

The Evening Herald
 HERALD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Publishers
 FRANK JENNINGS, Editor
 MALCOLM HUBLEY, Managing Editor
 Published every afternoon except Sunday by The Herald Publishing Company at 154-155 South Fifth Street, Klamath Falls, Oregon.
 Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 30, 1926, under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.
 MAIL RATES PAYABLE IN ADVANCE
 By Mail: In County Outside County
 Three Months $1.75 $2.25
 Six Months 3.00 4.00
 One Year 5.50 7.00
 Delivered by Carrier in City: One Month 1.00, Three Months 2.50, Six Months 4.50, One Year 8.00
 Represented Nationally by M. C. MOOREHEAD & CO., Inc.
 San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Seattle, Chicago, Portland, Los Angeles.
 Member of The Associated Press
 The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use or republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of republication of special dispatches here are also reserved.

WASHINGTON

News Behind the News

The Inside Story From The Capital
 By PAUL MALLON
 Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, May 21—There never has been more petty backstairs political intrigue in Washington than has sprung up lately inside the administration.

Cliques of liberals and conservatives have become audacious, trying to pull the president one way or another. So have groups of schemers, trying to get jobs or hold the ones they have.

A few of the bigs and counterplots have been brought to the attention of the White House. Some of President Roosevelt's best think-men have reached the conclusion that there are too many people in the government working for their own ends instead of Mr. Roosevelt's.

Shortly, an effort will be made to separate the sheep and goats. Among the goats may be found an attorney prominently identified with one of the largest emergency set-ups, as well as a few liberal hangers-on.

SIDE GLANCES—by George Clark

"How do you suppose I feel when someone says mother and I look like sisters?"

Viewing the Election

DECLINE of the political influence of radicalism and of demagogic appeals in Oregon is seen by many of the state's newspapers in their discussion of the outcome of Friday's primary election. Most of them predict that Joe Dunne, the republican gubernatorial nominee, will give General Charles H. Martin a great race in the fall.

Here are some random comments taken from the editorial pages of the state's daily newspapers, offered for the interest there is in them to local readers:

Salem Statesman—Joe Dunne's nomination gives the republican party a very strong candidate against General Martin. He is an able campaigner . . . and will attract the larger share of the independent vote. Mahoney's campaign . . . could not overcome the tremendous weight of the party newspapers and the party leadership and the party organization which were lined up solidly behind General Martin . . . The state kept its balance pretty well. Mahoney was the self-appointed radical of the candidates and he was effectively defeated.

Astorian-Budget—Martin defeated Mayor Mahoney of Klamath handsily although the glib-tongued Irishman captured a strong vote in some of the centers of population. Dunne was the beneficiary of the movement to defeat Rufus Holman . . .

Bend Bulletin—And so the opposing candidates for governor are to be Joe E. Dunne and Charles H. Martin. Each party has done well in the selection of its leader. Without doubt each has picked the strongest name from the field of choice. This newspaper will gladly support Joe E. Dunne.

Baker Democrat-Herald—General Martin made his thousands of admirers happy by outdistancing Willis Mahoney, the only real bad man in the governor contest. The democrats showed good judgment. We will have a good race for this office in the fall and the state won't suffer, regardless of the outcome . . . The governor results in both parties show radicalism is definitely on the decline and that candidates of moderate views are coming into their own.

The Dalles Chronicle—The Chronicle believes that Oregon republicans have made a good choice (Joe Dunne) . . . There is no need for republican voters to bolt their party in the fall with Joe Dunne in the field. The democrats also voted wisely in nominating General Charles H. Martin, who is head and shoulders above Willis Mahoney, his rival for party favor.

Salem Capital Journal—(referring to Mr. Mahoney's financial support by Dr. Frank B. Robinson)—Here we have the unique spectacle of a carpet-bagger from Washington financed by a faith-healer from Idaho attempting to dominate the politics and government of Oregon. The effort failed because the miracle worker did not utilize his "invisible dynamic power" to multiply the votes.

