would go down to defeat in Ohio, but that he might get some delegates from the Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown area.

"If you are going to vote for a New Dealer," said Fess in an interview, "why not vote for President Roosevelt? If the liability for the New Deal is to be placed anywhere, let it be placed on the democrats, not on the republicans."

Norris Critical

Norris voiced a sharp criticism of the present system of choosing postmasters during senate consideration of the nomination of Mrs. Maude S. Yencey, Cody, Neb. He declared she was "at the bottom of the list" in the civil service examination, and then he attacked the whole system whereby postmasters are picked on recommendation of congress members.

Unless it is changed, he declared, it will cost the president "millions of votes." "One word" from the executive would provide the remedy, he added.

Norris emphasized that he would support the president in the forthcoming campaign.

Chairman Farley was brought into public discussion again when Representative Marcantonio (R-NY) suggested sarcastically that the statue "Civic Virtue," now in City Hall park, New York, be erected "in front of the post-office department," as a "memorial to that great leader of democratic virtue." The New Yorker said he would ask congress to appropriate money for the transfer of the statue because "they don't know what to do with it up there."

Knox, in a Cincinnati address, attacked the administration's financing as "issuing paper bonds, payable in paper dollars, used to create paper credits which are drawn upon the treasury in the form of paper checks."

Dickinson accused the president of "vindictiveness." At a republican club dinner in Columbus, Ohio, he declared the New Deal displays "a fundamental intolerance of spirit, a resentfulness of criticism, an impatience of opposition."

Shouse, a leader of enemies of the New Deal, declared in a Chicago speech that the administration "faces almost certain defeat" in November. He said at least 2,000,000 democrats would "take a walk" to support a republican ticket.

"If the Roosevelt administration proposes to attempt to change the constitution of the United States, if it proposes to plow under the supreme court," he said, "it must present its proposition fairly, because America will not again permit the attempt to accomplish such purpose by deceit and subversion."

Flood Control Even in Dry Desert

Several wash intakes like the one pictured will protect the banks of the All-American Canal from flood action—despite the fact that the canal crosses a desert region. The intakes are to take care of cloudbursts. The All-American, to be America's largest irrigation canal, will water large areas in California's Imperial Valley.

CRATER LAKE SKI CLUB HAS MEETING

FORT KLAMATH, Ore.—The Crater Lake Ski Club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night at the Fort Klamath hotel, with Vice-president Glenn Ferguson in the chair, due to the absence of President Delbert Denton, who is suffering from a bad cold.

Plans were discussed for the winter sports tournament to be held jointly by the local club and the Klamath Snow Club on February 23rd at the Anna Creek winter playground. It was decided that anyone wishing to enter the events could do so, competition not to be limited to members of the two clubs.

It was announced at this time that the Ski Club will hold another old-time dance in the club house Saturday night, Feb. 5th, arrangements to be in charge of the entertainment committee, including Mrs. Guss Page, Alfred Orin and Harold Wimer. Supper will be served at midnight at the Crater Lake Cafe by Charles Brisco, proprietor, in cooperation with the Ski Club.

At the suggestion of Bob Duwall, active skier and jumper of Chiloquin, it was decided to appoint Alfred Orin as hill captain, his duties being to supervise preparing the hill for ski jumps and take care of entrants from the local ski club when attending other ski tournaments, seeing to the registration, etc.

Following the meeting, the local ski club's board of directors met with delegates from the Snow Club of Klamath Falls, including Malcolm Epley, O. K. Puckett and Martin Swanson, who came up for the meeting. A tentative program of races and events was drawn up, subject to the approval of the Klamath Falls organization. Miss Jean Allison of Keno accompanied the Klamath Falls group to Fort Klamath.

A vastly improved ride in any car is claimed to be possible with a recently developed combination of sway bar, shock absorbers, link connections and rubber mounting.

Besnier, a Frenchman, made a successful flight, in the 17th century, by pumping and kicking with artificial wings.

Baby Is 'Raised From the Dead'

"Brought back from the dead," Ernest Cunningham, 16 months old, is very much alive here, in Pasadena, Calif., hospital, as good as ever except for a head injury. His heart apparently had been still for several minutes when Dr. Rottin Kraft revived him with an injection of adrenalin directly into the heart. The baby was one of seven persons hurt in an auto crash.

is the party of opposition, and therefore the logically effective vehicle of protest) should adopt the Democratic platform of 1932—the sound, sane platform that Franklin D. Roosevelt campaigned for, pledged himself to uphold and then THREW OVERBOARD and forgot—and after that it should nominate a sound, liberal-minded, progressive candidate who, if elected, will KEEP his platform pledges.

Then let the people decide—for in this country we accept what the majority votes for.

THESE suggestions, of course, are only the opinions of this individual writer, set down here for what they may be worth, in answer to what appears to be an honest question.

It is not expected that all will agree with them.

TO MEET

Members of the central committee of the "Use Wooden Boxes" campaign, will meet this evening, Friday, at 8:00 o'clock at the Elk hotel.
