ing the meeting—we want to get counsel of the who leaders of agriculture."

House Group Summoned

Asked if any federal farm relief program was possible under the supreme court ruling, Wallace asserted "the government still has a very real interest in the farmers' welfare."

The House agriculture committee, summoned to an unexpected meeting by Chairman Jones (D-Tex)—one of those who has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt—directed the drafting of five tentative plans for its consideration. They were:

- 1—The domestic allotment plan.
- 2—The export debenture proposal.
- 3—Appropriations to various states on condition that such states establish an adjustment program similar to the AAA.

- 4—Appropriations for a land leasing program.
- 5—Conditional appropriations to individual farmers who comply with the conditions.

Way Will Be Found

"We feel," Jones said after the closed session, "that ways can be found under the limits set out in the decision to fashion a farm program that will at least in a measure offset the disadvantages which the farmers have under the national tariff system."

The chairman said he did not know when the committee would get down to work on the tentative proposals but emphasized it would be as quickly as possible.

Asked if any of the suggestions discussed today originated at the AAA, Jones only replied, "We will welcome any suggestions from any source."

"We expect to have before the committee," Jones added, "the various methods that have been suggested and from these, after careful consideration, to prepare the best measure possible to accomplish the desired end."

intration leaders hope the nation will reject the constitutional views of the court's majority and eventually follow the course upheld by the minority. This became an increasingly clear today as Roosevelt administration officials from the White House emphasized again and again that the justices handed down two opinions in the case that wrecked AAA. Already Secretary Wallace, author of the phrase "America must choose," has appealed to every family in the country to study both opinions.

Whether the new deal strategy would involve an active drive for a constitutional amendment remained undetermined. President Roosevelt was silent on this and most other AAA questions at his press conference last night.

His only decision, he disclosed, is to ask congress to provide funds to pay farmers for performance under existing crop reduction contracts. AAA owes some $281,000,000 on these.

Snow Responsible for Mounting List of Auto Accidents

service station at Oregon avenue and High street was struck and damaged some time Tuesday night, police reports show. The driver of the machine which skidded into the pump had not reported the accident at noon Wednesday.

A. C. McPherson and William Poole reported an accident which occurred Tuesday morning at the intersection of Conger avenue and Main street, when both machines skidded and got out of control.

Charles E. Ogde reported skidding into a parked car belonging to Viola Folland Tuesday afternoon.

Julius Sanders also skidded into a parked car at the corner of Prospect and Upland streets Tuesday.

Warren W. Ezell and Doney August were operators of motor vehicles Wednesday morning, at the intersection of South Sixth and Willow streets. The Ezell car was damaged.

Deep Snow at Lake
With 92 inches of snow at government camp, Crater Lake roads were still closed Wednesday, although there was hope that the plow would be repaired and drifts would be removed by Thursday.

All other major highways in the district are open, the road bureau of the chamber of commerce reported Wednesday noon.

Nine inches of new snow fell on Sun mountain Wednesday, but state highway equipment was pressed into action and the highway is open, although chains are advised.

Chains are also advised on the Weed highway. The Green-springs highway is reported to be in good condition.

Approximately 114 miles of the dirt road from Malin to Alturas are reported to be muddy, but passable for motor vehicles. The Lakewell highway is slippery, but in fair condition, it was reported, though chains are advised.

Deep and slippery snow on the streets was responsible for two minor accidents reported to police bureau Wednesday afternoon. Richard Pruitt reported that his machine was struck by an automobile driven by a woman, whose name he didn't learn, at the intersection of Main street and Conger avenue. The car skidded and went out of control.

Automobile driven by Emil Dreher and K. A. Moore collided at Eighth and Pine streets about 2:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Damages were slight.

Damaged fenders on a car belonging to Winston R. Donart were the result of a skidding accident which occurred Tuesday noon, between Main street and Klamath avenue on Eleventh street when a man named Jackson backed his machine out of an alley and struck Donart's car.

The theme of the drill, which will last two days, was kept secret, but was supposedly based on the imaginary appearance of an enemy fleet in French waters.

PROJECTS ADDED TO ROAD PROGRAM

Two new projects were added to the Klamath county chamber of commerce highway program for 1936 at the directors' meeting Wednesday.

Re-alignment of the Green-springs highway from the Wood Junction near Miller packing plant, to the city limits on Riverside avenue, was one of the projects added.

The other was improvement of state highway through the city of Klamath Falls. Elimination of traffic hazards by widening and avoiding curves will be sought.

All Weed road work being under contract, the board dropped that project for its 1936 program. It advanced the Lakewell re-aligning and over-crossing at Olney to No. 1 position on the state highway program for Klamath county.

Speaker Byrnes said at his press conference he thought the bonus could be disposed of Friday, although action on amendments might take all day.

Reiser said press reports had "greatly exaggerated the differences" between his bill and the United Veterans' bill. He said his bill would call for immediate payment "nearer" 100 per cent than the estimated 97 or 98 per cent.

Opinions Forming on Issues Up for Special Election

there to make preparations for taking and counting the ballots. Board Jobs Open

Evidence that the demand for small jobs is not nearly so strong here as it was a year or two ago is to be found in the many vacancies that still exist on election boards. At the last few elections there was a rush to get these jobs and the small pay that goes with them.

In the city, most boards are filled. There is a shortage of three in precinct No. 21, one each in Nos. 13 and 22, three in No. 24 and two in No. 25.

Here are the county shortages, the precinct named being followed by the number of board vacancies still existing: Altamont, 2; Beatty, 2; Chilquin, 2; Enterprise, 4; Homedale, 2; Langell, 2; Lost River, 2; Malin, 3; Midland, 1; Mill, 6; Modoc, 2; Mt. Lakl, 1; Podell, 2; Orinda, 2; Shasta, 2; Wood River, 2; Yainax, 1.

The clerk's office will welcome applications for places on the board from persons living in the precincts where there are vacancies.

Measures are seldom as interesting as personalities at election time, and already the primary and general elections of 1936 are attracting the attention of office-seekers and their supporters.

Mention made in a news story the other day to the effect that four of the five councilmen are possible candidates for mayor brought a quick kick-back.

Councilman J. E. Van Camp indignantly declared he had not given the majority a thought, and "certainly could not be classed as a 'possible candidate.'"

Councilman Charles Thomas said he hadn't even hinted he would run for mayor, but he added that at least 200 persons had suggested to him that he make the race.

Councilman John Keller said with a grin that he didn't know he was a candidate. Councilman Elmer Hoskins, who is known to have given the matter considerable thought, did not bother to deny that he is a prospective candidate.

Observers believe the sheriff's race is going to be a feature of this year's political contest. Sheriff Lloyd Low said Tuesday that he plans to run for re-election. Another almost certain can-
