STRIKE KILLS ONE IN SOUTH

Ashurst Resigns As HOLC District Manager

Action Prompted by Fall Campaign for Circuit Judge

Editorials On the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

HOW many readers of this newspaper ever saw a thousand-dollar chunk of virgin gold, just as it came from the side of the hill where the forces of nature left it goodness knows how many centuries ago?

WELL, Bob Burns, head driller out at the Langell Valley Oil company's well the other side of Bonanza, has been tugging one around town for the past couple of days, and if you want to see it go hunt him up.

The lucky bum will be tickled to death to show it to you, for he's prouder than Punch of it. (Who wouldn't be, for that matter?)

BOB picked up the nugget over on Grave creek, north of Grants Pass, where he has a mine.

The mine, he says, was sold to him a couple or three years ago with the thrifty thought that it was being sawed off on a sucker, and for the first year he owned it he wasn't so darned sure that wasn't just what had happened.

He hails from the oil fields of Oklahoma, and when the drilling game began to go sour a few years ago he headed west, and as already related, he went into the gold mining business.

He took a leave of absence a while back to come over and handle the oil drill out in Langell Valley.

MRS. BURNS came with him, and in addition to cooking for the crew she went to work with pick and shovel, pan and rocker.

Evidently she's just as good at mining as at cooking—which is saying plenty, as you'll know if you've ever eaten her cooking—for she was acclaimed the champion panner at the Jacksonville jubilee last year.

BUT let's get back to the big nugget.

WILL ROGERS says:

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 6.—A sad wire from Vice President O'Hara tells me of the death of a good friend, Father O'Donnell of the great Notre Dame university. What a fine, plain, human man! What Rocke did with 'em when they got those football suits on, this man did with 'em while they was off the field, and turned out many "all Americans" in the game of life.

Some good news in the papers, however. It rained in the Middle West. Farmers are learning that the relief they get from the sky beats what they get from Washington.

Yours,
Will Rogers

Successor Not Yet Named for Federal Position in This District.

FRANK WEAVER'S NAME MENTIONED

Notice of Replacement Expected From State Manager.

PORTLAND, June 6. (P)—J. P. Lipscomb, manager of the Oregon Home Owners' Loan corporation, said this afternoon he had not yet received the resignation of Edward B. Ashurst, district manager for the Klamath Falls area, and that he could not comment on the matter of Ashurst's successor until he had received his resignation and had communicated with officials at Washington, D. C.

Lipscomb said he might have an announcement tomorrow.

Edward B. Ashurst resigned Wednesday as district manager of the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Ashurst, who stated he was leaving the office to have time to campaign for circuit judge, said that his resignation would be effective immediately, but he did not know how soon his successor will be named.

Lipscomb Gets Resignation. In the recent primary election, Ashurst was runner-up and nominee in the circuit judge contest. He and Judge W. M. Duncan will make the race in the fall.

The resignation was tendered to J. P. Lipscomb, state manager of the HOLC, from whom an announcement of Ashurst's successor was expected.

The name of Frank L. Weaver, real estate man, who was one of the candidates at the time of Ashurst's appointment last summer, was mentioned Wednesday as a possibility for the district job. At his office it was stated Weaver was out of town Wednesday.

Ashurst assumed the HOLC membership on August 16, 1932. Since his appointment, 125 loans have been put through in Klamath county, and many more applications are pending.

FORMER MEDFORD RESIDENT LOST

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—Henry H. Wilson, newspaper circulation promoter who eloped to Reno last Saturday with Mrs. Maude Harper, editor and publisher of the Corning (California) Daily Observer and president of the Corning Business and Professional Women's club, was on the police "missing persons" list today.

Married in Reno Saturday night, the couple came to prepare for a honeymoon motor trip to El Paso. Monday night, the police were told by Mrs. Wilson's brother, B. F. Wilbourn of Oakland, Wilson left their fashionable hotel suite downtown here for a telephone office, and did not return. He was carrying about $400 in cash at the time.

