WASHINGTON

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
 The Inside Story From The Capital
 By PAUL MALLON
 Copyright 1935, by Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Backstairs diplomats here suspect that Britain is undertaking quietly to put Japan in her place, as well as Mussolini.
 The Chinese silver nationalization move is generally known to have followed conferences between the Chinese government leaders and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British government. He went to Shanghai because London developed a sudden worry about China, strangely coincidental with its equally sudden apprehensions about the Mediterranean.
 What Chinese nationalization of silver means for Britain is: A stronger centralized government in China, a Shanghai financial strangle hold on all China, a financial defense against Japanese aggression.

PALAUER
 That explains why Tokio was shocked when the Nippon diplomats read about it in their newspapers. To ease the shock, Britain sent its Tokio envoy hurrying to the Japanese foreign office next day, to assure everyone there was no truth in the reports that China had taken the move on Leith-Ross' promise to lend $50,000,000 for stabilization. This was what is known among students of the international wiles as a diplomatic assurance.
 Our most eminent authorities have reason to believe that someone connected with Leith-Ross encouraged the Chinese to hope that a loan would be forthcoming, although nothing may have been done directly about it.
 The reason they suspect it is because the subject was mentioned to the American ambassador, Nelson Johnson, by someone who looked very much like Leith-Ross himself.
 Note—This may explain why no comment has developed here about the Far East, although officials consider the situation as important as Ethiopia.

The loan background is that the treasury has been thinking about it for years, but doubt whether it could be done without congressional authority. No commitments were made.
SHOCKS
 Finesse used by the Japanese in recouping Shanghai is the admiration of all who appreciate the artistic deception required in diplomacy. The Japanese remember what Mussolini forgot in Ethiopia—a good excuse.
 First, the Japanese were outraged because the Chinese had failed to advise them in advance that a monetary move was under consideration. This shock was sufficient pretense for landing sailors. But a shock cannot last forever, so a Japanese sailor was found murdered in Shanghai.
 There are diplomatic insiders here who are phlegmatic enough to suggest that the Japanese sailor was murdered by a Japanese bullet. In fact, that obvious suggestion has reached diplomatic quarters here in the form of a report.
 The report may be erroneous, but the inference behind it is not.

VALUES
 You may expect the Chinese dollar to be pegged to the American dollar at twenty-nine cents. It has been thirty cents, but the Chinese want to make it twenty-nine. The Chinese government has been holding back on an announcement because of Japanese reaction. The Chinese made it thirty cents in establishing the managed currency because they did not care to arouse internal disturbances at that time. Once it had a high of 31.9.
PARALLELS
 The most interesting thing about China's action is how closely it parallels our own.

RE-INVESTIGATING
 One of those congressional investigating committees is now privately investigating its own investigators. You may recall that the house patents committee once looked into allegations that some of its patent pool investigators acted as lawyers in private suits against corporations they were supposed to be scrutinizing.
 Sworn evidence exists in Chicago that a former judicially sub-committee split fees in a bankruptcy reorganization with a mid-west utilities company. The present case will be more important if substantial evidence is found.

NAMES
 The name of President Roosevelt's new coast guard yacht, for week-ending, is Electra. That lady's role in mythological history was to urge Crete to vengeance. As a daughter of Atlas, she is also commonly known as one of the lost stars. There is a New Deal movement afoot to change the name.
About the Bible
 Let us quote from Frances E. Willard who was one of the leading lights for righteousness and a power in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union: "Tell our women to study the New Testament; I love the New Testament. No human being has ever conceived as he should what the New Testament means by loyalty to Christ." All these things come down to a matter of "brotherhood" and nobody makes "brotherhood" clearer than does Jesus Christ. "Am I my brother's keeper?" was a question of the earliest Old Testament. It is answered by a vehement "Yes" from the lips of Jesus. Look this up in your Bible.

SIDE GLANCES—by George Clark

"Jerry, what's this nonsense I hear about you being a possible candidate for President?"

rather than the British. The Chinese authorities apparently copied, step for step, what we did in 1932. They have even copied President Roosevelt's somewhat misleading phrases.
 We "nationalized" gold; China has "nationalized" silver. We have abrogated the gold clause; China has abrogated the silver clause. We undertook to manage the external value of our currency; China is doing the same.

Adolph's Observations
 A FELLOW that pretends to be a friend of mine asked me today how anyone can honor his father and mother after they named him Adolph. Well, I'm not sure because I understand the folks at one time had the name Blismark in mind. Imagine that.
 Speaking of names, the neighbors, who have a new baby girl, asked me to pick out one for her. I selected a dandy but I won't mention it because they didn't use it. I'll say this though, it was one that would have inspired her to live a great and noble life, I'm sure.
 I think it is a big help to be named after some great inspiring character, but my friends are funny in this respect. With such wonderful names as Amelia, Esther or Penelope to select from they had to name the kid "Maud" after a mule.

Christian Science Church
 "Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 10.
 Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die" (Gen. 2:16, 17).
 The Lesson-Sermon also included the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The 'tree of knowledge' stands for the erroneous doctrine that the knowledge of evil is as real, hence as God-bestowed, as the knowledge of good. It is true that a knowledge of evil would make man mortal. It is plain also that material perception, gathered from the corporeal senses, constitutes evil; but mortal knowledge. But is it true that God's good, made 'the tree of life' to be the tree of death to his own creation? Has evil the reality of good? Evil is unreal because it is a lie,—false in every statement" (pp. 526, 527).

