

NEED OF RAILROAD PENSIONS STRESSED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—A report by Transportation Co-ordinator Joseph H. Eastman said today that, should an attack on the constitutionality of the 1934 railroad retirement act be successful, "a way must be found" to set up a uniform rail pension system.

The law, enacted after the supreme court ruled a previous pension plan invalid, is being challenged in District of Columbia supreme court by more than 100 railroads.

Devoted primarily to a study of the rate at which employees leave railroad service, the Eastman report said about a 10 per cent quit annually from such "normal" causes as retirement, resignation and death.

The report said a section of the emergency transportation act guaranteeing workers on rail payrolls in May, 1933, against dismissal or demotion as a result of co-ordination projects, had brought about "heated controversy."

As to pension legislation, the report said: "A retirement plan has again been enacted into law, but, like the previous law, is being attacked on the ground of constitutionality."

"Nevertheless, an orderly system of retirement with pensions for railroad employes is fundamentally sound."

"If the present law is not sustained, a way must be found to establish a uniform system of retirement with pensions for the railroad industry."

A Sermon for Traffic Safety

An eloquent sermon for safe driving and a grim warning against traffic perils is contained in this picture, of a little victim of an auto accident who has lain unconscious in a Texarkana, Tex., hospital since Oct. 4, 1935, suffering from a brain injury. She is Patsy Kincaid of Amarillo, Tex., her starting gaze fixed on the wall as her temperature is taken by a nurse. Brain specialists from New York and Memphis have treated the child and believe she eventually will recover.

GROUP STUDIES CITY PROBLEMS

SALEM, Jan. 29, (AP)—Officials attending the regional conference of the League of Oregon Cities last night considered problems of sewage disposal to end stream pollution, use of fire equipment outside city limits, and licensing of slot machines.

Smaller cities of Oregon are taking the lead in construction of sewage treatment plants, the delegates were told by Carl E. Green, Portland, state sanitary engineer. Larger municipalities on the Willamette and Columbia rivers must follow their example to protect public water supplies, fish life and recreational qualities of the stream.

Should Charge for Runs The necessary plants will be constructed, and the sale of fertilizer produced by them will not pay for them, Green warned.

The conference decided that cities should charge for all runs made by their fire engines and equipment outside municipal limits and voted for a survey to determine what charge would be adequate.

Fire Chief Harry Hutton, of Salem, said a long run outside the city does more harm to the equipment than many short ones in town. He suggested an hourly charge, based on value of the apparatus and number of firemen.

Legalization of slot machines and marble boards was urged by Mayor A. J. Swett, Tillamook, who said his city is licensing them now. "People are going to gamble anyway and we might as well let them do it legally," he said.

The annual meeting of the League will be held at Eugene, March 19 and 20, delegates voted.

YOUR SAFEWAY GROCER welcomes the kind of chance that came to Tom Milton. Such happenings mean new friends for him—and for his store.

He knows that being a good neighbor is just as important as saving his customers money on food (and as important as paying back to the farmer more of each retail food dollar).

You see, your Safeway grocer has tackled a job that the people want done.

That job is to eliminate needless food handling charges—to cut down wasteful costs in between farm and market.

Working alone, your Safeway grocer could not get very far with such a job. That's why he has a family to help him—Safeway buyers, warehousemen, truckers and home economists, as well as groccrymen.

This team of food experts can save money in food distribution. So your Safeway grocer can sell his foods at lower retail prices.

Thus your Safeway grocer's customers can afford to buy more. And he can return to the farmer a far bigger share of each food dollar than was possible before the Safeway method was discovered.

Also, he can earn a better income than other men doing similar work... M. L. Bean, Division Manager for Safeway Stores, 239 South East Salmon Street, Portland, Oregon.

How much did you spend for food last month? Check up. Then trade at your neighborhood Safeway grocer's for just 30 days and compare your total savings!