Wilson, whose home is in Medford, Ore., was described as 43 years old, five feet ten, weight 215, brown eyes, dark brown curly hair, dressed in a brown suit and black shoes. His family home is at Prestonburg, Ky.

Young Prisoners Flee at Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6. (P)—In a daring escape in which death by an eight-story fall was at all times imminent, Charles Barnes, 15, and Harry Houer, 17, broke from the juvenile ward of the county jail here today. The boys used an iron bed post to spread one of the quarter-inch bars at the window.

Queen of the Kitchen

Miss Estelle Calkins, home economist, directing the Safeway Stores cooking school, presented something of a "new deal" in kitchening when the school opened at the Pelican theatre today. Classes for Klamath housewives will continue Thursday and Friday.

HOMEMAKERS LEARN JUBILEE CLIMAX SCIENCE OF FOODS DUE ON THURSDAY

Klamath Housewives Attend Cooking School Here Wednesday.

"Kitchening," written about, read about and talked about for weeks, became a happy reality Wednesday for local housewives, who left the Pelican theatre at the conclusion of the first day's program with well-filled notebooks and well-thrilled hearts.

For who, whether housewives who see and hear or husbands or families who dine, wouldn't be thrilled by the array of dishes deftly demonstrated by Estelle Calkins for the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau?

It was the further delight of the dispersing audience that there are still two more days of "Kitchening" to be heard, and if the "ohs" and "ahs" that were reflected in the crowd comments following the first day's demonstrations are to be taken as indicative of the interest at the sessions Thursday and Friday, then "come early and avoid the rush" should be a more than sufficient word to the wise. Doors, by the way, are opened promptly at 1 o'clock.

Miss Calkins' lecture and demonstration were preceded by a 15-minute style show by the Peggy Shop, showing house frocks, sport pajamas and play suits for grown-ups. (Continued on Page Three)

CHALLENGER SEEKS TO DELAY BATTLE

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6. (P)—Anell Hoffman, manager of Max Baer, today said he would ask for a week's postponement of Baer's heavyweight title fight with Primo Carnera, scheduled for June 14, because of Max's failure to reach his fighting peak.

SEATTLE, June 6. (P)—A woman's body was found today in a trunk at the home of Sidney Myroie, 55, who was found dead Sunday in his home of gas fumes, Chief Deputy Coroner W. H. Corson reported today. Corson said Myroie apparently was a suicide.

REPUBLICANS ASSAIL RULE OF DEMOCRATS

Fletcher of Pennsylvania Elected National Party Chief.

BATTLE STARTED TO REGAIN POWER

Many Emergency Measures of F. R. Regime Attacked.

CHICAGO, June 6. (P)—Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania was elected republican national chairman today to carry on the struggle of the party to regain its place in the political sun after the national committee had published a platform condemning many policies of the democrats and pleading for individual initiative instead of regulated business.

Fletcher, nominated by Mrs. Worthington Seranton of Pennsylvania, received 67 votes of the 92 cast. John D. M. Hamilton, committeeman from Kansas, received 25 votes.

Hamilton was the only other nominee. He immediately moved to make Fletcher's election unanimous. The balloting was completed at 2:23 p. m. (central standard time).

LIBERAL ADMS UPHELD

CHICAGO, June 6. (P)—The republican national committee, setting out the party's platform for the fall elections, today announced a "liberal and progressive attitude" but declared war on "government domination."

The party leaders, approving a four page document drafted by a "policy committee," recognized that the country has been "backward in social legislation" and said such questions "demand attention by the government."

Grave Dangers Seen. They declared, however, that American institutions "are in greater danger than at any time since the foundation of the republic" of being engulfed by the authority of "an all powerful central government."

The statement of policy took the form of a creed, setting out republican beliefs. Among them were, "We believe in an economic system based upon individual initiative." (Continued on Page Three)

MILD EARTHQUAKE FELT IN SOUTH

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—A mild earthquake which caused no damage was felt in San Joaquin valley and along the coast of California from San Luis Obispo to Salinas yesterday afternoon.

