

SERA PROJECTS FOR SCHOOLS WIN APPROVAL

Approvals for two additional SERA projects, both including improvements for city school property, were received Thursday by Manager Will Baldwin.

One project calls for 11 men to repair roofs on the Pelican, Fairview, Mills, Fremont and Riverside schools.

The other provides for five men to repair concrete sidewalks at Roosevelt school.

Baldwin stated that men will be put to work on these jobs when they are available.

Progress is reported from the fairgrounds SERA project, which is now employing 50 men. Grading the grounds, construction of the race track, and construction of fence are included in this job, which is a "hang-over" from a CWA project.

Baldwin said that important improvements are being accomplished at the Crooked creek fish hatchery under a SERA project.

The ponds are being cleaned out and the sides rip-rapped with rock. New concrete storing ponds are under construction, and a new building is going up.

Completed, this project will give the fish hatchery a capacity increase of 1,000,000 fish annually.

FORD DEALERS MEET WEDNESDAY

Forty-nine Ford dealers and salesmen from Bend, Redmond, Burns, Lakeview, Alturas, Doris, Weed, Yreka and Klamath Falls attended a business meeting at the Willard hotel Wednesday night.

Speakers at the meeting were J. J. Hagne, assistant branch manager of the Ford Richmond district, J. W. Schaefer, commercial division manager, and E. H. Peterson, zone manager for this territory.

The officials pointed out that Ford sales had established a fine lead throughout the United States and also here on the Pacific coast. They also stressed the fact that the largest sales volumes were yet to come, as the buying power of the wage earner is increased.

It was announced at the meeting that a Ford caravan will be through this zone soon. The caravan will consist of Ford V-8 commercial cars, V-8 truck units and a special display truck showing cut-away sections of the full floating rear axle and other features of the 1934 Ford V-8 truck.

Hague, Schaefer and Peterson left Klamath Falls Thursday morning.

Last Friday was the biggest day since the bureau was established. Eighty-four new registrants were reported on that day.

In May, a total of 13,668 meals were served, and 3,479 beds given out.

Fifty-three men were sent to camp. Sixteen individuals and two families were sent to their legal residences.

Seventy-five men were given employment. Manager Baltes stated in this connection that the bureau does not operate as an employment agency, but occasionally calls are made for transient laborers and these are filled.

Church Announces Summer Schedule

The morning service hour in the First Methodist church during June, July and August has been announced by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Coan for a 30-minute earlier period and as a "60-minute service." The Sunday school will open at 9:30 as usual but will close at 10:30 instead of 10:45, and the worship service will open at 10:30 and close at 11:30. This, according to the pastor, will keep the service well within the cool summer morning hours and will also permit many to attend the services who desire to do so and also to be out of the city a part of the day. The choir of the church under the leadership of R. E. Patterson will continue its regular morning program during June.

YOUNG HUNTERS GIVEN WARNING

Children of Klamath Falls have an "epidemic" of sling-shots, bean-shooters, air rifles and other devices disastrous to robbers, hill-deers, orioles and in some cases baby ducks, according to Hugh Worcester, federal game protector.

During the past week, Worcester says he has noticed several groups of boys following along the edge of the river, shooting and killing everything they can find.

"It is illegal to kill several of the birds found dead, and legal steps will be taken unless parents of the youthful hunters put a stop to their children's activity," Worcester said.

The city police will also enforce the ordinance against the use of the amateur game weapons in the city limits.

Musicians Heard Here on Sunday

The "Musical Messengers," an evangelistic concert duo which has toured the nation with programs of sacred music, will be the principle feature of the union service of the city on Sunday evening in the First Methodist church. The duo is composed of Charles Huddleston and Mrs. Olive Duff Huddleston. They have been engaged in evangelistic services recently in the Allamont community and have consented to give this one musical concert while in the region. Both Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston are singers and instrumentalists of more than ordinary ability and have specialized in several types of sacred music. They are to be heard in the program of the Methodist annual conference in Portland later in the month. Mrs. Huddleston is a member of the Irish Duff family, well known evangelists of the coast.

— a reason

FRANKLY, one of the chief reasons why I enjoy Chesterfield is the fact that I don't get little crumbs of tobacco in my mouth.

Rarely ever do I find a Chesterfield that isn't well filled. The tobacco in them seems to be of the right length, and they must be the right size because they burn right and smoke right.

I like them also because they are milder.