Morning Oregonian—In the primaries of both parties the openly radical and demagogic candidates for important offices went down to defeat. There is in this fact an appearance of a drift to the right in Oregon . . . The democratic party, by nominating General Martin, escaped humiliation and disaster . . . We have no purpose to be a killjoy in saying as we do that handsome as was the majority of General Martin, he deserved a bigger one under the circumstances.

On the whole, the editors of the state press are moderate in their thinking and writing. Hence their apparent pleasure at the general result of Friday's Oregon election.

A Fine Piece of Work

THE use of counting boards in Friday's primary election was an outstanding success. Much credit is due Mrs. Mae K. Short, county clerk, for putting into effect this plan, which two years ago was urged for use in this county by The Herald and News.

Not since Klamath county "grew up" have election returns been compiled so rapidly here. At the Herald and News office, where the lobby was jammed, the drift of the voting was known almost immediately after the polls closed, and the newspaper tabulation totals ran up to large figures in amazingly rapid time.

The counting board system costs no more. It is more rapid, and more efficient because the counting is done by a fresh board and not by weary members of the regular election board on an over-time basis, as is the case with the other plan. The counting until 8 p. m. is in secret, but there are five members of each counting board and it is absurd to think that any wrong might incur from the secret counting. Counting boards are widely used in other counties of the state.

The public is intensely interested in early election returns, as is indicated by the presence of large numbers in the newspaper office election night, the many calls to this and the clerk's office, and the widespread listening-in to radio reports. The counting board plan serves that interest effectively, and a word of appreciation is in order.

From The Candidates

MEMPHIS, Ore.—I am taking this means of expressing my deep appreciation to the republican and democratic voters and friends in Klamath county for their loyal support in Friday's primaries. I will strive to merit their faith and friendship.
 R. H. Anderson, (Successful candidate for the republican nomination for county commissioner.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—I take this opportunity to thank you sincerely from the bottom of my heart and everyone of the faithful workers in my campaign for the splendid support given and the magnificent effort you all made.

To one and all my deepest gratitude.
 Charles H. Martin, (Successful candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, in telegram to Mrs. Nelson Reed.)

KLAMATH FALLS—I wish to thank my friends for their wholehearted support in the primary elections and hope for their further support in the November elections.
 Sam P. Miller, (Successful candidate for the republican nomination for assessor.)

KLAMATH FALLS—I take this means of expressing my warm appreciation of the supporters who stood loyally by me in the campaign for circuit judge.
 A. W. Schaupp, Brazil, with its 4106 miles of coast-line, has a navy personnel of 12,000 men.

EXODUS

Simultaneously, a number of the college professors in the administration have grown restless. Apparently their colleges do not appreciate what important jobs the professors are doing here. The colleges want them to make up their minds whether they want to be teachers or public officials. A few have been told that their college jobs cannot be held open beyond September.

There also are a few professors who have reached the conclusion that they can save the world better in college. They do not take well to the political life of backslapping and backbiting. Their idealistic desires do not always fit in with the political exigencies of a situation and some have become discouraged.

So, for one reason and another, you may expect an exodus of men of learning from the government before the September semesters start.

PLANS

All this fits in rather well with administration plans. Before these things came up, the master minds had decided that a mild reorganization of personnel in the NIA, A.A.A., et al., was desirable. For some weeks Mr. Roosevelt has had scouts out looking over big league political prospects out in the country. His henchmen explain privately that he is eager to get "a better type of men" in some of the secondary government positions.

SMOOTHNESS

The president has a flair for handling his political family troubles. The way he smothered the Thorp case is an example. The politicians forced Thorp out all right, but it was an empty victory for them. The case had all the possibilities of a first class explosion. Democratic partisans worked everything around to where they induced the president to withdraw Thorp. At the same time, Assistant Commerce Secretary Dickinson threatened to resign unless a man of Thorp's qualifications was selected in his place. The politician had a candidate whose name never has been divulged. They would have been satisfied also if Mr. Roosevelt had let Thorp's assistant serve for a while.

The president fooled them completely by naming Dickinson for the job. That kept Dickinson from resigning, and thwarted the efforts of those in Thorp's bureau who had stirred up animosity to him.

