Social Interest Centers Upon Informal New Year's Open Houses and Parties

THE gay lights of Christmas trees still twinkling in windows of Klamath Falls homes, and the warmth of the open fire and cheerful greetings of holly wreaths will add to hospitality of New Year's day when traditional open houses and receptions will be held throughout the city.

The Klamath Golf and Country club has announced its annual New Year's eve party for Tuesday evening, December thirty-first.

Another important party will be the Elks annual New Year's ball.

Christmas Eve Wedding Solemnized At New Klamath Temple.

Miss Doris Marion McMahon became the bride of John Quibell Christmas eve at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of the new Klamath Temple at 1007 Pine street, with Rev. Fred Hornshuh officiating.

The bride was charming in a long white silk crepe dress with long sleeves. She wore a three-quarter length chiffon veil caught with a crown of orange blossoms, and carried a large bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Wahrmund, wore a long green silk crepe dress woven with threads of gold, and trimmed in chiffon velvet. Her corsage was composed of pink roses and forget-me-nots.

James Quibell, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride was given away in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. H. McKennie.

Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played on the piano by Lorena Hornshuh as the bride procession came to the improvised altar of poinsettias, carnations and roses. During the ring ceremony, Miss McMahon, who was the bride's maid, played softly on the violin, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Lorena Hornshuh at the piano.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Quibell, at 2222 Garden avenue, for the wedding guests.

Guests included Frances McMahon, Pat McKennie, Roy McKennie, Kenneth McKennie, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McKennie, Mrs. Cauley Roberts, Mr. H. Hendrick, Esther Hendrick, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Truax, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Quibell, James Quibell, William Quibell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, Winifred Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. Luderan of Chiloquin, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pomeroy, Mary Wahrmund, Joe Stafford.

Mr. and Mrs. Quibell will be at home to their friends at their new home in Klamath Falls.

COMMUNITY CIRCLE ENJOYS MEETING

Holiday Weddings Hold Interest In City This Week.

A quiet, but charming home wedding took place on Christmas eve at the home of Mrs. P. F. Moss on Klamath avenue at 7:30 o'clock, when Mrs. Moss' daughter, William M. Tingley and Miss Nellie Perkins were united in marriage.

The service was read by the Rev. Arthur Charles Bates, pastor of the First Christian church in the presence of relatives of the bride couple.

Miss Mildred Stauch became the bride of Stanford Vance Rugg at a pretty wedding at the home of the bride.

Rev. Ruford P. Miller performed the service in the presence of relatives.

The bride was attractively gowned in a frock of blue crepe and lace, and her flowers were gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Rugg will be at home to their friends after January 1, at 517 East Main street in Klamath Falls.

Estella Owings of Roseburg, and Albert I. Rogers of Klamath Falls, were united in marriage in the study of the First Christian church Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. Arthur Charles Bates, pastor of the church, was the officiating minister.

Mrs. A. C. Bates and Mrs. Ernest Hendrick were the only witnesses present.

Thomas Marvin Stephens and Laurena Hannan, both of Bly, became man and wife Friday afternoon at 1:30, when Rev. Arthur Charles Bates of the First Christian church, read the ceremony at the Klamath county court house.

The young couple will make their home at Bly.

TOWN CLUB PLEASANT HOLIDAY RENDEZVOUS

Dancing and dining at the Town club is popular during the holiday season, and one of the gay New Year's eve dinner dances and entertainments will be held in this attractive club Tuesday evening.

Special music is being planned, as well as varied entertainment for club members, their friends and guests.

Another special dance was scheduled for Saturday evening. One of the important holiday events at the Town club was the dinner dance given there last Saturday by the Lorenz company and William Lorenz for their employees and their families.

Girl Scouts Active In Organization And Social Work.

A new Girl Scout troop has been organized in Fairview school. Mrs. Leah Glubrecht is the captain, and she has been assisted in the organization of the troop by Mrs. Dan Hollaway, who was formerly captain of Pine Tree troop.

The girls have shown much interest in the work, and this will without doubt become a very active group.

Fifteen girls have registered. They are: Arlene Baldwin, Ada May Bardell, Mary Bishop, Marsea Dixon, Betty Ann Dunn, Gwen Dylson, Glubrecht, Patsy Lou Hacke, Lois Howell, Nellie Lindberg, Betty Lund, Jane LaLonde, Elden Smith, Sue Swanson, Charlotte Wales and Adelle Zamsky. This troop enjoyed a Christmas party at the home of their captain.

The Altamont Girl Scout troop has reorganized and resumed activity after having been without a captain for several months, since the resignation of Mrs. Olson, who was captain of the troop for more than two years.

Miss Irma Nishet, home economics instructor at Altamont school, is the new captain.

Fifteen new girls have joined the Pelican school troop since the opening of school last September. Miss Florence Bubb is their captain.