A report from the Carnegie Institution of Washington seismological laboratory estimating the center of the tremor to be about 300 miles in a northerly direction from Pasadena, and the quake perhaps of sufficient force to cause damage indicated the shock extended into the sparsely inhabited Sierra Nevada from which no word came.

Sanford, in Kings county, felt the shock at 1:50 p. m. Coalinga, and Paso Robles were among other towns to feel the tremor.

Adjournment Date Decision Left Entirely to Congress

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—President Roosevelt is leaving to congress responsibility for the administration's legislative program and the adjournment date. This was made known today at the president's semi-weekly press conference.

It also was said the president would sign the stock market control bill at noon today and the corporate bankruptcy bill at noon tomorrow.

Government Plans Jobs for Drought Stricken Farmers

WASHINGTON, June 6. (P)—The farm administration announced today an increase of 1 cent a bushel in wheat benefit payments to farmers as a drought relief measure.

A shift in federal drought relief by which farmers will get paying jobs instead of doing for feed and seed was presaged today.

While President Roosevelt was personally asserting it a federal duty to aid those in distress, his relief chief—Harry L. Hopkins—expressed to congressmen from affected states a feeling that it was not good policy to donate to farmers who had been independent all their lives.

Restrictions to Stay. "We believe it is better to give them cash benefits so they can make their own decisions regarding feed for their stock and seed for their crops," he said.

Meanwhile Chester Davis, farm adjustment administrator, apparently checked a move by the legislators to adopt a resolution asking the farm administration to lift crop restrictions to permit growing of forage crops on contracted acreage. He said the department was willing to go that far only when farm leaders and department representatives in the field reported it necessary.

Davis said the majority of farmers in the corn-hog control program regarded their contracts as "serious things" and were not ready to have them abrogated.

No Food Shortage

At press conference, in connection with preparations for his request that congress vote $525,000,000 for drought relief, the president spoke of the tens of thousands of families affected by the drought. There need be no fear of food shortage, however, he emphasized.

To the meeting at the capital, Hopkins said his relief agency would be caring for 300,000 families in drought territory by the end of the week and that 150,000 of these were already deriving a living from work projects. It was explained earlier that the program would include work on roads, conservation of water supplies, soil erosion and similar projects.

OREGON RAILROAD PROJECT PROPOSED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (P)—A railroad project which would form a connecting link with the coast line of the Northwestern Pacific at Arcata, Calif., and the Southern Pacific at Grants Pass, will be proposed at the Pacific Coast Transportation advisory board meeting here Friday.

G. L. Hird, secretary of the Santa Rosa chamber of commerce, will outline the proposal, and will ask for approval for the building of the line.

The line would run from Arcata to Crescent City, and then inland to Grants Pass, Oregon.

INFANTS PLACED IN OXYGEN TANK

CORBELL, Ont., June 6. (P)—An oxygen tank was called into use today to simulate the breathing of the prematurely born Dionne quintuplets.

The tank holds 95 per cent oxygen and five per cent carbon dioxide. It will be used daily to treat the five little sisters, all of them underweight.

Belief that there would have been six children born to 24-year-old Mrs. Olivia Dionne instead of five but for some undetermined accident, was expressed by Dr. A. R. DaFoe who attended the mother.

Roosevelt Signs Stock Mart Bill

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed into law the legislation to tighten federal regulation of stock exchanges and to relax somewhat the requirements of the securities act.

KLAMATH REGION WELCOMES RAINS

Farm, Range Conditions Improved by Moisture of Past Week.

Showers of the past 10 days, although scattered, have done a tremendous amount of good in the county, extending the grazing period on mountain ranges for at least 30 days. A total fall of 1.5 inches was registered here at 5:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and more fell in the night. Rain was heavier in some places.

