WASHINGTON

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

The Inside Story From The Capital

By PAUL MALLON

Copyright 1936, by Paul Mallon

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt has been looking the other way whenever any one mentions the bonus. However, his thoughts have not gone unreported to congress.

A hoarse unofficial whisper was radioed through the house cloak room the other day. It conveyed the idea that Mr. Roosevelt would veto any bonus bill carrying a cash payment. Also, that he would sign nothing beyond a baby bond payment of about $750. Furthermore, the thought of more taxes was more repugnant to him than the Patman bill, which he vetoed last year.

The whispering voice sounded very much like that of an eminent churchman who had talked with Mr. Roosevelt that day. At any rate, it was more than a good guess.

DRINKING

The $50-a-plate cream of Washington society nearly curdled the other night. Ladies could not believe their eyes, even through their Jorgnettes, when they noticed a waiter serve a bottle of wine to Mrs. Morris Sheppard and Mrs. Cordell Hull at the Jackson day dinner. Mrs. Sheppard is the wife of the author of prohibition. Mrs. Hull is equally dry.

It was noticed that neither drank, but finally a waiter came up to Mrs. Sheppard with a change. Somewhat indignantly, she declined it, saying she had not ordered the wine. All went home amazed at the mystery.

If they ever find out that the well known actor-politician, Eddie Dowling, paid $25 to a waiter to finance the practical joke, Mr. Dowling's acting and politicking days will be over.

Note—No spirits were served at the dinner, aside from Jackson. He probably would not have liked that, but might have been consoled by the fact that waiters could be induced to bring spirits from the bar for a sizeable tip.

QUESTION
 The most conservative diplomatic authorities here have received a confidential report that Japan has shipped large quantities of gunpowder and percussion caps into its mandated islands in the Pacific. They would like to know the reason why, but dare not ask.

Japan is bound by the collapsing Washington naval treaty not to fortify those islands. The treaty has a year yet to run before Tokyo's renunciation of it becomes effective.

WRITING
 It is safe to say Mr. Roosevelt did not refer to Mrs. Roosevelt when he made the Jackson Day reference to "some wisecracking columnist."

The unreported fact is Mrs. Roosevelt's writings for the past few years have failed to please her editors. They have tried to get her to pep up her articles and to say something. All wound up by not renewing her contract.

Most people who come into direct contact with the first lady are captured by her charm. She is still a goddess to news women and even to her secretarial valets. The failure of her writings to reflect this personal magnetism undoubtedly accounts for the wide public misconception of her efforts.

BRITANNIA
 Britain is tilting her nose at the neutrality bill, but secretly liking it. Unofficially, it will give her unchallenged authority over the waves.

Under it, the United States abandons its traditional policy of freedom of the seas and the right of a neutral to trade with belligerents. Also, the president is authorized to withdraw protection of American nationals on the high seas.

That really means the United States will condone a British blockade anywhere. No other fleet except ours is strong enough to challenge hers.

NOTES
 The chairs of the nine supreme court justices have been appraised at $35 as second-hand material.

Congressman Hoepfel of California has absented himself from the floor of the house since his court conviction. He is following the precedents established by Langley and Zihlman, pending outcome of legal appeals.

Bruce Kremer, local democratic lawyer, sat next to Mr. Roosevelt at the Jackson Day dinner. The official explanation was that he was chairman of the dinner committee.

Father Coughlin told pals here confidentially that he might present for Borah to Mr. Roosevelt in the presidential campaign. The Idaho senator comes nearer to the Coughlin silver and money ideas.

OREGON CITY, Jan. 11. (AP)—The public works administration approved six Clackamas county projects to cost $860,760. L. C. Stoll, re-employment bureau manager, announced here. The projects include a courthouse, Oregon City high school and remodeling, Oswego-West Linn high school addition, Willamette school, West Linn city hall and Estacada high school.

PORTLAND, Jan. 11. (AP)—A municipal court jury here convicted three more men of illegally operating dart games. The judge fined each $100. All appealed. They included Barney Morris, Herman Semler and Clarence Wernick. At Wernick's was convicted previously. Dart games here remain closed.

PORTLAND, Jan. 10. (AP)—Death of William C. Johnson, 35, an hour after he was struck by a car here last night, marked the 12th fatality resulting from traffic accidents in Portland since Dec. 1.

SIDE GLANCES—by George Clark

"We'll have to find a room pretty soon. It's already past their bedtime."

The Pelican Squawk

By The Little Squills

The Pelicans is an organization which exists solely for the underprivileged children of Klamath Falls and the surrounding environs. Its activities are not confined entirely to the feeding of children in the public schools, although this is the major purpose of the organization.