 Mrs. Holloway has started a nursery school at her home and has quite a large class of the little folks. Once a week she serves luncheon for them and instructs them in table manners and how to serve themselves. Such a school has long been needed here as the first grade is so crowded at the school many of the smaller children just under 6 cannot be accommodated and we are sincerely grateful to Mrs. Holloway for taking this interest in the little folks.
 A new club has been organized in Bonanza, called the Hobby club. Each member takes her own work to the meeting, from sock darning to fancy work. Should she fail to take any of her own work she is required to darn socks and stockings for the hostess. On every other Thursday they work with the Ladies Aid, which is at the present time quilt-making. This week the Hobby club meets at the home of Mrs. E. L. Coyner.
 R. K. Hannon and family, accompanied by Gloria Hartley, visited with friends and relatives in Tululake last Sunday.

 The Bonanza grange will sponsor a Thanksgiving masquerade costume ball on the evening of November 23 at the Bonanza high school gymnasium.

Ten Years Ago

In Klamath
 TULE LAKE duck disease epidemic is still bad, but seems to be on the wane, according to latest reports. The number of ducks which have died is estimated at 40,000.
 "A good day for ducks, but that's about all!"
 This is the judgment of about 10,000 Klamathans this morning who awoke to see a steady rain and slushy snowfall.
 Word from the reclamation office this afternoon is to the effect that the temperature sank to 32 degrees and that .33 of an inch of rain fell last night.
 To investigate charges against certain prominent persons in Klamath Falls, a few of whom are rumored to be public officials, the Klamath county grand jury convened this morning behind closed doors.

MALIN ITEMS

MALIN, Ore.—Members of the junior class were entertained at a fun fest Friday evening in Miss Garfield's apartment. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.
 A number of Malin potato growers who have attempted harvesting crops frozen during the recent freeze, have abandoned activities as being too expensive in proportion to the good potatoes salvaged. Hundreds of acres of potatoes will remain in the ground in the Malin district.
 Two parties marked the social calendar in Malin last week, with an anniversary party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pathio, whose wedding was an event of early September. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stone, Hattfield, Miss Irene Halounek, Miss Evelyn Collins, Henry Dacknetz, Billy Adams, Ray Van Meter, Louis Kandra, Gus Eschebeck and Harry Coleman, all of Malin.

 It is expected the Smith brothers will be taken before Judge Ashurst late this week.

Grange Is Right

A SENSIBLE stand is taken by the Klamath county grange when it proposes that before any more money is spent at the fairgrounds, it be determined what the prospects are for future use of facilities there.
 In this connection, the grangers point out that there is a grave question as to the desirability of holding future county fairs, in view of the rapid decrease in attendance and interest, especially among farmers. It is the grange plan to have a committee make a study of the whole county fair question, a project which should prove of great value in determining whether it will be worth while to hold any more fairs. The fact that the grange, a farmers' organization, questions the advisability of future fairs, is certainly sufficient to call for utmost caution in planning any more such events.
 A lot of money has been spent at the fairgrounds under the so-called work relief programs. CWA figures are not immediately available, but under SERA, a total of $16,004.36 was frittered away there. Of this amount, $9,530.37 was government money, and the remainder came from local contributions.
 The argument can be made that the expenditure of this money on track, etc., calls for additional outlay for a grandstand to make it possible to get some return from the first expenditure. There is something to that, but let's know if the grandstand is going to be used, and if the other facilities are going to be used, before any more public money is put into the thing. The grange takes a stand that is sound, and its advice should be heeded.

Chance to Use It

OUR democratic congressman was in this lumbering and cattle country recently with the plea that President Roosevelt be given our support, at the same time hoping, of course, that Mr. Pierce can ride back into congress on the Roosevelt wave, if there is one.
 The attention of Mr. Pierce is respectfully called to this excerpt from a Washington dispatch of Wednesday morning:
 "Reduction in lumber tariff and duty on Canadian feeder cattle is expected in the trade agreement to be signed when McKenzie King, Canadian premier, returns here within a few days.
 "From apparently responsible sources comes the hint that President Roosevelt will sacrifice Pacific northwest lumbermen and stockmen for the benefit of increasing the Canadian market for the industrial east."
 Senators McNary and Steiwer, both republicans, have been hard at work in an effort to forestall this move against northwest lumber and cattle industries. Congressman Pierce likes to intimate in his local addresses that he holds a lot of influence with the president. Well, here's a good chance to use it for these important industries of his own district—if he really does.

A Comrade Looks Back

THE Communist Party in Russia rose in its wrath the other day and heaved out of its ranks Comrade Mikhail Saveliev, who used to be a private chauffeur for the Grand Duke Mikhail Alexandrovitch. Comrade Saveliev's offense seems to have consisted of telling his friends that the best years of his life were those he spent in chauffeuring for the grand duke.
 It is hard not to suspect that a rich and ironic little human interest story lies back of all this. Comrade Saveliev was a benighted wage slave before the revolution, and there was a vast gulf fixed between him and his titled employer.
 Came the revolution and he was freed of all that. No more kowtowing or saluting or living the life of an inferior; grand dukes were out, and Comrade Saveliev was as good as any man.
 But somehow Comrade Saveliev seems to have had more fun under the old system. He actually enjoyed his pitiable lot.
 The pickings which a grand duke's chauffeur could lay hands on, one gathers, were not inconsiderable. And it is probable that you would have a richly human little comedy if you could get at the whole story about this former flunkey.