Ranges came in very early this year, and much concern was felt because of the fact that they were drying out early as well. The thunder showers have been fairly uniform in the range lands where they were particularly needed.

Irrigation Reduced. Use of irrigation water is being cut down all over the project, and inflow to irrigation reservoirs. (Continued on Page Three)

KLAMATH COUNTY BILL INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, June 6. (P)—Deepening of the irrigation channel between Clear Lake and Lost River, California, is proposed in a bill introduced Tuesday by Senator McNary, republican, Ore.

The bill would permit the water drained from the lake to be delivered to the Langell Valley irrigation district at the Malone diversion dam, Klamath county, Oregon. The bill carries $12,000 appropriation.

Another provision would appropriate $5,000 for an investigation by the secretary of the interior as to whether any dams or other water projects have been built in the Clear Lake watershed in violation of water rights of the federal government.

SPIDER VICTIM SERIOUSLY ILL

BOISE, Idaho, June 6. (P)—The end of two weeks of semi-consciousness today found Dr. William Erkenbeck in "about the same condition" as when he first went into a stupor from the bite of a black widow spider.

His condition at the hospital was reported unchanged. Bitten May 20 at his home in Grand View, a town on the Snake river, the physician lapsed into a semi-conscious condition four days later, and has not been revived.

TUG ATTACKED BY BOARDERS NEAR SEATTLE

Secretary Perkins Works to Bring Peace on Pacific Coast.

Violence Flares in Two Sections

Increasing Trade Losses Reported in Oregon Industries.

WASHINGTON, June 6. (P)—Secretary Perkins and Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor and an NRA aide, conferred late today on the Pacific coast longshoremen strike situation and the possibility of getting the shipping code ordered into quick effect as a means of restoring peace.

Conferring with the two was NRA Deputy Administrator Weaver in charge of the shipping code.

The meeting took place after McGrady had received from Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, a message saying the men would not vote on the government proposal for strike settlement until they had a definite understanding of what it involved.

SECOND DEATH REPORTED. SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (P)—Peace hovered on the outskirts of battle as the Pacific Coast Longshoremen's strike counted its second death today at the beginning of its fifth week.

John Knudsen, 51-year-old striker, died in Los Angeles last night as a result of a riot there May 15 which had previously claimed another victim.

The government's proposal to "supervise" the hiring halls—a moot point in the strike—was up to the strikers themselves for consideration.

The shippers already had accepted it, provided the strike was ended.

But while messages were being exchanged regarding the government plan, a swift launch overhauled a tug carrying non-union longshoremen across San Francisco bay last night and opened fire, pirate fashion. The master of the tug, Captain Ross Pomeroy, 31, of Long Beach, Calif., was seriously wounded. The 29 others aboard were not hit.

TUGBOAT ATTACKED

SEATTLE, June 6. (P)—Capt. Joseph J. Anderson reported to police that 15 men boarded his tugboat early today, beat the crew of three, opened the sea-cocks and almost sank the boat, which had been used last Friday to carry non-union longshoremen to man the tanker Brandywine.

He said the crew of the tug, (Continued on Page Three)

CHARLES COLLIER DIES IN EUGENE

EUGENE, Ore., June 6. (P)—Charles M. Collier, for 27 years surveyor for Lane county, engineer for the city of Eugene for several years, and surveyor for the United States land and mineral service at one time, died at his home as a result of a fall from a cherry tree.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Janet Collier; five sons, Ethan A. Collier, district engineer for the state highway department, Roseburg; Percy M. Collier, of the university extension department, Portland; Andrew M. Collier, former member of the state legislature, Klamath Falls; Charles H. Collier, merchant, Chico, Calif.; and Alfred D. Collier, Klamath Falls lumberman; one daughter, Miss Dorothy Collier, New York city.

CALIFORNIA NOMINATED

WASHINGTON, June 6. (P)—President Roosevelt today nominated Clyde L. Weaver, of California, to be a member of the federal power commission.