BET

General Farley's right-hand man, Emil Hurja was riding on a senate elevator the other day, when he was introduced to Senator David Reed's right-hand man, Theodore Huntley. Mr. Hurja said he was mighty glad Reed had been nominated in Pennsylvania because he thought that made it certain the democrats would win up there in November by 300,000 votes. This roused Mr. Huntley's fist.

Telling the Editor

CONTINUING KIRK'S ANSWER

KLAMATH Indian Replies to Letter of Official of Indian Defense Group.

(In this letter, Clayton Kirk continues his reply to a letter contributed to this column by Allan G. Harper, executive secretary of the American Indian Defense League.)

Mr. Harper in his statements tries hard to make "wise cracks," this should have no place in an earnest discussion. He wants to ride to victory on ridiculing Indians who endorse the so-called "Indian Rights bill" as Mr. Harper-Howard bill.

If the Indian Defense association endorses such a course, then the association should change its name to something more appropriate to the stand taken by Mr. Harper, as judging from the attitude of its representatives (Mr. Harper), the association is overlooking many of the objectionable features of the "Wheeler-Howard bill," going on record in a newspaper endorsing the so-called "Indian Rights bill" as Mr. Harper-Howard bill.

Mr. Harper says further, "that the day will come when the Indians won't have any land at all." How does Mr. Harper figure that out. In the early history of the United States records show that many millions of acres of land were homesteaded, in fact all of the available land for farming purposes was exhausted. These lands homesteaded were sold and resold many times, still the citizens have land. Are the Indians going to follow different course and become landless and destitute? Does Mr. Harper think that Indians are incapable of learning the great lesson of holding onto land for themselves?

In a majority of cases it is only those Indians who are landless who were promised land but never provided with land such as some of the Indians in Eastern Oregon, of the mid-Rocky Mountain states and northern California, not to say anything of the coast Indians of western Oregon and parts of Washington state.

These Indians should be looked after first. Without handing out an ultimatum to all the Indians to accept the "Wheeler Howard bill" without a full understanding of Senator Van Nuys was complaining about his lumbago in a committee hearing the other day, when General Thatcher, Nevada attorney, suggested he knew a sure cure for it. General Thatcher said he had long been a sufferer from lumbago, but finally got rid of it by catching smilglox. Van Nuys indicated he would keep the lumbago.

NOTES

MEETING POSTPONED

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club will not meet on Wednesday as the hostess, Mrs. Carahan, is out of town. Members will be notified later of the new meeting date.

Contrary to common legend

Nero could not have played the fiddle while Rome burned, because that instrument had not yet been invented.

The Helpful Neighbor

the proposal, leaving the judgment of the so-called self government as to its probability of correcting the evils which are found to exist in the management of Indian affairs. To the Indian bureau and the interior department which are mostly non-Indians, and won't be affected by the proposed laws. In this connection the bill should be thoroughly aired and discussed for a sufficient time and not hurried through as an emergency measure. This suggestion may be too late as the bill in question is now being urged for early enactment into law. A few days ago Commissioner Collier brought the members of the Indian Rights association, the so-called Indian Defense association, and the Department of Justice, to bring pressure to bear to induce the committee in congress to favor passage of the "Wheeler Howard bill."

Mr. Collier should have a representative from all the Indian reservations in the United States to appear before the committee in congress instead of being there and venting in a haphazard and very little opportunity to learn the contents of the proposed law was allowed.

Such practice is a violation of the first principles of self government. Mr. Harper says "If one is incapable of taking a whole view of the situation or is incapable of planning a way out of a blind alley of increasing impoverishment, then one had better remain silent."

What does Mr. Harper mean? Has he taken the stand that if you oppose the measure you can't argue again? Mr. Harper sure takes the cake for advocating himself as an all-wise individual, no one can know more than Mr. Harper!

In an answer to this phase of Mr. Harper's discussion the writer hereof suggests that if a national Indian congress were called, where every Indian reservation and tribe of Indians were represented they could formulate a far better program of a "New Deal" than has been offered by Commissioner Collier.

