AT THE PELICAN.

Thirst maddened them, and they feasted of cold drink and carried on. Heat blistered them, and they laughed of cool shade and flowing rivers. The hunger for women tortured them, and they talked of past loves, and the girls they had left behind. They were eleven men, facing certain death on the Mesopotamian desert, and their story is told in "The Lost Patrol," featuring Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff, Reginald Denny, Wallace Ford and others, and playing at the Pelican theatre tomorrow.

AT THE PINE TREE

"Heat Lightning," a drama of desert love and hate, comes to the Pine Tree theatre today with an all star cast headed by Aline MacMahon.

This Warner Bros. picture is said to combine dynamic action with romance and light comedy. Like "Grand Hotel," "Union Depot," "Central Park," and other pictures of that ilk, the action all takes place in a single locale, in this case the picturesque Mojave desert.

AT THE RAINBOW

Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook are again co-starred in a brilliant comedy, "Where Sinners Meet," tomorrow's attraction at the Rainbow theatre, with Billie Burke in a featured role.

It is a splotchy and extremely subtle comedy that borders upon farce, and is interspersed with bits of genuine drama. It is said to afford the two stars an even wider scope for their talents than was given them in the historical epic.

AT THE VOX

At last—the ideal "family picture"! "Tarzan and His Mate" is the offering that opens Sunday at the Vox theatre, with an appeal for father, mother, children and "oldsters" from 5 to 80—and breath-taking thrills to stir any audience.

Johnny Weissmuller as "Tarzan" and Maureen O'Sullivan are again united in a jungle love story based on the famous fiction characters created by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Into the primitive romance is packed a series of animal scenes that have never been equalled in the filming of adventure pictures for the screen. Herds of elephants are shown charging members of a safari followed by a mixed fight between elephants and 50 lions with Weissmuller in the middle of the struggle.

Surpassing the first picture in breath-taking thrills, the latest

"Tarzan" adventure includes a cast of such well known players as Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanaugh, Forrester Harvey, Doris Lloyd, William Stack, Desmond Roberts and Nation Curry.
