

Henry Lewis Captures Lighthheavy Title

OLIN BEATEN IN ST. LOUIS

Arizona Negro Scores Flashing Victory Over Champ.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1. (AP)—John Henry Lewis, the first negro light heavyweight champion since the reign of Battling Siki, turned ambitious eyes today toward the goal of goals of another negro—the world heavyweight title.

The Arizona ebony storm, who gained the light heavyweight crown last night with a smashing victory over Bob Olin, served notice to the fight world that he would be a contender for the title sought by his friend, Joe Louis, Detroit's amber bomber.

Louis Watches Fight

Lewis, who refereed one of the preliminaries, watched from the ringside as John Henry, fighting the most brilliant battle of his career, battered the champion, a slight betting favorite, through 15 frenzied rounds before 9,000 hysterical fans.

"The first thing I'm going to do is fight some more and make some money," the 31-year-old champion—Lewis' age—said in his dressing room after the bout.

"Then I'm going to start eating until I weigh enough to enter the heavyweight class."

Lewis, who turned professional in 1931 but who has been boxing exhibition bouts since he was four years old, won the fight early with a terrific right to the jaw in the fourth round that apparently left Olin slightly dazed for the rest of the encounter.

Olin Hangs Limp

In the twelfth round Olin, a human punching bag, hung limp and helpless on the ropes from a two-fisted attack to the head but weathered a terrible beating to finish the fight on both feet still trying manfully to connect with a winning punch.

Olin, his face bloody, bruised and beaten from the jarring fists of the Phoenix boxer, begged for a return bout.

"It suits me," grinned Lewis from the midst of a flock of well-wishers as he rubbed a swollen knuckle, his only souvenir of the fight. "That boy's got a concrete chin, but I'm willing to fight him or anybody else that can draw a crowd."

Olin, who weighed in at 173 pounds, was richer by a $15,000 guarantee for the loss of his title. Lewis, 174½, received a 12½ per cent out of a disappointing gain of $16,584.

Sophomores Play For Oregon State

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 1. (AP)—Seven regulars of the Oregon State college football team will be sideline students when the Heavers play University of Portland here Saturday.

The players will rest their injuries while sophomores carry on the non-conference tilt.

Those definitely out of the lineup are Swanson, Valley, Joslin, Deming, Strack, Schultz and Mountain. Joe Gray, regular left half, will play only if needed.

Oregon Eleven Will Get Rest

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 1. (AP)—The University of Oregon football team has an open date this weekend after five consecutive major games.

Coach Prink Callison was resting his players and bringing them along slowly for next week's homecoming game against Oregon State college.

All players, including Lasselle and Goodrich who were out of the Ucla game with injuries, were reported in good condition.

Basketball Meet Set for Tonight

Another basketball meeting has been called for tonight, 8:00 o'clock, by Carl Condit, director of the city recreation committee.

The meeting will be held at Jack's Tire shop.

There is a place for one more club in the eight-team league.

Horse Destroyed In Stable Fire

VANCOUVER, Nov. 1. (AP)—One race horse, Gargula M., owned by Bob Gellert, Vancouver, was destroyed, and stables of the Lansdowne Park race course on Lulu Island were burned down early today with loss estimated at $30,000.

Saturday's Two Grade School Titles Cancelled

Two grade school league football games scheduled for Modoc field Saturday morning have been cancelled.

Ostendorf was to meet Arena and Locke was scheduled to play Balsiger.

J. W. Peak, director of physical education, considered the condition of the field too impossible for the games. He said even if the snow cleared away, the playing surface would be soft and muddy.

No arrangements have yet been made for scheduling the contests.

Dutch Ruether Will Manage Seattle Team

SEATTLE, Nov. 1. (UP)—Walter "Dutch" Ruether, who pulled the Seattle Indians of the Pacific coast baseball league from the cellar into a first division position during two years as manager, has signed to direct the club during 1936.

His new contract will run one year. Salary, announced as "comparable to the best in the league," was understood to be about $5,000.

