

ONLY 2 BILLS GIVEN CHANCE FOR VICTORY

nified beyond its actual importance. Some of the newspapers that have heretofore made hot fights on the sales tax issue seem to prefer to talk about something else this time, and the fee bill and primary change have been getting much more attention as a result.

Primary Change Backed
The primary change has almost solid support of the state press, although some of the smaller newspapers may be against it. Many public officials and individuals have come out for the change, which is advanced as a means of reducing the time in Oregon devoted to political campaigning on election years. Incidentally, the argument in the voters' pamphlet in behalf of this bill carries the signature of Harry D. Bovlin, state representative from Klamath county; James T. Chincock, Grants Pass, who is well-known here, and William L. Dickson of Portland.

The grange and the labor federation leaders are opposed to the primary change, and have been doing some vigorous campaigning against it. These organizations usually fight the sales tax with the most vigor, but this time, feeling that the sales tax is certain to take the shifts, they are devoting considerable effort to the primary change defeat.

The sales tax bill, which would provide funds for participation in the federal social security program and would mean probably $30 a month for Oregon people over 65, isn't getting the support that is usually accorded the sales tax in Oregon. The Oregonian of Portland, for instance, refuses to recommend its passage, although the Oregonian has always supported a sales tax. Townsends seem to be generally against it, but getting the support that is usually accorded the sales tax in Oregon. They feel that it would be better to get along with the pitiable now afforded oldsters, and make a fight for a big payment that would have the business stimulus they are in the operation of the tax on a month scheme. Very few seem to favor the legislative pay bill, even though it is admitted legislators get nearly small pay. Tompkins, the grange worker, said that the grange is not making any recommendation on this measure, although it has usually favored a raise in legislative pay. The fact that the amount to be paid is left up to the legislators themselves has alienated many who might otherwise support this bill.

ELECTION BOX DRIVE DISCUSSED

A discussion of measures before the Oregon voters next Friday and an outline of the wooden box campaign were the features of the weekly Lions club luncheon Tuesday.

R. C. Groesbeck, directing the club's attention particularly toward the student fee measure and the sales tax, gave a resume of the bills. He expressed especial favor toward the passage of the student fee plan.

Curt Strong described the aims of the wooden box campaign. Examples of automobile stickers and promotion material were shown the Lions. He also showed how it would benefit Klamath industries and increase payrolls.

The campaign, he said, was being sponsored by the workers themselves.

Songs were presented by the Roosevelt school boys' chorus.

Body of Monarch Rests in Tomb of English Kings

the coffin was lifted from the gun carriage and carried into the church through lines of honor guards.

As the archbishop's words ended, King Edward stepped forward. The coffin began sliding slowly beneath the level of the floor.

Edward sprinkled earth on the wooden case which held the mortal remains of his father. The body entered the grave at 2:14 p. m.

Some of the kings beside whom George's body was placed have slept their deep sleep in that crypt 300 years and more.

Three feet from George's coffin lies that of Henry VIII and Charles I. A bit farther away is the coffin of George III, from whose reign the American colonies revolted, giving birth to the United States.

Bodies of Storm Victims Revealed

TAVERNIER, Fla., Jan. 28. (AP)—The tangled mangrove swamp of Lignum Vitae Key today gave up the bodies of five more victims of the September hurricane that killed an estimated 450 World War veterans and civilians.

Peace Justice E. R. Lowe, reporting the recovery of the bodies, said two of the dead had been tentatively identified, but names of the others never will be known as long exposure forestalled even the taking of fingerprints.

The United States has approximately 4,040,000 sets of twins.

California Has a First Lady Now

There's a new first lady in California now, following the wedding of Gov. Frank P. Merriam and Mrs. Jessie Lipsey. The governor gave his age as 70; the bride 66.

Love History Prime Clue in Trunk Slaying

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 28. (UP)—A strange love quadrangle of a woman and her three lovers today was the prime clue to the mystery of Mrs. Dolores Naccarato, 24-year-old waitress whose body was found Sunday morning stuffed into a steamer trunk in her hotel room.