The way the so-called "self government bill" has been advanced has the ear-marks and appearance that the sponsor of the bill wants all the glory of emancipating the Indian from his "increasing impoverishment" without giving the Indians sufficient opportunity to formulate their own program.

The late President Woodrow Wilson lost his popularity by advocating the endorsement of the covenant of the league of nations by the American people without the crossing of a "T" or the dotting of an "I."

He did not want the proper representation (which is congress) of the people to help him, so he lost out.

Hope that the bill does not pass during this session of congress, so as to give ample time for the study of the proposal.

Mr. Harper gives me first prize for foolish statements. I'll give Mr. Harper a booby prize for an attempt at "wise cracks." He should study up some better ones. (To Be Continued) reservation and designates the number of E. C. W. workers who are on fire duty every Saturday and Sunday as well as the regular employees who are to serve on each Sunday throughout the fire season.

There are four lookout stations on the reservation, at Vansey, Callmers, Agency Butte, Swan Lake and O. at Mt. Scott which is a cooperative station maintained by this office. Crater National and Rogue River National forests.

Two lookouts are on duty already and two more are to begin their duties next week. Several small fires have already been extinguished, several of these being caused by lightning.

Three new lookout towers have been approved under E. C. W. program, and are to be constructed on the reservation. One 60 foot steel tower to be erected at River Bend Butte, an 80 foot tower for Applegate Butte and a 47 foot tower for Boundary Butte. New cabins for the lookouts are to be constructed at each tower.

Four new trucks have been ordered to be in fire control work, one 1 1/2 ton truck and three 3/4 ton trucks.

With this new equipment and the new towers, the Klamath reservation will have the best fire protective system in this part of the country.

C. J. Dague, meteorologist from Portland spent Wednesday at Klamath Agency. Mr. Dague is head of the fire weather service in Oregon. This service maintains stations in all national forests. Two stations are on this reservation, one at Golinus and one here at the Agency.

Every possible measure is taken to prevent forest fires, and as an added precaution the "Closed to Smoking" rule goes into effect on the reservation May 25th.

Under the E. C. W. program several projects are underway for this summer, and it is possible that Indians from Fort Bidwell, California will be imported to fill the allowed quota here.

All forestry men on the reservation are to be deputized as special game wardens, with one appointed as a special officer in charge.

A new power plant is to be constructed at the Agency soon, bids being out now on the building. This is to be a regular 110 A. C. current plant.

Due to the increase in timber sales work, five new coupes are to be ordered for the use of timber sale workers.

KLAMATH AGENCY. Robert Ward, the new E. C. W. clerk, arrived here recently from Yakima, Wash., and took up his duties. Mr. Ward is a graduate of Haskell college.

Mr. Hal Weaver, forestry assistant from Spokane, is at the Agency this week. Weaver is in charge of beetle control work under E. C. W. Mrs. Weaver accompanied her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Christy made a trip to Grants Pass last Friday, where they visited Mrs. Christy's parents. They were accompanied on their return by Mrs. Christy's sister, Miss Roberta Akin.

Mr. C. I. Dague was the luncheon guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Davis Wednesday.

Mrs. S. O. Davis and Miss Florence Miller visited the school last Friday, where they took part in the picnic held by the fourth grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Weaver and Mr. Stanley Johnson were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Weaver Wednesday evening.

Mrs. S. O. Davis, Mrs. Albert Christy and Miss Roberta Akin spent Tuesday in Klamath Falls shopping.

Mrs. Betty Decker and daughter Leona and Miss Eva Henry spent Thursday afternoon at the Agency.

ALGOMA NEWS

ALGOMA, Ore.—The graduation exercises were well attended last Thursday evening.

Articles of clothing, cooking, carpenter work, etc., were on the program. The members of 4-H clubs. Mr. Sexton gave a very interesting talk on club work and the benefits to the children who are members. Articles of school work for the lower grades were also on display.

Certificates for scholars being neither absent or tardy during the school term and for books enough land for themselves?

In a majority of cases it is only those Indians who are landless who were promised land but never provided with land such as some of the Indians in Eastern Oregon, of the mid-Rocky Mountain states and northern California, not to say anything of the coast Indians of western Oregon and parts of Washington state.