Ruether said he would attempt to strengthen the squad during the next few months, picking up some new pitchers, "a good left-hand hitting outfielder and possibly a new infielder or two." Ruether will leave Monday for the Coast league meeting in California.

Carnera Tries Comeback Fight Against Neusel

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Primo Carnera, the man mastiff, bolts himself into the Madison Square Garden ring tonight to battle Walter Neusel, the blond German, who has yet to be defeated in this country.

Carnera was a 6 to 5 favorite, but there was little betting interest in the fight despite the fact 15,000 persons were expected to pay $35,000 to attend.

For Carnera it is a last stand; one more experiment to determine whether he should continue as a fighter or retire to Italy and live on his profits.

For Neusel it is an opportunity to obtain a match with Joe Louis and gain the money, and probably the pain, that such a bout would bring.

Neusel has been promised a bout with the Brown Bomber if he whips Carnera.

The supporting card features Tony Galento, 220 pounder from Orange, N. J., and the clever and straight hitting Eddie Mader, of New York.

Myrtle Point Wins In Final Minutes

MYRTLE POINT, Ore., Nov. 1. (AP)—Winning in the last two minutes of play, Myrtle Point high school's undefeated football team defeated North Bend 6 to 0 here yesterday.

AP NOMINATES GRID WINNERS

Ohio State Favored to Beat Irish; Bruins Over Bears.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Splitting the coin on this week's football schedule:

Ohio State-Notre Dame: The football "natural" of the year, a collision between two undefeated and untied arrays, a genuine toss-up despite the prevailing odds in Ohio State's favor. The Buckeyes have superior manpower but not one ever accused Notre Dame of being short handed. We'll take Ohio State on the theory that the Buckeyes have the greater scoring strength, the more deceptive attack and that they lose little by comparison with the Ramblers on defense.

U. C. L. A.-California: The far western equivalent of the big tussle at Columbus, a battle of undefeated teams. California's six opponents have scored only one touchdown against the Golden Bears so far but it looks as though UCLA paced by sensational Chuck Chesire, can break through enough to win.

Yale-Dartmouth: Earl Blak's Indians from New Hampshire have the guns to win, but they've got to beat the Yale bowl jinx as well as a strong Ell aggregation. Playing the Yale of averages, Dartmouth to beat Yale for the first time in history.

Louisiana State-Auburn: Those plainsmen sure plenty tough but L. S. U. gets the nod.

Fordham-Pitt: No eastern team has beaten Pittsburgh since 1923 and doubt is hereby expressed that Fordham can turn the trick.

Michigan-Penn: Michigan out-tucked Columbia a week ago and will take a lot of beating. A ball to go for Penn just the same.

Princeton-Navy: That Princeton powerhouse started rolling last Saturday and looks too strong for Navy.

Army-Mississippi State: Ralph Sasse has brought north the team that wallopped Alabama, but the vote here goes to Army.

Harvard-Brown: Harvard ought to get a little practice on offense in this one.

Temple-Michigan State: Reversing the right to appeal, Temple, shakily.

Villanova-Detroit: Villanova to reverse last week's result.

Minnesota-Purdue: Minnesota.

Northwestern-Illinois: Northwestern.

Iowa-Indiana: Iowa.

Tulane-Colgate: A hesitating ball to the north.

Southern Methodist-Texas: S. M. U.

Baylor-Texas Christian: Christian seems the better of these two unbeaten outfits.

West Virginia-Washington and Lee: West Virginia.

Alabama-Kentucky: Can't see anybody beating Alabama the rest of the season.

Florida-Georgia: Georgia, easily.

George Tech-Vanderbilt: Close but Vanderbilt gets the call.

Duke-Tennessee: It's risky along with the same lineup he has picking Duke these days but here goes again.

North Carolina State-North

Elmer Brown, King Tutt II Will Clash in Armory

Elmer "Buz" Brown, popular battler of past main events in Klamath Falls, will return to the ring here next Tuesday when he meets King Tutt II in the new Klamath armory.