Brownies of Pack No. 3 had a happy surprise at their last meeting before the Christmas holidays, when Brown Owl and Tawney Owl (Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Woodruff) gave them a Christmas party, the main feature of which was big popcorn balls.

The girls of Pine Cone troop, located at Mills school, have been carrying out an active program under the leadership of their captain, Miss Kovynovich. They have been trying their hand at salesmanship in order to build up the troop treasury funds and to purchase scout equipment. Two hundred caramelized apples sold one day in the school netted $4.00 for the troop. This troop sold sixty boxes of White's Quaint Shop Christmas cards, earning a good cash commission, plus six yearly subscriptions to the American Girl magazine.

For their Christmas project this year the girls prepared a basket of food for a worthy family in their own community.

The girls of Troop Six enjoyed a hamburger party in the community house of the Congregational church on Garden avenue on Friday, December 27. Mrs. E. L. Mitchell was hostess. Girls present were Mrs. Corrigan, Jean Siliman, Ann Oley, Gloria Monan, Gladys Killian, Gail Clapp, Olive Clapp, Louise Mitchell and Eleanor Graham. Games and guessing contests helped while away the hours, while lessons of scoutcraft were not neglected.

Reception Celebrates Golden Wedding On Christmas Day.

Fifty years ago on a snowy Christmas Eve in Cadillac, Michigan, a young bride, Miss Miss McDonald, pledged her troth to Harry Sutton Wood. The ceremony, read at eight o'clock, was simple and beautiful, Reverend Andrew J. Eldred, pastor of the Methodist church of Cadillac, in which both young people were interested, read the service.

Miss McDonald wore a deep brown suit of Henrietta crepe. Her long-sleeved sleeves were gathered at the shoulders into a tight-fitting smart jacket, and the floor length skirt had alternate panels of broadened velvet.

A supper for the wedding party and guests followed the ceremony and shortly after the young couple left for Grand Rapids, Michigan City and Elk Rapids, Michigan, to visit for a fortnight with friends and relatives.

The bride was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McDonald and the groom the son of Captain and Mrs. Andrew Wood. The groom was master mechanic for the C. & N. E. railroad.

This took place on Christmas eve, December 24, 1885.

On Christmas day of this year Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton Wood received more than 100 guests, who called at their home in St. Francis Park to wish them happiness on the occasion of their golden wedding.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Wood were their four children, Stanley Wood of Oakland, Calif., Will Wood of Klamath Falls, Mrs. Freeman Schultz of Algona, and Mrs. John Yaden of Klamath Falls.

Among those who came to call were old friends from Michigan and others whom they had known for many years during their residence in Oregon. The living room, in which the guests were greeted, presented a charming holiday air. The mantle above the fireplace was gay with a Christmas scene in which snow, Santa Claus, reindeer, hauling the Yule log and miniature animals and people were placed. A miniature gold Christmas tree was also used, and about the walls was a frieze of fir boughs.

A beautifully arranged tea table with gold china and crystal was presided over by the two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Will Wood and Mrs. Stanley Wood, who alternated during the hours between three o'clock and six o'clock. The table was centered with pale gold on roses in a crystal bowl, with cream colored candles in golden sticks at either side. Each guest received a portion of the Golden Wedding cake.

Throughout the rooms were baskets of golden chrysanthemums, holiday flowers and plants, sent from many friends, with their congratulations.

Mrs. Wood received in a frock of black lace with gold clips at neck and waist. She wore a corsage of flowers in shades of gold.

Among the scores of letters, cards and telegrams received by Mr. and Mrs. Wood was a message from Mrs. Lillian Manning, now making her home in Hartford, Michigan. Mrs. Manning is the only person now living with the exception of the bride and groom to attend the wedding fifty years ago in Cadillac, Michigan.

Prior to the reception a golden wedding dinner was enjoyed by the family and several guests at the Willard hotel.

White and gold place cards marked covers for twenty, laid around a centerpiece of deep gold chrysanthemums.

Guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Wood, their four children, Mr. and Mrs. John Yaden, Miss Ardelle and Melvin Yaden, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Schultz and children, Helen, Shirley and Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wood and daughters, Barbara and Lorraine, and Mr. and Mrs. Will Wood, Miss Pearl Walton of Oakland, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Schultz.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rogers and daughters, Ruth and Shirley, returned to their home on Mitchell street Thursday evening after enjoying several days including Christmas day, with relatives at Oroville, Calif.

At the Turn of the Year... An Expression of Thanks

As we reach the last month of the year and "close the books" on 1935, we should like to offer our sincere thanks to all those of the community—whether customers or not—who have cooperated with us in our many working relationships throughout the twelve months.

We look forward to a continuation of these relationships in 1936 with much pleasure, in the interests of sound community growth and development.
