Busses are not stopped at the state line by the Los Angeles border police.

Recent news stories about persons having been turned back from California have led to the erroneous impression that they were stopped while riding busses into the Golden state.

FARM MEETING WILL DISCUSS MAJOR ISSUES

Many questions pertinent to the agricultural industry will be discussed at the Agricultural Economic Outlook Conference to be held in Klamath Falls on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 25 and 26, at the Elk hotel.

Some of these questions, which are arousing much interest among agriculturists at the present time, have been framed by C. W. Henkle, assistant county agent, as follows: "Are conditions in Klamath county favorable to more extensive fattening of livestock before placing on the market?"

"Should shed feeding of lambs be recommended under range conditions?" is another controversial question, as in the past such feeding was considered unsound by many shepherds.

the discussion of the question "Should a cow-testing association be formed among dairymen of the basin?" Klamath county had a cow-testing association in the past, but the organization has been discontinued.

One of the questions put to round table discussions among poultrymen will be, "Do you know that it would take 22,000 eggs to produce enough eggs to supply the local market in addition to the hens already owned by poultrymen in the Klamath basin?"

On Thursday, February 26, Assistant County Agent C. W. Henkle attended an Agricultural Economic Outlook conference in Medford, bringing back with him many ideas which will be utilized in the similar conference to be held here next week.