Brown, a lightweight, has been in the city for several weeks getting into condition, after a brief layoff from the ring wars.

Tutt is from San Francisco and is almost a duplicate of the fighting style of the original King Tutt of old.

Jack Hibbard, Klamath Falls middleweight, will battle Roy Quigley of Oakland in the six-round semi-windup. The men will enter the ring at about 160.

Quigley is a slugger, and regarded a strong opponent for the veteran Hibbard.

Three preliminaries featuring Klamath fighters will open the card.

Carolina: A shade for North Carolina.

Marquette-Iowa State: Marquette, handily.

Oklahoma-Kansas: Oklahoma but will have to play up to their best form.

Tulsa-Kansas State: Tulsa, after a tussle.

Arkansas-Texas A. & M.: Arkansas.

Stanford-Santa Clara: It hardly seems in the cards for Santa Clara to lose three major games in a row, but Stanford is the choice.

Washington-Montana: Washington.

Cornell-Columbia: Columbia.

New York University-Bucknell: NYU to protect its perfect record.

Brigham Young-Utah: Utah.

Colorado University-Colorado College: Close one. The university.

Utah State-Colorado State: And another one. Utah State.

Montana State-Wyoming: Wyoming.

Frankie Alustiza Awaits Outcome Of Operation

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1. (AP)—Frankie Alustiza, the little halfback who played with cracked ribs and never said a word, lay quietly in a hospital here today awaiting the outcome of an operation performed to restore the impaired vision of an eye injured in football.

The surgery on the retina torn while Alustiza was playing for Stanford against University of California at Los Angeles September 12, was performed by Dr. Hans Barkan. It was successful, reports said, but Alustiza must wait two or three weeks before the bandages can be removed to find out whether the Basque will again have completely normal sight.

Irish, Ohio State In Grid Feature

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 1. (AP)—Rehearsals over, the cast for the country's No. 1 football drama gathered here today.

The Notre Dame squad, unbeaten in five games and confident of adding the high-flying Bucks to its list of victims, arrived in Ohio's capital early this morning.

STUB ALLISON RISES TO TOP

California Coach Comes Up From Losing Grid Record.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1. (AP)—A couple of bold buckaroos, who have been able to smile in the face of some awful football pastings and in their day could have been the inspiration of the old refrain, "They've gotta quit kickin' my dog around," marched into the valley of belated glory tomorrow.

Late afternoon may dim the seasonal triumphs of one or the other but until then 100,000 or so addicts of the great fall madness huddled in huge Los Angeles coliseum will be cheering on the gridiron combination of Leo B. "Stub" Allison and Bill Spaulding.

The mentors of the two football units of the University of California, Allison of the California Bears and Spaulding of California at Los Angeles Bruins, can match coaching records in the matter of ups and downs with any in the country.

In his time Allison has hit bottom with a resounding thud. Spaulding's career is spicited with almost as much grief. Through adversities the like of which have caused many a noted colleague to fold up his tent and hike for greener pastures, these two leathery veterans of a game whose foundations rest on pick-ups have persisted, insisted and thrived.

They reach the peak of varied careers of building character and teaching young stalwarts to advance a ball along a field in a game which may virtually clinch the Pacific coast conference for one and put the other a lap forward in the drive toward a title.

Spaulding's Bruins will be almost to the wire of their race if they win tomorrow. Only a much weaker University of Idaho eleven twice beaten, will be between them and an undefeated season, the conference championship and a certain bid to represent the west in the Rose Bowl, New Year's day. If victory smiles on Allison's Bears, a rough road will still loom ahead. Washington and Stanford almost must be done for within the following three weeks and each is a mighty foe.

