Festive Spirit Pervades Social Atmosphere Upon Approach of Holidays

THE spirit of a rich harvest time, crowned by the day upon which all people give thanks for Nature's bounty, has provided atmosphere for virtually all of Klamath Falls' society activity for the past fortnight.

Thanksgiving Day, the day when families gather around a laden table and enjoy the spirit of good fellowship will climax the late autumn festivities, and usher in the coming Christmas season. Several important Thanksgiving dances, beginning with the Winter Dancing club's Turkey hop, are scheduled for the week to come.

The Elks will dance on Thanksgiving eve, as will members of the 20-30 club and their guests, and other organizations are planning festivities to honor the traditional holiday season.

MANY ATTEND LEGION AUXILIARY MEETING

The potluck dinner served by the Legion auxiliary at the meeting Tuesday evening, proved an enjoyable affair and a large crowd was present.