Police tonight sought for questioning: Eitaro Higashi, 39, Japanese forgerly suspect, said to have been intimate with Mrs. Naccarato at the approximate time of her death in November.

Jap Widely Hunted
Frank Naccarato, Trail, B. C., against whom she had filed application for divorce November 13, five days before she disappeared, and who had received the notice the day before she was last seen alive.

Tom Malitto, an Italian window washer who had accompanied her when she filed the divorce papers, and had asked the judge to "put in a good word for him" with Mrs. Naccarato.

All northwest police tonight were looking for Higashi. County officers were checking Naccarato's actions in Trail, and Malitto was seen in Spokane Saturday.

Note Forged
Mrs. Naccarato, whose real name was Mabel Lenore, and who was married under the name of Jean Nelson, failed to appear at the hotel parlor where she worked November 20. That same day her hotel received a note postmarked from a small town just east of Spokane which said: "I'm not coming home for 10 days. So please keep my room for me. — Dolores Naccarato."

Deputy Sheriff John P. Griffin, in charge of the case, today said the note was obviously forged to delay discovery of the body.

On December 13 her room rent had expired and hotel employees moved some of her belongings, including the trunk, into a small storeroom, where the janitor complained of the odor.

Aunt Worries
Mrs. Kate Murphy, her aunt, worried by her failure to answer letters, came from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, to look for her January 8, and Deputy Sheriff Griffin traced her to the hotel then, but the room was unoccupied, although her clothing was still there.

Sunday morning hotel employees decided to take over the room and her possessions. The odor from the trunk aroused suspicion and they called Griffin, who with the coroner opened it to find Mrs. Naccarato's body, clad in lingerie and a Japanese kimono, doubled up and packed under her fur coat and a pile of linen. The lid was tightly locked.

Autopsy of the body was delayed until Tuesday.

Weather
The Cyclo-Stormograph at Underwood's pharmacy has registered a steady upward trend in barometric pressure for the last 24 hours, and for the first time in several weeks the outlook favors clear weather. Brisk winds with fair skies and seasonal temperatures are probable.

The Tyson recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures Tuesday as follows:

High ..... 34
Low ..... 21
Forecast for next 24 hours: Generally fair and cool.

their wheat flour business in 1929; their processing tax refunds amount to $67,000,000.

Processors Unhappy
"Packers profits on their hog business in 1929 were in the neighborhood of $20,000,000; their tax refunds are $1,000,000. One of the largest packers had total profits of $14,000,000 last year. If half of this came from the firm's hog business, as is likely, the profit, $7,000,000 is only about half the $12,000,000 processing tax refunds to the one corporation."

Wallace said there was "one heartening note" and that was the fact that "many of the processors themselves are extremely uncomfortable about the whole business."

He quoted from an issue of the Northwestern Miller, magazine of the milling industry, of January 22, which said: "We have yet to find one miller who believes himself entitled in equity and fairness, to pocket such money as may be restored to him by the tax collector."

Wallace said, "It is a shame that because of legalist theories, divorced from economic realities and social justice, the courts should have created such an embarrassing situation for farmers, consumers, processors and the government."

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 28. (UP)—Peter Marinoff, former head of the Northwest Brewing company, must serve 20 years in Walla Walla state prison for complicity in the slaying of a teamster's union picket here last May. Judge E. D. Hodges ordered Monday.

Marinoff was convicted of manslaughter. Judge Hodges sentenced Theo Ferguson, who admitted firing the shot that killed William Costello, to one year in Pierce county jail, with time off for the eight months he already has been confined.

Political Groups Will Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)

The senate lobby committee today launched an inquiry into the operations of all semi-political organizations, including the American Liberty league.

A questionnaire, it was learned, was sent out to several hundred individuals and corporations which the committee has reason to believe have either been solicited or have contributed to the various organizations.

