between Greece and Turkey would be settled amicably. Captain Mousouris said the police had asked to pull an agent in Innull's cabin in order to prevent him from committing any desperate act but that this request had been refused although a police agent stayed continually on guard in the corridor outside Innull's room.

Documents Awaited

Attorney-General Kenan says he expected the Istanbul penal court, which probably will give Innull a trial, was expecting to receive documents in the case momentarily. The penal court consists of three judges—a president and two assistants. The sessions may be secret or public according to the president's decision. The jury system does not exist in Turkey.

Innull's Present Status in Turkey

Key is that of an alleged offender according to United States laws, the American government has asked the Turkish government, acting on the basis of article 9 of the Turkish penal code, to submit the American government's request to Kenan Bey who was to submit it to the penal court here.

Suicide Attempted

Turkish authorities decided last night that Innull's case comes under the provision authorizing his arrest for American authorities. As his tiny Greek freighter Malotis lay in Istanbul harbor, forbidden to move farther toward her destination, Rumania, Innull was reported to have attempted to leap to death when told of the government's decision.

It was said today that Innull might have been allowed to proceed into the Black sea in his quest for a new refuge, after his flight from Athens, had his ship not passed here to take on supplies. During the halt, Ambassador Skinner received his government's cabled request for Innull's arrest by Turkey. Police boats quickly surrounded the aged seafarer who was a prisoner once more.

It was indicated Innull had hoped to reach some Rumanian port at which he might negotiate for entry into that country, either seeking asylum there or continuing overland to Persia.

the youngsters are included in the day's ceremonies, and the Easter parade gives promise of being more colorful than for several years past.

PASCHAL CANDLES LIGHTED

ROME, March 31 (AP)—Paschal candles were lighted in nearly 200 churches and basilicas this morning as priests and laymen alike celebrated Holy Saturday. Church bells silent since Holy Thursday rang out, sacred images solemnly draped in commemoration of Christ's passion and death were uncovered, and joyful organ music once again was allowed to rebound through the churches.

The ceremonies marked the end of the 40-day Lenten mourning. Today's services held a note of joyful anticipation for tomorrow's anniversary of Christ's resurrection.

Cardinal Pacelli lighted the Easter fire in St. Peter's this morning by striking sparks from a flint. The "new fire" as it is called was suggestive of the resurrection.

JERUSALEM FILLED

JERUSALEM, March 31 (AP)—The narrative, biblical streets of the Holy City were thronged today by thousands of pilgrims of three races assembled for celebration of the outstanding event of their respective religious calendars—the Festival of Easter, the Passover, and Nebi Mousouris. For many Jewish-Americans, it was their first passover in the Holy Land.

Many Christian Americans joined the colorful throngs on the ancient streets and worshipped in western churches in anticipation of tomorrow's "Resurrexit Sicut Dixit!"

Roosevelt Fishes Off Great Abaco

MIAMI, Fla., March 31, (AP)—President Roosevelt spent today fishing off the great Abaco Island in the Bahamas.

The following message came from his yacht, Nourmahal, to Marvin H. McIntyre, his secretary, located here: "At noon and probably throughout the day we will be anchored half mile off Rocky Point, Great Abaco Island. Latitude 25.56 north, longitude 77.23 west."

RURAL SCHOOLS CLOSED

SALISBURY, March 31, (AP)—Six rural schools have closed for the year and 44 others will close this week and in April with shortened terms of 5 1/2 to 8 months. O. D. Adams, director of the emergency education relief program in Oregon, said today.

Will Baldwin in the courthouse will be retained awaiting further instructions.

It is believed here CWA projects, such as the old high school building and airports, will be completed under the SERIA program.

The last CWA payroll was expected to run around $3000. The payroll for the week ending Thursday was $4400.

John Hechen, Jr., has arrived here to take charge of placement work for the new relief set-up. He said he was not ready to make any announcement of arrangements for his work.

CRAWFORD EXPLAINS INDIAN ATTITUDE

that would be greatly benefited if the bill became law.

First, it should be distinctly understood that self-government under the bill is not mandatory. A petition to the secretary of the interior signed by twenty-five per cent of the Indians will first be required before a charter will be issued. The ratification of the charter will require a vote of three-fifths of the voting population of the reservation.

The main purpose of this bill is to correct the condition which has existed in the Indian Bureau for many years; which has been a problem to congress. This is the first attempt made by any commissioner of Indian affairs to draft a bill to conserve the Indians' lands and make them self-supporting.

Through sales by the government of the fictitiously designated "surplus" lands; through sales by allottees after the trust period had ended or had been terminated by administrative act; and through sales by the government of helmsip land, virtually mandatory under the allotment act; through these three methods, the total of Indian landholdings has been cut from 133,000,000 acres in 1887 to 48,000,000 acres in 1934.