Hard Drop Recalled Allison finds himself on top of the mountain after some fearsome experiences in the canyons of the coaching business. He was an outstanding end for Carleton college from 1913 to 1917, but his first head coaching fling was disastrous to say the least. After a hitch in the Army he became assistant to Claude Hunt at the University of Washington in 1919 and the next year replaced his chief. That 1920 season was one long nightmare for him. His Washington team defeated Whitman and then lost every remaining game, to Montana, Oregon State college, Stanford, Oregon

Jack Sharkey's Remarks Anger Champion Jim

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Dapper little Joe Gould, manager of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock, was angrier than a whacked moose when he and the champ entrained for an exhibition tour of the Pacific coast. So angry, in fact, that he called ex-Champion Jack Sharkey a "yellow bum."

It seems that Gould read published reports in which Sharkey, up in Boston, was quoted as belittling Champion Braddock no end. Sharkey's quotations were given off in connection with his proposed comeback campaign.

"Sharkey says he knocked out Braddock once when Jimmy was his sparring partner," Gould explained. "Well, that's a lie. Braddock never was Sharkey's sparring partner. Jimmy worked out with him once, when one of Sharkey's partners was sick. And he almost knocked Sharkey's head off. Sharkey's got some crust—talking about Braddock, after Sharkey took a dive in the ring and lost his title to Carnera. He's just a yellow bum."

Braddock's tour of 20 cities will open in Seattle and wind up in Los Angeles.

W. S. C. Takes No Chances of Loss

PULLMAN, Wash., Nov. 1. (AP)—Washington State college will put its strongest starting lineup against Gonzaga here tomorrow to try to avenge last year's upset at the hands of the Bulldogs.

The memory of the 13 to 6 upset at Gonzaga's hands last year, while the Cougars were undefeated in conference play, still rankles in the Cougar's minds.

The squad has been forced into this week by bitter cold weather.

Grants Pass, Ashland Meet On Saturday

Ashland and Grants Pass are scheduled to meet for the second time this season at Grants Pass Saturday afternoon.

The teams played a scoreless tie in the season.

Comparative scores now give the Lithians the upper hand. Ashland won from Klamath, 7 to 6, while Klamath defeated Grants Pass by a touchdown margin.

Up From Bottom

The mentors of the two football units of the University of California, Allison of the California Bears and Spaulding of California at Los Angeles Bruins, can match coaching records in the matter of ups and downs with any in the country.

In his time Allison has hit bottom with a resounding thud. Spaulding's career is spicited with almost as much grief. Through adversities the like of which have caused many a noted colleague to fold up his tent and hike for greener pastures, these two leathery veterans of a game whose foundations rest on pick-ups have persisted, insisted and thrived.

Hard Drop Recalled

Blackburn Sees Slight Chance For Henry Lewis

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1. (AP)—A veteran negro trainer, who has helped condition both fighters, saw little hope today for John Henry Lewis, new light heavyweight champion, if he ever climbs into the ring with Joe Louis, in his professed quest for the heavyweight title.

Jack Blackburn, the man "behind" the Brown Bomber, after acting as second for Lewis last night while the Arizona negro punched his way to the light heavy crown with a clean cut victory over Bob Olin, said:

"John Henry fought the best 15-round fight I've seen since Gene Tunney whipped Harry Greb in 1923, but he ain't near big enough—or strong enough—for my boy Joe."

Lewis watched the bout from the ringside.

Huskies' Cain Will Not Play

SEATTLE, Nov. 1. (AP)—Fritz Waskowitz, a capable young ball toter, looked like a probable substitute for Glatting Jimmy Cain at left halfback for the University of Washington against Montana.

With Cain apparently unrecovered from an injured leg, Coach James Phelan devoted a good deal of time to Waskowitz on the eve of the Montana Grizzlies' arrival.

Randal (Rink) Bond, at quarter, and Everett Austin or Ed Rulis at right half were other likely selections.

After their arrival today, the Montana squad had a workout in store at the Washington stadium.

Portland Schools Tied for Second

PORTLAND, Nov. 1. (AP)—Lincoln High's 12 to 9 victory over Clatsop Tech here yesterday, placed the Cardinals in a tie with Jefferson for second place in the interscholastic standings.

Two rapid-fire touchdowns clinched the game for the Cards.
