Accidents Do Happen

JUNIOR chamber of commerce members are engaged in a campaign that they hope will reduce the number of accidents that occur on streets and highways of Klamath county.

This county has a reputation for bad auto accidents. In the past two or three years it has had several that have taken more than one life.

Motorists might find it worth while to give thought to these two facts: 1. A vast majority of accidents are caused by human faults of some kind, rather than mechanical failure.

From these facts, every motorist ought to know that he has a mighty good chance of becoming involved in an accident, and that if he does, it will probably be due to the fault of some PERSON, himself or the driver of the other car.

The Pelicans

NOW is a good time to call attention to the work—past and in prospect—of the Pelicans organization.

This voluntary group of business and professional men has for several years labored effectively to shield children from the more severe effects of hard times.

The Pelicans' record of accomplishments is a fine one, and it is written into the lives of children of Klamath county communities.

Through the coming winter, the Pelicans plan to keep on with this fine program. They are staging a dance this Friday night at the new armory, the proceeds to go directly into the children's relief funds.

Final Entanglement

YOU might notice that a rather important date in the history of American government was recorded the other day when the Nebraska legislature adjourned.

It is noteworthy, too, that the closing hours of the two-house legislature were snarled up by a deadlock in the conference committee over important legislation which had passed the two houses in varying forms.

Nebraska is taking a great step toward more efficient, democratic state government. How long will it be before other states have intelligence enough to follow her example?

Adolph's Observations

MY FRIEND August Meyer has a little tobacco shop which has been fairly successful for several years.

Early this month Mr. Meyer was advised that his rent would be raised the first of the year and the wholesaler notified him of an increase in the cost of cigars.

I guess the Dutchman figured that too much is enough. There is a sign in his window. "The first of January is going to be the last of August. Everything is half price."

WASHINGTON

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS The Inside Story From The Capital

By PAUL MALLON Copyright 1935, by Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Some high orthodox Republican congressmen are hissing behind their hands at Chairman Fletcher's new national finance committee.

The feeling is particularly strong among westerners. They did not expect Fletcher to go among the unemployed for his money-raiser.

Something will be said to Mr. Fletcher about this at the coming national committee meeting. Also, a statement from a republican congressional leader is highly probable.

COCKINESS

President Roosevelt's political machinists may be fooling themselves and him, but they continue to turn their noses up at the Literary Digest poll.

A cabinet officer, for instance, maintains that he would have voted "no" if a ballot had been sent to him.

MESALLIANCE Certain of Senator Borah's playmates have been complaining (apparently also to him) because he lent a hand to help Congressman Hamilton Fish get up on the Borah presidential coat tails.

DEBT HEIGHT An official who looked over Mr. Roosevelt's shoulder at the writing of the Atlanta speech advised him to eliminate the line about the bankers telling him in 1933 that the debt could go to fifty or seventy billion dollars.

CHANGE Further confirmation of the theory that the technological phase of unemployment has been overplayed can be found in a new study entitled "machinery, employment and purchasing power."

SIDE GLANCES—by George Clark

"I swear, I don't know which party I favor any more. My business hasn't been much good since Garfield was president."

provements, the proportion of gainful workers to the total population rose from 32 per cent to 39 per cent.

An exaggerated but simple example is the development of the auto. It threw all the horse and buggy boys out of work, eliminated the vast livery stable business.

If you count all employed in building better roads, bridges, direct automobile manufacturing, employment, gas, garage and filling station and even the "hot dog" stand employment, you will reach a sizable figure.

NEW FIXER Returning democratic congressmen are also groaning. They say they cannot get anything out of the sunshine dispenser, Mr. Farley.

Unprecedented activity in building during the late fall and early winter months may set a new annual building record for Klamath Falls.

Many people have political axes to grind, and there is nothing like a tariff change to start the axes a-grinding.—Secretary Wallace.

No Nobel Peace prize will be awarded this year, so a swell bet is overlooked in the person of Paulino Uzcudun in the second round with Joe Louis.

Several names among the artists that made Bible characters and scenes important in their artistry stand out among the great painters of the world.

The trend toward heavier automobiles has been continued in the 1936 cars.

Aftermath of Sudden Death

By A. J. Bracken from "The Reader's Digest"

(Editor's Note: Cooperating with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, The Herald and News herewith re-prints from the Reader's Digest, an article entitled "The Aftermath of Sudden Death," a follow-up of "And Sudden Death," which won such sensational interest a few months ago.)

Just Passing Two o'clock in the morning. Is that the phone? There it goes again. I grope my way sleepily to it. Hello . . . yes, I understand . . . a wreck on the highway two miles east . . . We'll be right out . . .

What a sight! One car, a new one, now a tangled heap of scrap on one side of the road, shattered glass everywhere.

Endurance vs. Death Just three happy boys on their way across the country to Detroit. Constant driving, day and night, with a change at the wheel every four hours.

Dangerous Corners We natives all knew that was a mean corner, properly marked with a turn sign, but such a sharp turn we make them.

Does it make us gun-shy of this fast driving? Well, we wish all the speedsters could spend a night with us, occasionally, in the operating rooms of the mortuary.

Old Harleycorn Three little kiddies, poor little tykes, the oldest only seven. They hardly know what it is all about.

One more testimonial to Klamath's pre-eminence as a potato producing section is the report received today of a sack of potatoes taken from the fields of Jim Lacey's ranch near Merrill.

never know what he looked like when we found him. A babe to come soon, who will never know a father except by tales which are told.

Dense Fog The lunch for school was in the back seat, the case of eggs for the grocer intact, but the beautiful life of a little school-girl was gone forever.

A foggy morning, a narrow bridge. The sharp, splintered end of the bridge fell drove through the windshield and tore away one side of her face.

Poor little brother, who had been driving, how heartbroken and sorrowful. It was hard to see, and how was he to know that he should have pulled to the side of the road, and stopped until the fog lifted, even though they were late for school?

Loose Gravel Not much to do this time. The whole thing was on fire when we arrived. We could see his tracks where he had come over the top of the hill and hit the loose gravel.

The warning sign was up so the highway department had fulfilled its duty, but there it lay where it had skidded and turned completely around and over. A twisted mass of hot iron, that field smell of burning flesh and a few bones to tell the tale.

How will we prepare these remains for burial? Well, how would you?

And so it goes, on and on, in this small town of not quite 3,000. Add what befalls us here to the tragic toll in metropolitan cities and the countless towns larger than ours, and we have a very faint idea of what is happening on our highways.

Over 36,000 killed this year last year. Will it be more next year? And will you be one of that number? Why won't you?

Six Lose Lives In Bus Mishap

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 4. (UP)—A bus carrying 23 children and three instructors of the state deaf and blind school at Muskogee, Okla., was wrecked on the highway east of Muskogee, Okla., Tuesday, killing six children and an instructor.

Thirty-six others were given hospital treatment here. The party, en route to Muskogee for a Santa Claus parade, was reported by police to have been sideswiped by a hit-run motorist.
