

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL ATTEND C. E. SESSION

More than 30 young people from the Klamath-Lake Christian Endeavor union are leaving by automobile and train for Salem this Thursday and Friday to attend the Golden Jubilee Oregon State Christian Endeavor convention, to be held in the Capitol City on April 19-22.

The local union plans as special features to take part in the historical display, oratorical contest, life work recruit luncheon and international convention tea. There are state Endeavor officers in Klamath Falls. These are Harold Van Duker, president of the local order; Thelma Parrish, state regional vice president, and Constance Fisher, state lookout superintendent.

Many special features have been worked out by the entertainment committee. Daniel A. Polling, international president of Christian Endeavor, is to fly from New York to attend the sessions and to make the main address on Saturday afternoon and Saturday and Sunday evenings. A record bearing a message to the convention from Mother Frances E. Clark, founder of the movement,

Realism Outstanding Note of Theatre Guild's Drama

A camp-fire blazed last night beside the Liak river, lighting up a row of old, travel-scattered wagons in the background. Grouped about the fire were people, men and women, their faces tired and weary in the flickering light.

The subdued murmur and ripple of the river accompanied a far-away Indian tom-tom which beat menacingly and caused the group to draw closer to the fire.

It was a wagon train, camped for the night beside a welcome stream on the Old Oregon Trail. Suddenly, a man's high-pitched hysterical voice cried: "We can't take the short-cut, captain! We'll get lost, sure!"

And a powerful bass voice momentarily drowned out the heat of the tom-tom.

"You're yaller, Clemens, yaller!" it snarled.

"One minute, please," called another voice, and a tall, spare figure stepped into the dancing fire light. "Take him by the collar, captain. You'd like to choke him."

"All right, Mr. Lyons."

It was then the writer came to life and realized that this was a rehearsal for "Distant Drums," a play of the Old Oregon Trail, to be given by the Little Theatre Guild under the direction of Clement W. Lyons, of Tulelake, at the Pelican theatre in May.

The realism of the setting for rehearsals is an indication of the earnestness and sincerity of this group of young people who are trying to fill a long-felt need in the community for a high type of entertainment.

But as the writer watched the story of "Distant Drums" unfold, saw trouble pile its increasing load on the wagon train, the thought kept recurring that, surely, such tragedy was not true to life, but was, rather a composite picture of all the caravans that crossed on the Old Oregon Trail.

There is the drowning of a woman, while the wagons are fording a river, just before the play opens.

There is the birth of a baby during the night camp—a baby who is doomed to die with the cold of winter.

There is the death of the old grandmother, who does not have the strength necessary for the long, hard journey.

There is Death, always stalking the train, which takes away the minister's wife, the young school teacher, and other members of the party.

There are the countless little delays that set back the wagon train from its schedule.

There is the arrival of winter, snow, wind, and cold; lack of

RANGERS FIND BLACK PURSE AT SAND CREEK

A black leather purse containing $15 in currency and 53 cents in coins was found Wednesday in San Creek waters near the demolished car of Andrea Maddella and Doris Sparks, according to Dr. George Adler, county coroner.

The purse was found by Ranger Simpson of the Crater Lake national park. Cards in it with other personal belongings showed the purse belonged to Miss Maddella, one of the two ill-fated cosmeticians whose car was hurled into the canyon November 12. The tragic accident remained a mystery and was not revealed until a week ago when the two crumpled bodies of the young women were taken from the canyon.

Dr. Adler has received a letter from an Ashland resident, asking that he be sold the wrecked car and permitted to recover it from the canyon. Before removal of the car will be permitted, an order must be given by the government park service, Dr. Adler stated.

Park rangers who are keeping watch over the spot to prevent curious souvenir hunters from molesting the remains of the wreckage, are planning to remove the car, a Chevrolet coupe, from the canyon when permission is granted. Cables and donkey engines will be used to lift the wreck from its resting place at the bottom of the canyon more than 200 feet over a sheer cliff from the highway.

LUCKIES are All-Ways kind to your throat

so round, so firm, so fully packed—no loose ends that's why you'll find Luckies do not dry out

We think you'd be impressed if you saw Luckies being made. You'd see those clean, silky center leaves—and you really wouldn't have to be a tobacco expert to know why farmers get higher prices for them. They are the mildest leaves—their taste better. You'd be impressed by Lucky Strike's famous process—"It's toasted"—designed for your throat protection. And we know that you'll be truly fascinated when you see how Luckies are rolled round and firm, and fully packed with long golden strands of choice tobaccos. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. And you'll get the full meaning of our statement that Luckies are all-ways kind to your throat.