The gross statistics, however, are misleading. For of the remaining 48,000,000 acres, more than 20,000,000 acres are contained within areas which for special reasons have been exempted from the allotment law; whereas the land loss is chargeable exclusively against the allotment system. 80 per cent of the allotted lands have passed out of Indian ownership.

On the Klamath reservation there are 53,423.22 acres of inherited lands. In order to straighten up the helmsip under the existing law the Indian Bureau would be forced to sell the land and divide the proceeds among the heirs; there being as many as twenty heirs for one piece of land. Sometimes it takes as long as sixty days to obtain the signatures on a lease for one piece of land at a great expense to the government—probably more than the lease is actually worth.

The office records prove that the land would pass into white ownership and in a few years the Indians would become landless. There are now on the Klamath reservation 789 landless Indians, and the majority of the adults of this group are destitute. It is a real problem when an Indian comes to my office and tells me he has nothing to eat and no credit or when an Indian has to have a major operation and has no available funds and the only way he can be taken care of is by his children or grandchildren. Upon the death of this Indian he has no funds for burial expenses and this too must be borne by the relatives or the tribal funds.

If it were not for the funds of the children at this Agency, a great many of the families would suffer for the necessities of life and for the proper medical attention. A survey recently completed shows that a great majority of the families here are not self-supporting. Under the present system the children are supporting the adults rather than the adults supporting the children. This condition cannot last for long the children will be penniless. The prevailing system of the Indian Service in teaching the Indians not to be self-supporting, but to live on three unearned incomes; namely, children's money, lease of lands, and per capita payments. From my investigation I find the individual Indians became badly indebted to the amount of $202,991.27 during the times they received large per capita payments; which proves that under such a policy the Indians have not progressed but have retrograded.

This bill gives the Indians what I have heard them ask for for a number of years—control of their tribal funds. This bill provides an educational loan not to exceed $1,000.00 per year; only one-half of which is to be reimbursed to the government after the completion of the education. This bill also provides for the purchase of lands to be given to the landless Indians during their lifetime and during the lifetime of their children and their children's children as long as they will work the land, but the title will always remain in the United States government.

PORTLAND FLOOD CONTROL PLANNED

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The army board of engineers today notified Senator Steiwer (R. Ore.), the cost of a flood control survey for all streams in the Portland, Ore., engineering district would be approximately $200,000.

Details given by Brig. Gen. G. B. Tibberty, acting chief of staff, estimated surveys including preparations of detailed plans and specifications, in the Portland area would cost as follows: Columbia river below Vancouver, Wash., exclusive of tributaries, $55,000; Willamette river, $115,000; Nehalem river, $9,000; Tillamook area, $19,000.

Funerals

MARY CATHERINE OWSELEY Mary Catherine Owseley passed away at the home of her son in this city Friday evening. She was a native of Missouri and was 66 years, 6 months and 16 days at the time of her death.

She came to Oregon at an early age and spent most of her life at Silver Lake. She leaves to mourn her passing three sons, William of this city, Cecil B. and Ray B., both of Silver Lake; three sisters, Melissa E. Chase and Edna Bunn of Bonanza, and Ina James of Klamath Falls. The remains are at the Klamath Funeral Home, 925 High street, where friends may call until Sunday evening. The funeral service will take place at Silver Lake from the Baptist church at 1 p. m. Sunday, April 2. The Rev. Lawrence Myers of Lakeview will officiate. Interment will be in the family plot in the Silver Lake cemetery.

PETITIONS FILED FOR POLICE CHANGE

Petitions to place two charter amendments on the May 18 ballot, providing for abolishing police civil service and electing the police chief, were turned over to the county clerk for checking on names Saturday. Police Judge Clifton Richmond received the petitions Friday afternoon. Some question arose as to some of the signatures on the petitions, which were said to be in similar handwriting. At the county clerk's office, it was said the matter had been referred to the city attorney.

EDWARD PIKE, LUMBERMAN, SHOOTS SELF

Driscoll was alarmed at the tone of voice and what Pike said, and went immediately to the Pelican City home. By the time he arrived, Pike had killed himself.

The lumberman apparently went into his room, removed his outer clothes, lay down on the bed and shot himself with a shotgun. It was believed he had not gone out of the house during the morning.

Mrs. Pike in City

Mrs. Pike at the time was down town in Klamath Falls with a friend. She returned shortly after the shooting.

Pike's wide circle of friends were shocked at the tragedy. They could offer no reason for the action of the lumberman.

Mortenson said he had not suspected anything when he conversed with Pike over the telephone.