These Indians should be looked after first. Without handing out an ultimatum to all the Indians to accept the "Wheeler Howard bill" without a full understanding of

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

Society

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED AT DELIGHTFUL EVENT

Mrs. Elton V. Jackson and Miss Thelma Reed entertained a number of guests Thursday, May 17, in honor of Miss Wyoming Foster whose marriage to Elbert Stiles will take place in June.

The Jackson home on Vine street was attractively decorated with spring flowers.

Four tables of bridge were in play during the evening. High score was awarded to Mrs. Clarence Nelson and consolation went to Mrs. E. E. Thorp.

The guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Those present were: Misses Florence Parsons, Alberta Siroky, Iris Gilbert, Helen Gannon, and Edna Jackson, Madams: Wallace Usfing, Kenneth A. Moore, Arthur Currie, Clarence Drake, E. E. Thorp, Clarence Nelson, Clinton Landis, Guy L. Ferguson, Jay Hassard, W. T. Compton, H. E. Jones, Jerome Henry and E. O. Foster.

Delightful refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

B. AND P. W. HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The final meeting of the Klamath Falls Federation of Business and Professional Women before the state convention opening in Portland Friday, May 25, will be held in the city library auditorium this Monday evening, with dinner served at six-thirty o'clock. A short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Isabelle Briner, president, will follow after which bridge will be in play.

The East Klamath Improvement auxiliary will meet in its clubrooms on East Main street Wednesday, when a quilt will be started. A potluck luncheon will be served at noon. The club rooms will be opened at noon, and all members are urged to be present.

Women of the Moose will elect officers for the ensuing year at the regular meeting to be held Tuesday evening, May 22, at 8:00 o'clock. All members are urged to be present to cast their votes.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will meet Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the library club rooms. All members are urged to be present.

MALIN ITEMS

MALIN, Ore.—The boys of the F. F. A. gave a Mothers' Day banquet in honor of their mothers, who were in attendance last Monday evening, May 14, at the church.

There were 21 in attendance to sit down to the feast. Kenneth Holbrook acted as chairman. Harry Hundley, Halbert Wilson and Jack Ratliff responded to various subjects.

This Mothers' banquet is an annual affair and is given near Mothers' Day each year. It is always a great time for the mothers and their sons. Mr. A. E. Street is the agriculture teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd of Klamath Falls spent Sunday, Mothers' Day, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Holbrook.

The high school and grade school teachers who have returned to their homes for the vacation period are as follows: Mr. Parks to Talent, Oregon, Miss Betty Alexander to Portland. She was accompanied by Miss Burnett and Miss Stringer. Miss Bevington left Saturday for her home in Ashland and Miss Schaebeck to Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rainus are the parents of a little daughter, born May 16, and Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Rainus had a son born on the next day. Jerry and Laddie are brothers.

Miss Emma Kalina and Mildred Zuch left Friday to attend the high school graduating exercises at Bend. Evelyn Collins is one of the graduates.

Charles Farrar Browne was the real name of "Artemus Ward," the famous author.

No closely related fossil ancestor of the zebu, or Indian ox, has even been found.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

WISDOM

Wisdom is not a matter of intellect, but of character. It is the ability to see things as they are, and to act accordingly.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THUNDER
 SOMETIMES OCCURS WHEN THERE ARE NO CLOUDS IN THE SKY!

The BLACKFEET INDIANS
 OF A FEW GENERATIONS AGO RAN FOOT-RACES SEVERAL HUNDRED MILES IN LENGTH, WITHOUT STOPPING!
 A FAVORITE RUN WAS FROM WHAT IS NOW GLITCHEN, ALBERTA, TO MEDICINE HAT, AND BACK... A DISTANCE OF ABOUT 240 MILES

IN PENNSYLVANIA, IF THERE WERE BUT ONE NEST OF ROBINS ON EACH ACRE OF LAND, WITH FOUR YOUNG IN EACH NEST, A TOTAL OF 3,000 TONS OF INSECTS WOULD BE REQUIRED TO FEED THEM FOR JUST ONE DAY.

© 1934 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.