At the regular weekly meeting on Thursday night reports were received from Mills, Fremont, Altamont and Fairview schools. Children are being given a good noon meal at all these schools, and the number is rapidly increasing. The Mills school is furnishing 18 meals at this time. The children at the Fairview school to whom noon meals are furnished must be transported to the cafeteria at the Riverside school. The principal at the Altamont school was out of town, having lost by death one of his children, therefore there was no detailed report from his school. The cost of providing meals for children in all the schools of Klamath Falls, and in other places, will in a very short time exceed perhaps $100 a week.

There are also many requests for milk to be delivered at the homes of children under school age. In some cases a supply of groceries and clothing are sent to these homes and often a load of wood is sent. Whenever a child is in need, and is not otherwise provided for, the Pelicans try to supply that need. Children are often innocent sufferers, and regardless of the cause of their suffering, want and hunger, the Pelicans feel that not one of these little ones shall be neglected.

It is hoped that in the future the P. T. A. Service clubs, B. P. W., and any organization interested in the welfare of children, old and young, will co-operate with the Pelicans in attempting to reach a greater number of under-nourished and underprivileged children.

Telling the Editor

WANT TOWNSEND DEBATE

ALGOMA, Ore. (To the Editor)—In as much as the country is being filled with Townsend propaganda, that at Townsend clubs throughout the country Townsend speakers are filling the credulous with false promises, exploiting human desires, censoring jealously making erroneous statements, and, when these means fail, intimidating officials and using other coercive methods to gain Townsend backers, we feel that all public spirited citizens should do what they can to bring the real truth about the Townsend movement before the public by seeing that both sides of the issue are presented.

Strange as it seems, nine-tenths of the most ardent Townsendites can answer but few questions relative to the Townsend plan. About all they know or care to know is the promise of getting $200 a month when they reach the age of sixty.

Feeling that since people hear only one side of the question, some means of presenting both sides should be devised, we challenge Mr. Mahoney and Mr. Mortensen to debate the issue with us. Mr. Mahoney at first agreed, but later said that he is too busy at the present time, and could not give us a definite date. We've no doubt that Mr. Mahoney is a busy man, and probably has his date calendar filled up, so we are forced to accept his excuse in good faith.

However, it seems hard to get a Townsendite to debate on the Townsend plan in public. Townsend speakers want the floor to themselves, so that their ballyhoo, their working on the emotions and desires of the people, shall lose none of its force by logical reasoning and indisputable facts which the opposition could offer, were the opposition given a chance. However, the Townsend organization won't allow anyone opposed to the plan to speak. They say they welcome questions, but we have found from personal experience, that as soon as the questioning gets too warm for them they hush the questioner up by saying that debates are barred, and if he persists in his questioning he runs a chance of being thrown out on his ear.

Samuel J. Hume of California challenged Dr. Townsend to a debate on the Townsend plan, but Townsend was "too busy." It seems to us that Townsend's business is spreading Townsend propaganda, since that is what he is being paid for, and if the Townsend plan is the excellent thing it is cracked up to be, we would think that the best method of selling it to the public would be to defeat the opposition in debate. If the opposition is wrong we should think that the Townsendites would welcome the opportunity to show them up.

In all fairness we will state that Mortensen said, that, though the Townsend organization didn't exactly approve of debates, he would get someone to take Mahoney's place and debate with us on the question "Resolved: That the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension Plan is Sound." If possible we would like the date to be not later than January 17. If any authorized Townsend speaker wishes to align himself with Mortensen for this debate he is asked to get in touch with him. We insist on authorized speakers because we have found that Townsendites have a way of rejecting their members when someone proves them to be in the wrong.

Sincerely,
 Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis,
 Algoma, Oregon.

RELIEF PROBLEM'S ANSWER

MERRILL, Ore. (To the Editor)—The relief problem or program is getting to be a joke. Does anyone ever think how come we have such a thing as a relief program. Well in olden days we gave directly to one needing; today we give to a smarter guy than ourselves, who keeps directly or indirectly some percentage of the relief and that is why there is always shortage in giving to poor. Still if one who needs relief today does not get it, it is only their own fault, because, he or she had some chance to be in the other fellow's shoes. If he would have given a thought to the future, if we have big families and are poor it is only our fault. So why ask for relief of any one. Doctors will gladly give service to anyone, especially if one is honest. Money is nothing only a go-between. If you want money you must perform some duty of some kind to get it. The smaller duty the less money. The more brains and less backache the more money and no relief will be needed.

Remember, where there is a will there is a way.
 Yours truly,
 Mrs. R. E. Bailey,
 c/o Prosperity Lane,
 Merrill, Oregon.

Adolph's Observations

As one watches his fellows he is more and more impressed with the fact that men are just big kids and that most of us never grow up.

