Mrs. A. O. Roenleke was in charge of the essay contest in Klamath Falls, and to her were submitted the three best essays from each room. She judged over 40 essays, choosing Elizabeth's as the best. Mrs. Roenleke's decision was upheld by the state judging committee.

Will Rogers

Will Rogers returns to the Pine Tree theatre beginning on Tuesday in "Doctor Bull." It is the screen presentation of the famous novel by James Gould Cozens, "The Last Adam," best-seller and recent Book-of-the-Month selection. It is one of the most powerful vehicles the popular philosopher-comedian has had on the talking screen.

The film does not present the story of one character. Like "State Fair," the last of the Rogers screen plays, it deals with many characters, each typical of its kind. It is more than the story of one town. For it is the story of thousands of similar towns all over the country.

AT THE PELICAN

If it's genuine comedy you like in a picture, you'll find it in "Looking for Trouble," which stars Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie as the newest team of film funsters and is the attraction at the Pelican Theatre beginning Tuesday.

And there's also some wildly hilarious adventure in this romantic action drama of telephone "trouble shooters" and their sweethearts.

Tracy and Oakie have the roles of two telephone linemen, in this production. Their love affairs with Constance Cummings and Arline Judge, a pair of wisecracking telephone girls, provide some of the gayest sequences in this thrilling story.

AT THE RAINBOW

Lionel Atwill and Fay Wray, co-stars of "Dr. X" and "Wax Museum," will be seen together again in the leading roles of another thriller, "The Vampire Bat," at the Rainbow Theatre beginning today. In this production, Atwill will be seen in the role of Dr. von Niemann, a physician and scientist, and Miss Wray will be seen as his laboratory assistant.

AT THE VOX

Robert Montgomery feels he is becoming an expert in the ways of crime. He went directly from playing the part of an escaped convict in "Fugitive Lovers" to that of a saucy, gentleman crook in "Mystery of Mr. X," new terror film now at the Vox theatre until Wednesday night.

Montgomery's fine acting ability.

MILL ACTIVITIES START IN MODOC

WILLOW RANCH, Calif.—With approximately 100 men working in the woods and sawmill plant east of this place and about 50 men and women employed in box factory plant and lumber yards at this place, the Crane Creek Lumber company under the management of Miss Meta C. Boutin and her superintendent, G. W. Cameron, has started active operations for the 1934 season.

The sawmill plant is cutting approximately 50,000 board feet of lumber per day, operating in the company's own holdings. Later in the season the Crane Creek company will cut government stumpage which they have under contract.

Since starting operations in 1929, the Crane Creek Lumber company has suffered two disastrous fires. The first one wiped out their woods town east of here and a fire last July reduced the box factory plant to ashes. A new $100,000 plant was constructed here and the company has operated steadily during the winter months. The plant at this place is equipped with all of the latest wood-working machinery for box shuck manufacture and is ultra-modern in every respect.
