

Table Setting Guide to Help Homemakers

Bureau's Suggestions Have Informality of West as Keynote

Table setting is often a problem for housewives. Books of etiquette sometimes disagree sharply as to what's proper. Sometimes it's a matter of geography, too, with the east and west far apart. For western homes, where informality is the rule, the Safeway Stores Homemakers' bureau has prepared a guide. Here in outline form, are its main points:

Table linen should be spotless. Dollies, either linen or lace, are appropriate for informal luncheons and dinners. Colored linens are used only for luncheon and breakfast. For more formal service, completely cover the table, using linen or banquet cloth or an elaborate lace cloth. This is placed on the bare polished table and not over colored cloth.

Linen Should Match
Napkins should match linen in color if not in material. Breakfast and luncheon napkins may be small, but dinner napkins should be from 18 to 20 inches square. They are placed to the left of the silver, or if the table is crowded, on the service plate. They may be folded in a triangle for breakfast or lunch, but are usually folded very simply for dinner. If folded in rectangular shape, place with open lower corner nearest the plate. Never stand a napkin on the table.

Table decorations should be kept simple. A centerpiece is always appropriate, but should be kept low, not obstructing the view across the table.

Candles have no place on the luncheon or tea table unless they are lighted and the room darkened by drawing the shades.

Silverware, whether plate or sterling, should be kept well polished and courses should not be included in the menu if the proper silver is not available. However, it is possible to substitute for various pieces.

The position of flat silver is, as a rule, one inch from the edge and vertical to the edge of the table, placing it in correct sequence as used, beginning from the outside and working towards the plate.

For Informal Dinner
For informal entertaining at home, not more than four or six pieces of silver (not counting the oyster fork) should be laid on the table at one time. These generally consist of knife, fork, salad fork and spoon. If necessary, additional pieces may be placed on the table before the course is served.

Knives are laid cutting edge toward the plate, next and to the right of the plate.

Spoons are placed next to the knife, bowls up and parallel with the knife. If soup is to be served, the bouillon, cream soup or large soup spoon is placed on the outside; and next, the tea-spoon.

Forks are placed on the left of the salad plate, tines up. If salad is served western style (before the main course) the dinner fork is placed next the plate and then the salad fork. If the salad is to be served with the main course, or after the main course, the salad fork is put next the plate.

Placed on Plate
The cocktail fork or spoon is placed on the cocktail plate, parallel to the other silver on the table. Through popular usage a spoon may easily be substituted for a cocktail fork, unless serving fish.

Silver for the dessert may be brought in on the plate or laid on the table just before it is served.

The water glass or goblet is placed above the tip of the dinner knife. If other glasses are used, they are placed to the right of the water glass or in a line slanting from the goblet to the right.

Bread and butter plates are placed above the tips of the forks, in line with the water glasses.

Variety of Ways
Bread and butter spreader may be placed in a variety of ways, laid on the top or right side of the bread and butter plate with the blade toward the center of the plate, or diagonally across the top of the plate.

Salt and pepper containers may be placed at either end of the table within easy reach of the guests; if individual sets are used, they may be placed for each cover or between every two covers.

The cream and sugar bowl may be put on the table; the latter is always filled with lump sugar if to be used for a hot beverage. If coffee is to be served only with or after the dessert course, the cups and saucers and creamer and sugar bowl are brought on with the course they are to accompany.

What is claimed to be the world's largest chimney is that which was finished in 1929 at the works of the Boston and Montana Copper and Silver Mines near Great Falls, Mont. It is 506 feet high.

Langell Valley

LANGELL VALLEY, Ore.—Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hanks and daughter, Emmy Lou, spent several days visiting at Jacksonville and Roseburg.

W. D. Campbell is a patient in the Hillside hospital, where he underwent a major operation.

Frank Grohs and Luther Burns attended the cattlemen's convention at Lakeview.

On Friday the Women's club met at a special all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. May Dearborn. A potluck dinner was enjoyed at noon. A quilt was finished for the Doernbecher hospital in Portland, and in the afternoon the members of the club presented a miscellaneous shower to Mrs. Wesley Dearborn. She received many beautiful gifts. A lovely gift was also presented to Mrs. Burton Brown of Bly.

The guild of St. Barnabas church sponsored a card party on Thursday evening. Mrs. Dave Turner and Mrs. Owen Pepple were hostesses. High scores for the evening went to Mrs. R. M. Teare and Reg Thomas and low to Dave Turner and Paul Monroe.

Miss Nan Burns is home for her summer vacation from Sacramento, Calif., where she was attending school. Her father and brothers made the trip to Sacramento to bring her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Pepple spent the week-end fishing at Diamond Lake, where they made the limit catch.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cline of Alturas were visiting for a few days at the home of Mrs. Cline's sister, Mrs. Boggs.