I saw a man standing in a grocery store eating candy out of a sack and in front of him was a little shaver looking on. This old fellow is fifty-five, has a business with assets running a little over $300,000, and has in the neighborhood of sixty employees, in fact, he is really quite a guy in the community.

I went over and asked him, "How can you eat candy in front of that kid without giving him some?" and he answered, "Oh hell, he has candy when I don't."

C. E. DEBATE SET FOR SUNDAY NIGHT

"Resolved: That God from all eternity unchangeably ordained whatsoever comes to pass," is the question to be debated at the Senior-Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Christian church Sunday, at 6:30.

Because one of the debaters will be unable to attend, everyone present will be given an opportunity to discuss the question after the debaters have finished their arguments.

Prominent Stephenson will uphold the affirmative, with his colleague yet to be named. He will be opposed by Thelma Evans and Gene Robinson.

Minister Arthur Charles Bates will preside.

A special observance of state-wide Quiet Hour Sunday will be held just before the debate, starting at 6:30. Gene Robinson will preside and Arthur Brooks will sing "Moment by Moment."

FT. KLAMATH

Alfred B. Castel has been working out his team of six Alaskan racing dogs daily during the past week, increasing the distance each day to get them in training for a trip to Crater Lake and return which will be made shortly. The longest trip to be made by the dogs, with Alfred Orin and Charles Zamburri making behind the team, was made recently from the winter playground site at Anna Creek to Annie Springs in Crater Lake park, and return, a distance of 28 miles in all. The return trip was made in one hour and three minutes, which is excellent time. Wednesday, a dog race was held from Fort Klamath to Dixon Bros.' ranch and return, a distance of four miles. Alfred Orin harnessed three of the dogs to one sled, and Alfred Castel, Jr., son of Alfred Castel, local businessman and owner of the dog team, taking the other three dogs with another racing sled, accompanied by James Van Wormer. Hard going was encountered by the mushers and dogs, as the snow plow had not plowed out the road taken, but the three dogs driven by the two boys won the race by a matter of three minutes, making the round trip in 40 minutes, which is a good record in the face of bad road conditions which made traveling difficult for the dogs.

The following winter sports organizations have promised to send delegates to Crater lake on Sunday, Jan. 19, for a day of winter fun and to hold a meeting to discuss plans and activities for the rest of the winter season: Klamath Snow Club of Klamath Falls, Shasta Snowmen of Mt. Shasta, Calif., Rogue Snowmen of Medford, Bend Skyliners of Bend, and the Crater Lake Ski Club of Fort Klamath. It is thought that representatives of all these clubs will be present, as all have been included in an invitation to attend. A meeting of the Crater Lake Ski Club will be held soon to discuss club affairs and to appoint delegates to attend the forthcoming session to be held at Crater lake.

Approximately 16 inches of fresh snow fell during the recent heavy snowstorm which has continued unabated since Monday. Wood River Valley now presents a beautiful picture in its winter mantle of white. Snow plows have been kept busy day and night in and around Fort Klamath keeping the highways free of snow.

As a result of the snowstorm, there is plenty of snow at the winter playground site at Anna Creek, where the big ski jump is located. Plans have been made to get the jump in shape for practice jumping to be held this Sunday. Last Sunday some jumping was done by local boys but there was not sufficient snow at that time for good jumping. A large crowd took advantage of perfect weather conditions last Sunday to spend the day skiing and tobogganing at Anna Creek, and an even better crowd is expected this Sunday, weather conditions permitting.

H. Harrison, D.D., of Portland, and to the newly-elected assessor, Rev. Frank Carlson, of Pocatello, Idaho. Dr. Harrison is a great friend and helper of this church, and deserves the gratitude of the community. He will close his work March 31.

Stock Market Quotations

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—Traders decided today to garner profits in the stock market in cautious week end trading.

Stocks held fairly even, but some issues lost fractions to around two points, while others retained a part or all of early gains of as much. The close was somewhat irregular. Transfers approximated 1,650,000 shares.

Some stocks in demand included Dupont, Union Carbide, Case, Continental Can, Boeing, Douglas and Bethlehem. On the off side were Santa Fe, Westinghouse, electric, Allied Chemical, U. S. Steel and Loew's.

Low priced motor shares were active. Studebaker and Packard changed hands in large blocks. There was one trade of 20,000 shares of Packard at the opening. Prices of both were about steady. Oils and Aircrafts were well taken.

The tinge of inflation sentiment evident recently was reflected in a further considerable strengthening of foreign monies against the dollar in the exchange market.

Followers of motors, which have been rather lagged market recently, were encouraged by the satisfactory finish in which production shook off the holiday influence.

Ward's reports estimated output for the industry this week at 101,636 units, against 65,388 in the week ended January 4.

An issue of $45,000,000 of Dominion of Canada bonds is expected to head the list of next week's issues which will total around $200,000,000.