PENSION CHIEF GETS THREATS

PORTLAND, Jan. 28. (UP)

Discussion among Oregon's Townsend plan supporters took a new tack last night when Charles E. Hansen, state manager of Townsend clubs, told police he had been threatened with violence.

An unidentified man telephoned him six times today and told him to resign in three days "or you won't be able to get out of town," Hansen reported. He asked protection.

The asserted threats were linked with removal last week of Jack Barde, Portland, steel company president, as a Townsend speaker.

Same Man Each Time
The caller opened the conversation, Hansen said, with the question: "Are you the man who sent out the statement that Barde has been removed from the speakers' list?" Hansen replied that he was, and received the three-day ultimatum. He said he was sure that the same man made all the calls.

The district executive board of Townsend clubs attacked Barde and Robert Z. Adams, national coordinator for the plan, last week for asserted political maneuvering. Barde was dropped as a speaker and Adams was recalled to Chicago headquarters.

"Three close friends of Barde had incorporated at Salem, state capital, an organization known as 'Townsendites, Inc.' and had declared it would oppose activities of executive board members and advise Townsend followers on local political issues."

Barde tonight said it was "ridiculous" that his name had been linked with threats against Hansen. He said he sought unity among Townsend workers.

Total gas casualties of the World war amounted to 1,108,738. Of this number, Russia had 475,000, France 190,000, Italy 13,000, the United States, 70,752, England 189,933, and Germany 78,652.

Chief of Grange Has Farm Plan

Mrs. Capitola Woodcock has a group of ladies to her home on Thursday afternoon, January 23.

It was a surprise for her mother, Mrs. Calvin, who has been visiting her for some time. Mrs. Calvin expects to return to Hood River soon. A handkerchief shower was held for her. The hostess served dainty refreshments in the late afternoon. Those present were Mesdames Hanan, Erwin, Wallis, Morris, Bennett, Garrett, Calvin and Woodcock.

Miss Lucille Bold was honored by Miss Della Eagle Thursday evening with a card party. Mr. and Mrs. Ern Givan, Mr. and Mrs. Blanton, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wallis, Mr. and Mrs. Link Erwin, the host or guest, and the hostess enjoyed games of pinocle until a late hour. A cake brilliantly lighted with candles was presented to Miss Bold, after which delightful refreshments were enjoyed by all.

"Chatter ac Stitch" Bly Needle club members, were guests at the Campbell ranch last Wednesday, with Mrs. Dave Campbell. After an enjoyable social afternoon and delicious luncheon the meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Jean Tibbets. Attention was called to the fact that annual dues are due. Plans for the Valentine dinner were discussed and committees were appointed for the kitchen and entertainment. The date was set for Saturday, February 15.

The last social event for the month of January is a benefit dance, which is being sponsored by the grangers of Bly. It will be held Friday, January 31, at the local school gymnasium. The Savage orchestra, local talent, will furnish the music for dancing.

Sharply opposed to a constitutional amendment to validate the AAA, L. J. Taber master of the National Grange, is active in the battle for a new farm program. Taber offers a plan involving larger utilization of cooperative marketing, increased use of farm products in industry, and development of new crops. He urges the debarment plan to open foreign markets and a permanent land program.

BLY
BLY, Ore.—Social events were numerous in Bly during the month of January. The high school students had a lovely party at the Savage Rand home early in January. Hard-time costumes were worn. The country is in good shape. People are cheerful. Business is good. The banks are crabbing, but most of them had the best year in many years.—Jesse Jones, head of RFC.

By mild ripe tobacco we mean just this—

FIRST—ripened in the sunshine... and picked leaf by leaf from the right part of the stalk when fully ripe.

THEN—each day's picking cured right by the farmer... at the right time and in the right way... no "spotting" or brittleness, but every leaf of good color and flavor.

FINALLY—bought in the open market... re-dried for storage... then packed in wooden hogsheads to age and mellow for two years or more until free from harshness and bitterness.
