CARTER, JOPLIN HAVE MEAT MARKET

The meat department of the Pine Street Market, formerly operated independently by R. F. England, has been taken over by Carter & Joplin, owners of the grocery department, and was opened on Thursday under the new arrangement.

Complete new market equipment, the latest and most modern in Oregon, has been installed, including refrigerated display counters of the "floating air" type, with special condensers for removing moisture and keeping the products displayed inside at a uniform and dry temperature.

These counters are of white porcelain, inside and out, and plate glass. The same type of refrigeration has been installed in the cold room.

"We plan to specialize on Klamath baby beef, which we believe to be the best in the world," said Roy Carter yesterday. "There's no finer meat anywhere than we have right here in the Klamath country, and we plan to give the best of it to our customers."

The art of smoking was termed "drinking" by the early English tobacco users.

SAFeway OPENS NEW STORE SATURDAY

A new Safeway store, taking the place of the store at Sixth and Main which was recently closed, is to be opened on Saturday morning on Main, just off of Sixth, next to K. Sugarman's. The new store will be completely new, both as to stocks and fixtures. All the equipment, including scales, display cases and machinery, is of the newest and most modern design, display cases and cold rooms in the meat department being of the new cold air type which provides refrigeration without moisture.

Lyle Durrell will be manager of the grocery department of the new store, and Ernie Wallace will head the meat department.