Mrs. Mary Dearborn entered ained at a family dinner in honor of Mrs. O. Johnson's birthday on Sunday.

Charles Dearborn, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dearborn, was a patient at the Klamath Valley hospital, when he had his tonsils removed.

Claude Brown, son of Mrs. Luke Brown, underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis. He is recovering nicely.

Al Gale spent the week-end in Lakeview.

Mike Dearborn underwent a sinus operation at the Klamath Valley hospital the first of the week.

Ben and Clyde Horsley went with their uncle, Pat Horsley to Lakeview. The boys will remain several days, visiting with relatives and friends.

Eat With Fingers? Proper, Sometimes

Fingers, of course, were used before forks or spoons were invented. Now there's less for fingers to do at the table. But there are some things properly eaten with the fingers — artichokes, corn on the cob, firm cheese, strawberries (when served with hulls), small, firm sandwiches, julienne strips, potato chips, cherries (with stems), and crisp cakes.

Five educational and scenic motion picture reels were shown last week to more than 100 4-H club boys and girls and their parents in the Bonanza district by Frank W. Sexton, club leader.

One of the pictures showed the manufacture of glass and the different processes it went through. Another reel showed the methods of canning fruits and vegetables. Other reels included club activities.

Method of Keeping Lid on Boiling Pot

To keep lid on a boiling pot, drop a teaspoonful of butter into the water when boiling dry beans or other starchy vegetables to stop annoyance of the lid of the pot jumping off, as it will otherwise do. The butter acts the same as oil on troubled waters and keeps it calm and manageable. If the edges of the saucepan are well buttered, it also helps.

HENRIETTA WRIGHT RECEIVES AWARD

EVANSTON, Ill., June 5.—Henrietta Wright, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George I. Wright, 1761 Main street, Klamath Falls, was presented one of the two Women's Athletic association senior awards at the annual May fete at Northwestern university. The presentation was made by President Walter Dill Scott.

The awards are given annually to the two seniors whose athletic service, ability and sportsmanship have been most outstanding. Miss Wright is a senior in the college of liberal arts. She is social chairman of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization, the retiring treasurer of the Pan-Hellenic council, and a member of the Women's Self-government association board. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and has achieved her major "N" award. She was graduated from Klamath Falls high school.

Mining Resumed at Hayden Hill

BIERER, Calif.—Gold mining activity is increasing on Hayden Hill, 20 miles southeast of here. Mines that were rich yielders in a former generation and then abandoned for many years are being newly explored and profitable results are reported.

Stratton and Stratton have installed and are operating a ball mill to pulverize pay quartz they are getting out of the old Bluebell, which they leased from Harmon Anderson of Adin. They catch the gold on mercury amalgam plates.

Anderson and George Harper of Adin are working the Golden Eagle and shipping out ore that is said to be valued at $1200 a carload.

Girls at Henley Organize Canning Club for Summer

A new 4-H canning club was organized Friday at the Henley school house by Frank W. Sexton, county club leader.

Nine girls of the district enrolled in the course to be conducted throughout the summer which will include the canning of 15 quarts of fruit for home use.

Amyee Johnson is the leader of the club. Gretchen Semon is president, Della Graham, secretary; Jessie Johnson, vice president. Other members are: Arlene Durant, Ethel Dixon, Marie Dixon, Janis Blackman, Margaret West and Marjorie Fairclough.

Ulysses S. Grant pawned his watch and chain for $22 in 1857, according to a pawn ticket discovered in St. Louis.

According to plastic surgeons, more men than women have their faces lifted.

a Bear of a Breakfast

THERE'S no fable about the goodness of Max-i-mum Syrup... it's a pure, delicious delight that literally transforms every breakfast into a festive occasion. Rich, golden Max-i-mum brings out all the lip-smacking enchantment of steaming waffles... it tops the matchless flavor of hot cakes, fresh from the griddle... it contributes to the delicacy of unusual cake frostings and desserts.

Max-i-mum masterfully possesses the mellow, zesty tang of a genuine Northwoods product because it's a perfect, scientific blend of deep-woods maple and pure cane sugar. You'll happily discover Max-i-mum provides an extra perfection to every use. Best of all... you can afford to use Max-i-mum as often and as liberally as your taste demands... for this wonderful, high-quality syrup is amazingly low in price!

Max-i-mum Syrup is now being featured at Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau "Kitchening" Courses. It has merited the Homemakers' Bureau Seal of Approval because of the distinctive, true Maple flavor.
