Pan-American Relations Studied By D. A. R.

Monday Evening.

That our country's relations with Pan-American countries should be carried on with the thought in mind that we are dealing with civilized people of a culture equal to, and in some instances superior to our own, and that the United States has at times taken a "high hat" attitude in Pan-American conferences, were among the points discussed by Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds Monday evening at an interesting talk presented at the regular meeting of Eulaulona chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Reynolds also made it clear that while the Monroe doctrine is a part of our international policy, that we interpret it to suit our own interests, and not all Pan-American countries look at the doctrine in the same way.

Mrs. Reynolds closed her talk with a quotation from President Roosevelt's address to congress last week, quoting as follows: "At no time in four and a half centuries of modern civilization has there existed a greater spirit of mutual understanding, helpfulness and devotion to the ideals of self-government than exist today in the 21 American republics and their neighbor, the Dominion of Canada."

Delegates to the state conference of D. A. R. to be held in Portland the latter part of March, were elected Monday evening as follows: Mrs. Lloyd J. Goble, regent; Mrs. R. D. Bussard, Mrs. Claude Davis, Mrs. Wilbur Jones and Mrs. R. E. Wattenberg. Alternates will be Mrs. George Gardiner, Mrs. Warren Hunt, Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds, Mrs. D. V. Kuykendall, and Mrs. Harry Goeller.

Mrs. Goble, regent, and Mrs. Gardiner, vice regent, were elected as delegates to the 45th Continental Congress to be held in Washington, D. C. during the week of April 19.

The Monday evening meeting of Eulaulona chapter, D. A. R. was held at the home of Mrs. L. L. Trux at North Third street. Mrs. B. C. Thomas was assisting hostess.
