say nothing of a ranch he treasures.

And is Tarzan there? You bet—and backin' up Ken in every move he makes. Don't miss "Gun Justice."

HEALTH BOARD OFFICERS TOUR KLAMATH AREA

Dr. Joseph Mountain of the federal public health service and Dr. Frederick D. Stricker, secretary of the Oregon state board of health, were in Klamath Falls and the adjacent districts Wednesday inspecting health conditions. The officers left Wednesday afternoon for Roseburg where they will stop briefly before continuing to Eugene for the annual state health conference.

Dr. A. A. Soule, city health officer, and Dr. W. J. Watters, city milk and meat inspector, accompanied the officials on their tour of inspection.

Both Dr. Mountain and Dr. Stricker expressed concern over conditions in the South Sixth street district outside the city limits. There, they said, present methods of dispensing foods and general conditions were menacing to health. They feared an outbreak of disease unless some reform was undertaken.

The inspectors recommended that this section eventually be incorporated within the city and placed under the jurisdiction of local health authorities.

The sewage disposal plant was inspected and recommendations made for improvements. They also toured various dumping grounds and urged steps for greater regulation.

BONANZA STUDENTS TO PRESENT PLAY

The senior class of Bonanza high school will present a three-act play on March 29, entitled "She's a Good Fellow." Proceeds from the play are to be used to finance the Pilot Day and the junior-senior banquet which are to be given in the near future.

The leading roles will be taken by Russell Combs and Gladys Daniel. Other members of the cast include: Virginia Monroe, Clyde Vinson, Jack Davis, Margie Daniel, Neil Haskin, Nina Schmor, Charles Loomis, Grace Brown, Virginia Becholdt and Irene Scott.

Mahoney Leaves For Campaign Addresses

After making a second campaign talk over the local radio station for the democratic nomination for governor, Mayor W. E. Mahoney left by train last night for Portland where he will speak tonight to a group of democratic engineers.

The mayor will remain in the northern part of the state and speak Friday noon at Hood River, where he will make known his stand on the Bonneville sea-locks.

young democrat audience from five southern Oregon counties at Bend Saturday night and return to Klamath Falls the first of next week.

SIXTEEN FINED IN CITY COURT

Seventeen traffic violators appeared in police court at 10:00 o'clock Tuesday morning, and 16 of them were assessed fines of $1.00 each for minor offenses. The seventeen had a valid excuse, according to Police Judge Richmond.

"Motorists seem to have gained an erroneous impression about this traffic business," Richmond stated Tuesday. "Just because it is a first offense is no reason to believe a fine will not be imposed. This was the case when the first drive on over-time parkers was begun, but because of the number of warnings issued, new signs put in place, and other notifications, all violators are liable to fine now," the judge declared.

The minimum fine is $1.00, and increases in proportion to the importance of the violation.