Friends who saw Pike Friday said he appeared in good spirits.

Widely Known Here

Pike was widely known, both in and out of the lumber industry. He was a native of Rhode Island, and members of his family live in the east.

He was a graduate of Brown university, and played football there. When he first came west, he lived in California where he engaged in the lumber business.

In 1914, he came to Klamath Falls and began his activities with the Pelican Bay Lumber company. In 1918, he went to Louisiana for two years, but returned and for the last 14 years has resided at Pelican City.

Pike was actively interested in public affairs. He served on the Klamath county grand jury two or three years ago.

The body is at the Earl Whitlock Funeral home, where arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

PINE ASSOCIATION MEETS SATURDAY

Directors of the Western Pine Association for this district, which includes Klamath Falls, Lakeview and Medford, met in the local offices Saturday to outline recommendations relative to sustained yield forest management under article 10 of the lumber code.

All districts of the state are holding similar meetings and recommendations will be turned into the executive committee in order to determine the most favorable methods for cutting timber and regulation of future growth.

Article 10 of the code is the subject of great controversy throughout the lumber regions of the nation, according to officials of the Western Pine Association.

W. E. Lamm, of the Lamm Lumber company at Modoc Point, presided as chairman of the meeting, and others present were: Claude Daggett, Junior Daggett, Jackson F. Kimball, J. Royal Shaw, all of Klamath Falls, and R. L. Buzard, W. D. Starbird, and Jim Clark of Lakeview; G. W. Cameron of Willow Ranch, and A. W. Moon of Ashland.

Tomorrow Is Easter—

another day of rejoicing in commemoration of the life of Christ—the greatest and finest character of all history.

Easter Sunday seems to be celebrated in a slightly different manner by the Christian people of the earth than is Christmas Day. At Christmas time we give presents to our loved ones, commemorating so to speak, our Lord's most gracious attitude toward the human race.

At Easter time we celebrate His resurrection and ascension. We celebrate this Holy Day by gathering together in houses of worship, returning thanks to Almighty God for the presence of His only Son, who at one time graced this earth, clothed apparently as you and I.

For numerous years and years it has been a custom, when possible to do so, to dress just a little better for this occasion—to take just a little more pride in our personal appearance. That seems to be the trend among most people.

To those who were unable to buy new spring and summer attire at this time, we want to say—don't stay at home on that account. Go to church somewhere, some place on Easter Sunday. There is no church on earth worthy of the name that demands a dress parade of its visitors on Easter Sunday or any other Sunday. Likewise, there is no store on earth deserving of success who tries to commercialize on Christmas Day or Easter Sunday.

This store apologizes for any reference made to Easter Sunday in its recent advertising. The intention was not to commercialize on the day, but rather to bring to the minds of the public what the entire store staff considers—a better place to buy.

This Ad is not intended to create extra business, but rather to create a desire to commemorate one of the most important days in history—Easter Sunday.

Express Service Improvement Made

Packages for express shipment will be accepted by the local Western Union telegraph office or be picked up by telegraph messengers, on or after April 1, according to announcement by J. J. Parker, agent of the Railway Express company, and E. P. Livingston, agent for the Western Union here.

This combination of services is intended to make express service more readily available to the public, Parker said.

Food Poisons Jail Inmates

PORTLAND, March 31, (AP)—Over-seasoning with garlic and onions of hamburger served at breakfast to prisoners in the city jail here today, was blamed by city physicians for the illness of 21 of the inmates.

None of the men was made seriously ill, and the distress was generally confined to headaches and stomach pains. City officials who inspected the meat said it appeared to be fresh.

and LOOK at the Price $565 FOR THE COUPÉ AT FACTORY

There are always two sides to an opinion. There can only be one side to a fact. If you are considering the purchase of a car—weigh these facts about the new Terraplane 6.

1st in BIGNESS
By foot rule, yard stick or tape measure, there can be only ONE car that's BIGGEST. In the low price field today, that's Terraplane—15 feet 10 inches from bumper to bumper!

1st in PERFORMANCE
Performance is just another word until it's proved. The Terraplane proves its performance with facts. The new Terraplane will even outperform the Terraplane 6 that broke official AAA record after record last year.

1st in POWER
Of two different figures—one is either greater or less than another. With 85 horsepower, the Terraplane 6 is the most powerful 6 in the low price field.

1st in STYLE
A car either has a tire carrier or baggage trunk in the rear—or the rear lines are clean. With clean, flowing rear body lines and a front end free of air pockets, the Terraplane 6 is first in fully advanced streamlined style.

1st in ECONOMY
Terraplane economy has been proved in actual owner service—by owners' sworn statements.
